WILL ROGERS Says:

(Special To The News)

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—I told you what the score would be, 3 to 2, and that it would be a great game! Anybody's game. Frankie Frisch crossed me up by pitching Bill Hallahan instead of Grammer School Paul Dean.

"Student" Rowe of Smackover, Ark., pitched, and brother, he did smack 'em over. He certainly earned his diploma. He ain't Schoolboy any longer; he goes right into the Brain Trust. The St. Louis batters didn't know any more about what he was doing than we do of some of them in Washington. Yes sir, he goes in the Brain Trust. He comes from my wife's home state.

Everybody played ball yesterday and that kid pitched a great game. And don't forget Bill Hallahan; he was very hot, too. A muffed ball in the center field, a questionable hit over third base and, toughest of all, a little pop fly dropped on the first base line—the breaks were just against Bill.

But it would have been a national calamity for the kid from Smackover to have lost. I bet I am the only one's been to that town.

Well, I hear that plane whistling over the crossing.

Yours,

Will Rogers

The results of that period will not be known until tonight for no report luncheon was held today.

Hope For Success

Confident that the 250 and more team campaigners can "raise the $72,000," leaders prepared for tonight's windup session in an optimistic manner. The drive's general chairman, Attorney W. Walter Braham, will likely preside at the closing dinner.

To all campaign workers from Chest headquarters went a reminder today to attend tonight's dinner-session.

The report showed the Blue army of Lieut. Col. Carl E. Paisley still leading Lieut. Col Emanuel Shenkan's White army by a considerable figure after yesterday's noon check was made. Paisley's army has subscribed a total of $3,037.40 while Shenkan's has raised $1,608.25.

King Baseball has a sunny spot but just for several days or so, for baseball vanishes and hides its head when frosty mornings bring us snow. But football thrives when days are cold, when chilly winds peck at the cheek, when roads are hard with frozen ruts and hinge on the front doors squeak. Its then that football gets its due, when blankets wrap the rabid fans, and baseball has been put away wrapped in the village rubbish cans. So take your bow you baseball king, a little while, then on your way, let football enter proud and rough, the weather's seventy one today.

Hauptmann To Fight Extradition To Jersey

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—As far as the New York and New Jersey police authorities are concerned, Bruno Richard Hauptmann sullen Bronx carpenter, is up to his neck in Lindbergh case guilt, but as far as Hauptmann's attorney, James M. Fawcett is concerned, he is as innocent of real wrong-doing as Joe Doakes.

Fawcett made this clear today when he announced his intention to fight vigorously any effort on the part of New Jersey to extradite Hauptmann to Hunterdon county to stand trial for kidnaping and murder.

To Fight Extradition

"I am convinced that Hauptmann was not the real culprit," Fawcett declared, emphatically. "Extradition will be fought. I feel sure I can prove Haptmann was not in New Jersey at the time of the kidnaping.

"I have talked with friends of Hauptmann, who heretofore have been silent and are reluctant to enter the case. But I will produce them, if necessary, to corroborate his alibi."

Meanwhile other outstanding developments in the celebrated criminal case today were as follows:

(1)—Four more ransom bills have been passed in the last three days, a total of nine since Hauptmann was jailed, police reported.

CALL DEATH 'PERFECT CRIME' IDEA

That the death of Charles Stellmach, handsome young aviator, was a "perfect crime" idea, motivated by desire to insure payment of double indemnity on a life insurance policy, is the theory of Hollywood police after Stellmach's body with a gaping bullet wound, had been washed up at Malibou Beach, Cal. Stellmach is pictured with Mrs. Leonore Robinson, comely brunet who reported his disappearance. After an investigation police declared Stellmach shot himself and leaped into the sea.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—The United States government today was to continue laying the foundation of its case against Samuel Insull whom the government charges is a swindler and who, if the allegation is proved by the return of a "guilty" verdict, will go down in history as the greatest swindler of all time, for investors lost $100,000,000 in the collapse of his corporation securities company.

The specific charge against the former utilities magnate, patron of the arts and social leader, and his 16 co-defendants is using the United States mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock in corporation securities company, the last promotion of the creator of the vast empire of power.

Poor Farm Witness At Butler Insane

Home Inmate Who Was Principal Witness In Cruelty Charges Found Insane

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 5.—Andy Bortmas, 85-year-old Butler county home inmate, who was the principal witness in the cruelty expose that resulted in the removal of Superintendent Fred C. Herold, was adjudged insane today.

Receiving the report from a sanity commission of three, Judge John H. Wilson ordered Sheriff Dewitt Stevenson to remove Bortmas to the state hospital for the insane at Torrence immediately.

The commission reported Bortmas may develop a homicidal mania any time and that he was "bordering on senile dementia" although he possessed "great physical strength".

Tried on charges of treating inmates at the home brutally, Herold was acquitted.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—I told you what the score would be, 3 to 2, and that it would be a great game! Anybody's game. Frankie Frisch crossed me up by pitching Bill Hallahan instead of Grammer School Paul Dean.

"Student" Rowe of Smackover, Ark., pitched, and brother, he did smack 'em over. He certainly earned his diploma. He ain't Schoolboy any longer; he goes right into the Brain Trust. The St. Louis batters didn't know any more about what he was doing than we do of some of them in Washington. Yes sir, he goes in the Brain Trust. He comes from my wife's home state.

Everybody played ball yesterday and that kid pitched a great game. And don't forget Bill Hallahan; he was very hot, too. A muffed ball in the center field, a questionable hit over third base and, toughest of all, a little pop fly dropped on the first base line—the breaks were just against Bill.

But it would have been a national calamity for the kid from Smackover to have lost. I bet I am the only one's been to that town.

Well, I hear that plane whistling over the crossing.

Before police reached the scene, in answer to an anonymous telephone tip, the fugitives had been picked up by an automobile bearing New Jersey license plates.

Hauptmann To Fight Extradition To Jersey

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—As far as the New York and New Jersey police authorities are concerned, Bruno Richard Hauptmann sullen Bronx carpenter, is up to his neck in Lindbergh case guilt, but as far as Hauptmann's attorney, James M. Fawcett is concerned, he is as innocent of real wrong-doing as Joe Doakes.

Fawcett made this clear today when he announced his intention to fight vigorously any effort on the part of New Jersey to extradite Hauptmann to Hunterdon county to stand trial for kidnaping and murder.

To Fight Extradition

"I am convinced that Hauptmann was not the real culprit," Fawcett declared, emphatically. "Extradition will be fought. I feel sure I can prove Hauptmann was not in New Jersey at the time of the kidnaping.

"I have talked with friends of Hauptmann, who heretofore have been silent and are reluctant to enter the case. But I will produce them, if necessary, to corroborate his alibi."

Meanwhile other outstanding developments in the celebrated criminal case today were as follows:

(1)—Four more ransom bills have been passed in the last three days, a total of nine since Hauptmann was jailed, police reported.

(2)—Federal agents reported they found a road map of New Jersey in Hauptmann's garage, but attached

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Trial date on which Richard C. Vasconi, Sharon police sergeant, must answer charges growing out of the disposal of a stolen car a year ago has not been set pending completion of the November term trial list, federal court attaches said today.

Because it has not yet been determined whether criminal or civil cases would first occupy the court during the forthcoming term, the district attorney's office was unable to say when Vasconi's case would come before the bar.

Vasconi and William Coxson, employe of an auto wrecking concern at Sharon, also indicted in the case, gave bond of $2,500 each at the U. S. marshal's office late yesterday.

William C. Brooks and Albert Ongley, who waived arraignment and pleaded to the indictment, were the other men implicated in the alleged deal involving a car stolen from William Mozer of Girard, O.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 5.—The mother and father of Bobby Edwards today testified briefly at the "American Tragedy" murder trial of their son, charged with slaying his childhood sweetheart Freda V. McKechnie, expectant mother.

SPAIN IN GRIP OF NEW STRIKE REVOLT

Three Are Dead; Hundreds Jailed

New Government of Premier Lerroux Facing Grave Crisis

MOST MADRID SHOPS CLOSED

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 5.—With three known dead and several hundred in prison, a revolutionary strike movement gripped Spain today, confronting the day-old government of Premier Alejandro Lerroux with a grave crisis.

Opponents of the new premier had threatened to plunge the nation into revolt in the event of his appointment, and disorders followed quickly on the heels of his selection of a cabinet.

Madrid, Seville, Cordova, and the Province of Catalonia were badly hit by the strike, which the Socialists, backed by communists and Syndicalists, plan to make effective all over the country.

Shops Closed

All shops except those selling milk were closed in Madrid. No street cars or taxicabs were running. The subway was closed. The only means of public transportation was motor busses, which were operating under police guard.

A severe censorship has been clamped down by the government, and only two newspapers, A. B. C. and El DeBate, were available—and these were being sold by soldiers.

Strenuous efforts were being made by the government to get public services back into operation, and to prevent a shortage of food supplies. Strikers, however, were determined to keep the tie-up effective for several days. "Make the people realize what it is to feel privation," Socialist leaders said, "Until they are aroused to open revolt."

platform to strike up martial airs as the train arrives.

To March To Hotel

Together the bands will march out of the depot grounds, over Washington street to North Mercer and up North Mercer to The Castleton. From 1:45 to 2:15 p. m. the bands will give a concert on North Mercer street between Falls and Grant. Police will rope off that section of North Mercer for the performance. There will be an informal reception during this time in The Castleton.

The Gerson trophy, offered to the winning team of tomorrow's Johnstown-New Castle contest, will be publicly awarded at the close of the game by General Chairman Ralph W. Bolsinger of the celebration committee.

The silver loving cup will carry an appropriate inscription.

Promptly at 2:15 the bands will begin their parade to Taggart stadium, with Johnstown's band in the lead.

The two will march into the stadium to take their positions for the game and at the half intermission the Johnstown band will play. New Castle's band is to give a special performance just before the game starts.

When the game is over, the New Castle band will lead the Johnstown band, back to The Castleton.

Pep Meetings

Pep meetings to arouse the student body were held at the Senior high school on Thursday morning and today. Speakers included Mr. Bolsinger, schoolmen, students and team players.

The Johnstown band will dine at The Castleton on Saturday evening.

All New Castle, the service clubs and public-spirited individuals, will be on their toes to entertain the visitors and many individual get-togethers are planned. Store windows will be colorfully decorated in the Johnstown colors of light blue and black and the local colors, red and black.

Boy Scouts are volunteering to placard the route for Johnstown motorists from the city limits to Taggart stadium, elliminating as much as possible the direction worry which the guests might have. Members of the local school's Student Council will also be stationed along East side streets.

At 7 o'clock at night the Johnstown special will leave for its three-hour return run to the Flood City. It will depart from the same depot it entered.

Working laboriously and yet quietly to make "Johnstown Goodwill ber of leading citizens and the city's Day" a success have been a number service clubs, and indications were today that the day's success hinges now upon just one thing, the weather. With favorable football weather, Taggart stadium should hold its record crowd tomorrow.

College games of the district, it appeared today, will not be as much of an attraction to New Castle fans as will the Taggart field festivities here.

Fans Excited.

Frisch was confident that the lapses suffered by his Cardinals in the second game at Detroit would disappear today before the "home crowd".

Sportsman's park took on a gala appearance with packed seats. The St. Louis fans were not sure of a world series until the "11th hour" but that only whetted their appetites all the more, and this afternoon they flocked to the ball park to see what the Tigers were made of.

Still a little dazed by their loss of a game yesterday that they had already counted won, the Cardinals were tight lipped and very grim as they filed on the field in uniforms of immaculate white, while the revived Tigers reacted most favorably to yesterday's 12th inning victory. They showed plenty of that most comforting quality known as the "old confee-dience" in their pre-game antics and apparently had completely shaken off the attack of nerves that caused them to make five errors in less than three innings on opening day.

Players Arrive Early.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—Separate special trains, steaming into Union station 15 minutes apart, brought the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers to their local baseball battleground. They will resume their hotly contested world series struggle with a third meeting at Sportsman's park this afternoon.

The Cardinals' special, which arrived shortly after 7 o'clock, was first in. It was saluted by a roar from a crowd of about a thousand persons.

The Tiger special arrived a quarter of an hour later, the Detroit players also getting a big hand when they alighted.

Fisch Almost Penniless

(4)—A preliminary audit of the accounts of Isidor Fisch named by Hauptmann as the man who had given him the ransom money found in his possession, indicated that Fisch was almost penniless.

(5)—A special panel of 150 talesmen was drawn to provide a jury for Hauptmann's trial in the Bronx on extortion charges, scheduled to begin next Thursday.

(6)—In Boston, James B. Russell, a federal prisoner, declared he was a friend of Hauptmann's and that the carpenter aided him in escaping from the Westchester County, N. Y. penitentiary in 1930.

(7)—Department of justice agents reported themselves in favor of New Jersey "getting first crack at Hauptmann" with the murder and kidnaping charges. It was pointed out that if New York should convict Hauptmann on an extortion charge he would have to be paroled or his sentence deferred in order to permit New Jersey to try him on the more serious charges.

(8)—Attorney Fawcett revealed he had engaged handwriting and fingerprint experts to offset any moves the prosecution might make to link his client with the authorship of the ransom notes received by Colonel Lindbergh and Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Formal action to support the movement for clean pictures will be asked of representatives of 36,000 women who will meet here from October 15 to 19 for the annual convention of the state federation of Pennsylvania women.

A resolution, designed to enlist hundreds of Pennsylvania women clubs in the drive against "movies" exploiting crime, will be proposed for adoption by the federation's American citizenship department.

Passage of the resolution will be urged because "the motion picture is one of the greatest factors in the training and education of future citizens," according to the text of the declaration which will be presented by Mrs. Stephen M. Byers, of Washington, Pa., and Mrs. Gustav Ketterer, of Philadelphia.

The delegates will be addressed on "highlights of the code and its relation to the public," by Sol Rosenblatt, NRA motion picture code administrator, at a motion picture dinner on October 16, under the direction of Mrs. Charles T. Owens, of Norristown.

Set Trial Date For Bankers At Cleveland, Ohio

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—Joseph R. Nutt, former treasurer of the Republican National Committee and former chairman of the defunct Union Trust Co., here and Wilbur M. Baldwin, former president of the bank, will go on trial in United State District Court here Oct. 22 in connection with the alleged $10,000,000 "window dressing" of the bank's records.

This was decided today at a conference between Judge Paul Jones, United States District Attorney Emerich B. Freed, Chief Defense Counsel William H. Boyd, and other attorneys.

The Nutt-Baldwin trial will be the second in Federal Court here growing out of the collapse of two of Cleveland's largest banks, the Union Trust Co., and the Guardian Trust Co. The first trial was concluded this week.

EDWARDS' TRIAL NEARING CLOSE; PARENTS TESTIFY

story you told?" asked the prosecutor sneering.

"No".

This fourth story Edwards related to police form the basis of the defense.

The defendant maintains Freda was dead before he struck her with the blackjack. He testifies he did it after she fell into a faint while stepping into a rowboat, and that he could not revive her.

He feared he would be blamed, due to her condition and he wanted to make her death look like an accident, Edwards said.

As the case drew toward its close, the defense paraded a host of character witness to the stand.

They included two ministers, friends and neighbors from Edwardsville, the home town of the defendant.

They testified as to the defendant's high character and reputation before his arrest.

Margaret Crain's brother was reported enroute to the trial from East Aurora, N. Y. He is a Baptist minister.

The last question asked of Bobby by the prosecutor was:

"Isnu't it true that to carry out your pledge to be true to eternity to Margaret Crain, you intended to tap Freda on the head and slide her body into the water to make it look like a drowning?"

"No, sir," replied Bobby. "I had no such intention."

The few minutes Bobby's mother spent on the witness stand was her first appearance in the court room.

Inadvertently, her testimony reflected the pangs of conscience believed suffered by her son after he had bludgeoned Freda and cast her body into the water of Harvey's lake.

"Do you know whether or not he slept?" asked defense counsel.

"I do not think so," replied Mrs. Edwards in a shaking voice.

"I could hear him tossing in his bed and I knew he wasn't resting well. The next day he looked pale and very quiet."

"How old is your son?"

"He was 21 last December."

The last witness called before both sides rested their cases was Richard Powell, chief of county detectives, a rebuttal witness for the state.

He gave testimony intended to contradict Bobby's claim that he had signed his murder confession because he was afraid of third degree methods.

Judge James H. Wilkerson will not rule on the demand until the government places its accounts on the stands to interpret the exhibits.

That the trial will be a long drawn out battle of legal parrying was indicated when defense counsel headed by former chief justice of the state Supreme Court, Floyd E. Mrs. Mabel Green, pretty wife of the youthful chief prosecutor revealed that he expects the trial to last five months when she told reporters that her husband had told her, "We ought to be out of here in five months."

SPAIN IN GRIP OF NEW STRIKE REVOLT

New Government of Premier Lerroux Facing Grave Crisis

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 5.—With three known dead and several hundred in prison, a revolutionary strike movement gripped Spain today, confronting the day-old government of Premier Alejandro Lerroux with a grave crisis.

Opponents of the new premier had threatened to plunge the nation into revolt in the event of his appointment, and disorders followed quickly on the heels of his selection of a cabinet.

Madrid, Seville, Cordova, and the Province of Catalonia were badly hit by the strike, which the Socialists, backed by communists and Syndicalists, plan to make effective all over the country.

Shops Closed

All shops except those selling milk were closed in Madrid. No street cars or taxicabs were running. The subway was closed. The only means of public transportation was motor busses, which were operating under police guard.

A severe censorship has been clamped down by the government, and only two newspapers, A. B. C. and El DeBate, were available—and these were being sold by soldiers.

Strenuous efforts were being made by the government to get public services back into operation, and to prevent a shortage of food supplies. Strikers, however, were determined to keep the tie-up effective for several days. "Make the people realize what it is to feel privation," Socialist leaders said, "Until they are aroused to open revolt."

JOHNSTOWN TO BE WELCOMED ON SATURDAY

To March To Hotel

Together the bands will march out of the depot grounds, over Washington street to North Mercer and up North Mercer to The Castleton. From 1:45 to 2:15 p. m. the bands will give a concert on North Mercer street between Falls and Grant. Police will rope off that section of North Mercer for the performance. There will be an informal reception during this time in The Castleton.

The Gerson trophy, offered to the winning team of tomorrow's Johnstown-New Castle contest, will be publicly awarded at the close of the game by General Chairman Ralph W. Bolsinger of the celebration committee.

The silver loving cup will carry an appropriate inscription.

Promptly at 2:15 the bands will begin their parade to Taggart stadium, with Johnstown's band in the lead.

The two will march into the stadium to take their positions for the game and at the half intermission the Johnstown band will play. New Castle's band is to give a special performance just before the game starts.

When the game is over, the New Castle band will lead the Johnstown band, back to The Castleton.

Pep Meetings

Pep meetings to arouse the student body were held at the Senior high school on Thursday morning and today. Speakers included Mr. Bolsinger, schoolmen, students and team players.

The Johnstown band will dine at The Castleton on Saturday evening.

All New Castle, the service clubs and public-spirited individuals, will be on their toes to entertain the visitors and many individual get-togethers are planned. Store windows will be colorfully decorated in the Johnstown colors of light blue and black and the local colors, red and black.

Boy Scouts are volunteering to placard the route for Johnstown motorists from the city limits to Taggart stadium, eliminating as much as possible the direction worry which the guests might have. Members of the local school's Student Council will also be stationed along East side streets.

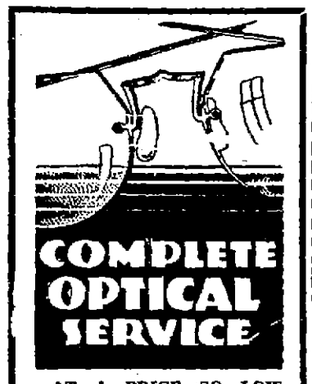

At 7 o'clock at night the Johnstown special will leave for its three-hour return run to the Flood City. It will depart from the same depot it entered.

Working laboriously and yet quietly to make "Johnstown Goodwill ber of leading citizens and the city's Day" a success have been a num-service clubs, and indications were today that the day's success hinges now upon just one thing, the weather. With favorable football weather, Taggart stadium should hold its record crowd tomorrow.

College games of the district, it appeared today, will not be as much of an attraction to New Castle fans as will the Taggart field festivities here.

the prosecution, is the defense demand that the government be compelled to produce as an identifying witness the person who had direct, personal knowledge of each detail of every transaction submitted into evidence. Judge James H. Wilkerson will not rule on the demand until the government places its accounts on the stands to interpret the exhibits.

That the trial will be a long drawn out battle of legal parrying was indicated when defense counsel headed by former chief justice of the state Supreme Court, Floyd E. Thompson, liberally interspersed the day's activities with objections and motions and the defense retaliated with counter-objections and counter-motions.

Mrs. Mabel Green, pretty wife of the youthful chief prosecutor revealed that he expects the trial to last five months when she told reporters that her husband had told her, "We ought to be out of here in five months."

SPAIN IN GRIP OF NEW STRIKE REVOLT

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 5.—With three known dead and several hundred in prison, a revolutionary strike movement gripped Spain today, confronting the day-old government of Premier Alejandro Lerroux with a grave crisis.

Opponents of the new premier had threatened to plunge the nation into revolt in the event of his appointment, and disorders followed quickly on the heels of his selection of a cabinet.

Madrid, Seville, Cordova, and the Province of Catalonia were badly hit by the strike, which the Socialists, backed by communists and Syndicalists, plan to make effective all over the country.

Shops Closed

All shops except those selling milk were closed in Madrid. No street cars or taxicabs were running. The subway was closed. The only means of public transportation was motor busses, which were operating under police guard.

A severe censorship has been clamped down by the government, and only two newspapers, A. B. C. and El DeBate, were available—and these were being sold by soldiers.

Strenuous efforts were being made by the government to get public services back into operation, and to prevent a shortage of food supplies. Strikers, however, were determined to keep the tie-up effective for several days. "Make the people realize what it is to feel privation," Socialist leaders said, "Until they are aroused to open revolt."

JOHNSTOWN TO BE WELCOMED ON SATURDAY

To March To Hotel

Together the bands will march out of the depot grounds, over Washington street to North Mercer and up North Mercer to The Castleton. From 1:45 to 2:15 p. m. the bands will give a concert on North Mercer street between Falls and Grant. Police will rope off that section of North Mercer for the performance. There will be an informal reception during this time in The Castleton.

Promptly at 2:15 the bands will begin their parade to Taggart stadium, with Johnstown's band in the lead.

The two will march into the stadium to take their positions for the game and at the half intermission the Johnstown band will play. New Castle's band is to give a special performance just before the game starts.

When the game is over, the New Castle band will lead the Johnstown band, back to The Castleton.

Pep Meetings

Pep meetings to arouse the student body were held at the Senior high school on Thursday morning and today. Speakers included Mr. Bolsinger, schoolmen, students and team players.

The Johnstown band will dine at The Castleton on Saturday evening.

All New Castle, the service clubs and public-spirited individuals, will be on their toes to entertain the visitors and many individual get-togethers are planned. Store windows will be colorfully decorated in the Johnstown colors of light blue and black and the local colors, red and black.

Boy Scouts are volunteering to placard the route for Johnstown motorists from the city limits to Taggart stadium, eliminating as much as possible the direction worry which the guests might have. Members of the local school's Student Council will also be stationed along East side streets.

At 7 o'clock at night the Johnstown special will leave for its three-hour return run to the Flood City. It will depart from the same depot it entered.

Working laboriously and yet quietly to make "Johnstown Goodwill ber of leading citizens and the city's Day" a success have been a number service clubs, and indications were today that the day's success hinges now upon just one thing, the weather. With favorable football weather, Taggart stadium should hold its record crowd tomorrow.

College games of the district, it appeared today, will not be as much of an attraction to New Castle fans as will the Taggart field festivities here.

The Gerson trophy, offered to the winning team of tomorrow's Johnstown-New Castle contest, will be publicly awarded at the close of the game by General Chairman Ralph W. Bolsinger of the celebration committee.

The silver loving cup will carry an appropriate inscription.

SERIES TEAMS RESUME BATTLE IN ST. LOUIS

Fans Excited.

Frisch was confident that the lapses suffered by his Cardinals in the second game at Detroit would disappear today before the "home crowd".

Sjortsman's park took on a gala appearance with packed seats. The St. Louis fans were not sure of a world series until the "11th hour" but that only whetted their appetites all the more, and this afternoon they flocked to the ball park to see what the Tigers were made of.

Still a little dazed by their loss of a game yesterday that they had already counted won, the Cardinals were tight lipped and very grim as they filed on the field in uniforms of immaculate white, while the revived Tigers reacted most favorably to yesterday's 12th inning victory. They showed plenty of that most comforting quality known as the "old confee-dience" in their pregame antics and apparently had completely shaken off the attack of nerves that caused them to make five errors in less than three innings on opening day.

Players Arrive Early.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—Separate special trains, steaming into Union station 15 minutes apart, brought the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers to their local baseball battleground. They will resume their hotly contested world series struggle with a third meeting at Sportsman's park this afternoon.

The Cardinals' special, which arrived shortly after 7 o'clock, was first in. It was saluted by a roar from a crowd of about a thousand persons.

The Tiger special arrived a quarter of an hour later, the Detroit players also getting a big hand when they alighted.

Fisch Almost Penniless

(4)—A preliminary audit of the accounts of Isidor Fisch named by Hauptmann as the man who had given him the ransom money found in his possession, indicated that Fisch was almost penniless.

(5)—A special panel of 150 talesmen was drawn to provide a jury for Hauptmann's trial in the Bronx on extortion charges, scheduled to begin next Thursday.

(6)—In Boston, James B. Russell, a federal prisoner, declared he was a friend of Hauptmann's and that the carpenter aided him in escaping from the Westchester County, N. Y. penitentiary in 1930.

(7)—Department of justice agents reported themselves in favor of New Jersey "getting first crack at Hauptmann" with the murder and kidnaping charges. It was pointed out that if New York should convict Hauptmann on an extortion charge he would have to be paroled or his sentence deferred in order to permit New Jersey to try him on the more serious charges.

(8)—Attorney Fawcett revealed he had engaged handwriting and fingerprint experts to offset any moves the prosecution might make to link his client with the authorship of the ransom notes received by Colonel Lindbergh and Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon.

The twins, Mrs. Anderson's eleventh and twelfth offspring, were exceptionally large, weighing a total of 18½ pounds.

To Support Move For Clean Shows

Women's Clubs To Be Enlisted In Campaign To Purify Pictures

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Formal action to support the movement for clean pictures will be asked of representatives of 36,000 women who will meet here from October 15 to 19 for the annual convention of the state federation of Pennsylvania women.

A resolution, designed to enlist hundreds of Pennsylvania women clubs in the drive against "movies" exploiting crime, will be proposed for adoption by the federation's American citizenship department.

Passage of the resolution will be urged because "the motion picture is one of the greatest factors in the training and education of future citizens," according to the text of the declaration which will be presented by Mrs. Stephen M. Byers, of Washington, Pa., and Mrs. Gustav Ketterer, of Philadelphia.

The delegates will be addressed on "highlights of the code and its relation to the public," by Sol Rosenblatt, NRA motion picture code administrator, at a motion picture dinner on October 16, under the direction of Mrs. Charles T. Owens, of Norristown.

At the same event Dr. C. F. Hoban, director of the Pennsylvania State Museum, an official delegate to the International Cinematographic congress in Rome, will speak on "the important feature of the Rome congress."

THREE CROPS FROM ONE APPLE TREE

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 5.—Don't ever say it can't be done!

A true freak of nature, an apple tree on the farm of William A. Bryson, near here, has bloomed three times since last May.

When the first spring blossoming in May appeared, nothing was thought about it. But in July a second crop of buds burst into bloom.

But the Bryson household was properly astonished when they awoke one morning to find the abnormal fruit tree sprouting its third "spring dress."

Set Trial Date For Bankers At Cleveland, Ohio

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—Joseph R. Nutt, former treasurer of the Republican National Committee and former chairman of the defunct Union Trust Co., here and Wilbur M. Baldwin, former president of the bank, will go on trial in United State District Court here Oct. 22 in connection with the alleged $10,000,000 "window dressing" of the bank's records.

This was decided today at a conference between Judge Paul Jones, United States District Attorney Emerich B. Freed, Chief Defense Counsel William H. Boyd, and other attorneys.

The Nutt-Baldwin trial will be the second in Federal Court here growing out of the collapse of two of Cleveland's largest banks, the Union Trust Co., and the Guardian Trust Co. The first trial was concluded this week.

"No".

This fourth story Edwards related to police form the basis of the defense.

The defendant maintains Freda was dead before he struck her with the blackjack. He testifies he did it after she fell into a faint while stepping into a rowboat, and that he could not revive her.

He feared he would be blamed, due to her condition and he wanted to make her death look like an accident, Edwards said.

As the case drew toward its close, the defense paraded a host of character witness to the stand.

They included two ministers, friends and neighbors from Edwardsville, the home town of the defendant.

They testified as to the defendant's high character and reputation before his arrest.

Margaret Crain's brother was reported enroute to the trial from East Aurora, N. Y. He is a Baptist minister.

The last question asked of Bobby by the prosecutor was:

"Isnu't it true that to carry out your pledge to be true to eternity to Margaret Crain, you intended to tap Freda on the head and slide her body into the water to make it look like a drowning?"

"No, sir," replied Bobby. "I had no such intention."

The few minutes Bobby's mother spent on the witness stand was her first appearance in the court room.

Inadvertently, her testimony reflected the pangs of conscience believed suffered by her son after he had bludgeoned Freda and cast her body into the water of Harvey's lake.

"Do you know whether or not he slept?" asked defense counsel.

"I do not think so," replied Mrs. Edwards in a shaking voice.

"I could hear him tossing in his bed and I knew he wasn't resting well. The next day he looked pale and very quiet."

"How old is your son?"

"He was 21 last December."

The last witness called before both sides rested their cases was Richard Powell, chief of county detectives, a rebuttal witness for the state.

He gave testimony intended to contradict Bobby's claim that he had signed his murder confession because he was afraid of third degree methods.

Lethargy has had the voters in his grip thus far in the registration. A dozen different reasons, none of them important, have kept citizens away from the registration booths. It was not so important when they missed the first day. It was still not a matter of grave importance when the second day was missed.

Tomorrow, Saturday, is the last day to register and it is vitally important that voters get registered.

HADASSAH BOARD DESSERT LUNCHEON

At a dessert luncheon given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. L. F. Kohn, Moody avenue, for the board of the Hadassah, plans were discussed for the winter program.

The principal topic for the afternoon was the coming convention in Washington, D. C., which will be attended by the delegates, Mrs. L. F. Kohn and Mrs. Jack Kulkin, and possibly other members of the local chapter, who will leave Saturday evening, October 13.

The convention will be held at the Wardman Park Hotel, October 14, 15 and 16 with education as the keynote. Mrs. Samuel W. Halprin, national president, has said that American Jews must assume leadership in Jewish life because reactionary forces in Europe have retarded activity there in behalf of Jews.

A special feature of the convention will be the radioed messages from Jerusalem describing the ceremonies to take place there in connection with the laying of the cornerstone of the first medical center in Palestine, to be built by Hadassah and the American Jewish physician's committee. This ceremony will coincide with the opening session of the convention. The members of Hadassah in New Castle have been most active in the fund raising campaign for the building of the medical center.

At a mass meeting the opening night of the convention Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York will talk on the position of the Jew today. At the banquet which will close the convention, Mrs. Franklin D. Grace Moore Thrills Patrons

There may be some question as to whether the New Deal is successful, whether Detroit or St. Louis will win the World's Series, but there isn't any division of opinion in New Castle today over the picture now playing the Regent, "One Night of Love", starring Grace Moore, grand opera star.

It is just the loveliest thing that has come to the screen in many, many years. It has everything, romance, drama, clean comedy, and over and above it all, the glorious voice of Grace Moore reaching out into the audience and wrapping around the hearts of the people.

The screen world needs more such pictures, the theatergoing public needs more of them, and for this particular play the reaction of the New Castle theatergoers is seen in the crowds that reach to the sidewalks every night. Saturday will be the last showing of "One Night of Love".

Grace Moore Thrills Patrons

There may be some question as to whether the New Deal is successful, whether Detroit or St. Louis will win the World's Series, but there isn't any division of opinion in New Castle today over the picture now playing the Regent, "One Night of Love", starring Grace Moore, grand opera star.

It is just the loveliest thing that has come to the screen in many, many years. It has everything, romance, drama, clean comedy, and over and above it all, the glorious voice of Grace Moore reaching out into the audience and wrapping around the hearts of the people.

The screen world needs more such pictures, the theatergoing public needs more of them, and for this particular play the reaction of the New Castle theatergoers is seen in the crowds that reach to the sidewalks every night. Saturday will be the last showing of "One Night of Love".

HIGHLAND KIDDIES AFTERNOON PARTY

Babes in arms, toddling tots and cunning little boys and girls, with their mothers, to the number of almost 100, assembled in the dining room of the Highland United Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon for the annual beginners' and cradle roll department party, under the direction of Mrs. T. J. McFate.

Gaily colored balloons, flying toy aeroplanes, combined with candy sticks, were artfully used in decorating the room, and at the close of the party the little folks took them as favors.

The little ones entertained their mothers with music and readings. Those who said speeches were little Peggy Jane Mayberry, Jane Throop, Doris Cartwright, Johnny Brinton and Norma Long; the group of beginners sang some songs and Billy Batten played accordion numbers. The Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of the church, talked to the youngsters and greeted the mothers.

After the program there was romping by the little ones, after which they were placed at low tables and served an appropriate menu of refreshments while their mothers were served tray lunches.

HADASSAH BOARD DESSERT LUNCHEON

At a dessert luncheon given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. L. F. Kohn, Moody avenue, for the board of the Hadassah, plans were discussed for the winter program.

The principal topic for the afternoon was the coming convention in Washington, D. C., which will be attended by the delegates, Mrs. L. F. Kohn and Mrs. Jack Kulkin, and possibly other members of the local chapter, who will leave Saturday evening, October 13.

The convention will be held at the Wardman Park Hotel, October 14, 15 and 16 with education as the keynote. Mrs. Samuel W. Halprin, national president, has said that American Jews must assume leadership in Jewish life because reactionary forces in Europe have retarded activity there in behalf of Jews.

A special feature of the convention will be the radioed messages from Jerusalem describing the ceremonies to take place there in connection with the laying of the cornerstone of the first medical center in Palestine, to be built by Hadassah and the American Jewish physician's committee. This ceremony will coincide with the opening session of the convention. The members of Hadassah in New Castle have been most active in the fund raising campaign for the building of the medical center.

At a mass meeting the opening night of the convention Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York will talk on the position of the Jew today. At the banquet which will close the convention, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., will be honored guests. Mrs. Halprin and Rabbi Milton Steinberg of the Park Avenue Synagoge, New York, will speak.

The local members of Hadassah have been invited to attend a special session of the Kittanning Hadassah, Sunday October 7, in the synagogue at that place with Mrs. J. M. Hurwitz, regional president, as the speaker.

Honors Visitors.

Miss Frances McDowell of Rich Hill was a pleasing hostess Thursday evening when she entertained a gathering of friends in honor of the Misses Anna and Viola Dicks of Pasadena, Calif., and their brother, Robert Dicks of Galesburg, Ill. Among those who shared were Mr. and Mrs. Alex McConaghy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis McConaghy, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and daughter Marguereta, Nancy McConaghy and Mr. and Mrs. Melville Jordon, all of New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson of East Brook, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blevins and son of New Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Laymon Reed, Mr. Taggart, Gyla McDowell Louise McDowell of Beaver Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Ben McDowell, the hostess, Miss Frances McDowell, and her mother, Mrs. Rebecca McDowell, and the honored guests.

Jolly Twelve Meet.

Lovely flowers in the glowing shades of autumn were used in the decoration of the home by Mrs. H. B. McConnell, Round street, Thursday evening when she entertained the members of the Jolly Twelve.

Mrs. Charles Foster, vice president, presided over the business session after which the group joined in a social period of cards, with winning prize scores being held by Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. Charles Riley.

Miss Hulda Perkins assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

THE GARDEN CLUBS HAVE COUNTY DAY

County day was observed by representatives of the Lawrence County Garden club, with its affiliate organizations: East Side Garden club, West Side Garden club, Mahoning Valley Garden club, North Beaver Garden club, New Bedford Garden club, East Brook Garden club, Mahoningtown Garden club, the latter being the hostess club, in the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, Thursday. Members present approximated 100.

The rooms were bowers of beauty, beautifully decorated with garden flowers of every hue and kind, and the luncheon served at one o'clock was perfect in appointments.

Two excellent musical numbers were rendered during luncheon, a piano solo by Betty Alexander, and a saxophone solo by Billy Howard, the latter being accompanied by Mary Ellen Shanafelt.

Following the season of school flower shows, an appropriate program was presented by a number of children who demonstrated the use of garden flowers, artistically arranged, and who carved a niche for themselves in the history of New Castle's school flower shows.

Mrs. William Howley introduced the various groups to the Garden club members.

After the social hour, the program proper opened with a demonstration of artistic arrangement, given by the pupils of West Side school. At this school, Miss Elsie Kivine and Miss Mary McBride, art and nature teachers, had arranged a garden program which was the second step in an effort to teach the children the proper appreciation of the considerations governing flower arrangements and their placements in a room.

Miss Nannie L. Mitcheltree, the principal, granted the request of the school committee and permitted the children to present their work to the Senior Garden clubs of the county. These junior gardeners proved, beyond a doubt, that it is possible for children, in the grades, to make this own arrangements and so bring their own efforts to a flower show. This demonstration was a lesson in values to all who had the privilege of seeing it, and at the same time established the reputation of the Junior gardeners of the West Side as pioneers in the city school flower shows.

Following the children's work, the group was entertained with two vocal selections, by Miss Lillian Lipp, accompanied by Miss Pauline McCullough. Mrs. Richard Gwilym, president of the Mahoningtown club, introduced Mr. Elliott of Evans City, speaker of the day, who discussed, "Evolution of Trees" in a scholarly manner.

At the close of his talk, he graciously acceded to a request to answer questions on tulips and their culture. This was a most appropriate feature since, in this locality, Armistice Day marks the planting time for tulips.

A rising vote of thanks to the Mahoningtown club for a highly instructive and entertaining session, which was outstanding, both in a musical way and because of the speaker provided, combined with a splendid children's demonstration, brought the meeting to a close.

The next County Day will be held in January, 1935.

ONE of the dearest possessions of the American citizen is his right of franchise!

It is his to do with as he sees fit. His vote is his own, and how he casts it is his own business. The difficulty in America is that the voter, speaking collectively does not appreciate his possessions.

This applies not alone to Maine and California, but to the City of New Castle. With at least 18,000 men and women entitled to vote, there are less than 7000 registered for the election on November 6. Should someone attempt to deny them the right to vote they would be willing to take up arms in the defense of the right. But for many varied and useless reasons, more than 11,000 men and women are not yet registered, with tomorrow, Saturday, October 6, the last opportunity.

If you are not registered, do so on Saturday. It is your last chance for the November election. And remember this, if all the 11,000 decide to register on Saturday, it would mean an average of 300 to a precinct. Hence it is advisable to get around early and register.

It is not a pleasing commentary upon the civic consciousness of citizens when three out of every five are not registered with two days gone. Unfortunately nothing can be done about it if the citizen himself will not bestir himself and get to the polls before ten o'clock Saturday night and register.

To those dilatory citizens who do not register on Saturday may we suggest that they refrain from complaining or criticizing if the results on November 6 go counter to what they want to see happen.

As a last word in a last line! Register tomorrow!

FAIR TRIAL FOR CASH RELIEF

Philadelphia is to be laboratory to test the efficacy of direct cash relief for the unemployed in place of the present system of welfare orders. State relief heads have been pressing for this substitution for many months past; their aim, if the experiment proves worthwhile, is to make it state-wide.

Abandonment of the order system and establishment of direct relief seem to have some advantages. Principally the substitution would enormously simplify administration, reduce overhead charges, curtail red-tape and dispense with much clerical and "home visitor" routine. Its sponsors also stress the humaneness of the change, the uplift to the morale of the needy in giving them money instead of tying them down to relief orders prescribing specific purchases.

That one system of disbursement would make things easier for those in charge does not, however, seem a very weighty argument in its behalf. And cash relief, no matter how euphoniously named, is still the dole, is still the dollar hand-out. There is a danger in facilitating perpetuation of the dole system—danger also that cash placed in some hands may not always be used for essential family needs, for food, for shoes, for coal. Administrative expense would not be lessened and the morale of the jobless would not be aided if a squadron of snoopers were required to police those on the relief rolls.

The new system has its advantages, its disadvantages. A fair trial here should determine where the balance lies.

CHICAGO FAIR NEAR END

November 1 sees the century's biggest entertainment venture—the Chicago World's Fair that cost $20,000,000—reduced to just a mass of junk. When that day arrives the second-hand man may back up his truck to the gate through which so many thousands of the nation's citizens have passed, name his own price for much of the material there, and cart it away. To the cold and calculating wreckers who will swarm over the gigantic playground, the fair will mean little more than 20,000 tons of light structural steel for sale.

Possibly some of the exhibits will be moved to the San Diego Exposition, which opens next year. But according to Colonel J. Franklin Bell, who also closed out the American Engineering Corps in France, most of the exhibitors will be out and gone two weeks after the fair closes.

Who remembers what has happened to other great fairs in other great cities? Like meteors across the public sky they flash and are gone. The hall in which President McKinley was assassinated in Buffalo was moved to Aurora, Illinois, where is served for a time as a municipal building. Later it became a movie theater, through the years retaining the brass plate in the floor, near the stage, that marked the spot where the martyred President fell. Last year the building was torn down. A modern theater was erected on its site, while probably even Buffalo forgot whatever became of it.

So will pass the glamous and gayety of the Chicago Fair. Stripped of their finery the buildings will be ghostlike. It is as tragic as the day after the circus when Willie visits the lot to recall: "Here were the elephants; here the—the beautiful lady on the horse." One can readily forgive Willie's quivering lip, the catch in his voice. When such pagaentry is at its zenith we, like Joshua would call upon the sun to stand still.

MORE "PROFIT"

Another big "profit," this time $49,500,000, has gone into the federal treasury, as revealed in the daily statement of the latter.

It was made by purchasing silver at around 50 cents an ounce and then valuing this on the treasury's books, as assets, at $1.29 an ounce.

The government, in recent years, has had much to say about certain practices in the private business world by which fictitious value were created and traded on. Manipulation of the stock market through the operation of pools and by other means were condemned after much fuss and fury, and put under the ban. In its policy of regulating the conduct of private business, the government has posed as a stern upholder of recognized moral practices and a bitter foe of anything that had a questionable coloring.

We venture that nowhere has it uncovered anything in the latter class that went as far as it has gone itself in its silver and gold revaluation policies.

Why should practices outlawed in private business be held moral and upright when engaged in by the government?

All you need to capture world markets is enough dumb employes working at 30 cents a day to make you rich.

CAN YOU DO THE TRICK?

I've been reading a book on secrets of magic—and now I know how everything's done.

When the magician asks me to select a card from a deck and then tells me what card is it, I know how he did it.

I know how he changes the spots on cards, produces rabbits from hats, makes cigarets vanish in the air.

When he saws a woman in two, makes a pretty girl disappear from a cabinet or the man go through a mirror—I know exactly how he does it and if I want to be smart I can stand right up in the audience and explain it to everybody.

He's fooling me, but I know his secrets. He has trick slates, trick tubes, trick containers and trick decks of cards. I can't see how he does the things he does, but I know he isn't doing what he says he is. His hand is quicker than my eye, but just the same "it's just a trick."

When he puts a girl in a box and sticks swords through it in all directions, apparently, then opens the front of the box and shows us that she isn't there, I know exactly how that's done, too. She IS there, in a little partition at the back of the box, but trick mirrors make you think she isn't there at all.

I've read a book that tells all about it—I know HOW he does the tricks, but I could never do those tricks myself. My fingers aren't clever enough, my mind isn't fast enough. I haven't the experience. And, furthermore, I haven't any desire to be a magician.

And that's the way it is with many, many things. We know how a lot of things are done, but WE can't do them.

There's magic everywhere in this world, but few of us know how to make it. We see poor people getting happiness out of common things, we see fine women loving most ordinary men, we see deaf lads like Edison becoming great inventors, we see average fellows doing incredibly brave things, we see wonders happening all around us—and we can tell you HOW they happen, but we can't tell you any more than that. We have all, somewhere, read a book of magic and received a hint about the mystery of it—and that's all we know about it.

Life is "just a trick," but what a trick it is!

THOSE CUP AND SAUCER DAYS

It seems to me we've journed far—
at least a million miles—
From habits, customs, needs and laws, taxes and games and styles
Which marked my early boyhood years. So swift has been the change
The moderns think our parents were old fossils, crude and strange.
They curl their lips in sneering at the joys we used to praise
But we often sit and chuckle o'er
those cup and saucer days.

They were cup and saucer-minded.
Nellie, do not you recall
'Twas a dainty cup and saucer that
I gave you first of all?
Every birthday and at Christmas—
oh, I'm sure you can't forget.
Some one added bits of China to the slowly growing set,
And that mustache cup for father,
with the strainer at the brim,
With his name in gold upon it, so
he'd know it was for him!

If you won a game at parties 'twas
a cup and saucer prize,
Some were dainty, some were rugged, but what mattered shape or size?
Every home had its collection, and the proudest on the shelves
Were the pretty bits the donors had adorned with paint themselves
There were violets, and pansies
rosebuds pink beneath the glaze
Till the eye was fairly dazzled in those cup and saucer days.

Yes, the peace of life is swifter and
we've traveled far since them:
Change has banished many customs
that will never be again.
In the attic, cracked and dusty stuck
in boxes and in crates
Are the flowered salts and cellars
and the violet-studded plates:
But although the fad is ended and
we've come to smarter days,
It is good to sit and chuckle o'er
those cup and saucer days.

NOBLESSE OBLIGE

A sure way to indicate your lack of good breeding is to laugh and talk loudly in a public eating place, whether it be a roadside inn or the dining room of an expensive hotel.

Persons who otherwise act in a decorous manner will sometimes throw aside good manners and violate the rules of etiquette when dining in out of the way places.

They feel under no restraint, believing that the other tables are occupied by rather insignificant people who don't count in their estimation.

Measured by certain standards, they may be right in judging the quality of fellow diners, but such persons have enough innate good breeding to conduct themselves properly and to place proper judgment upon those who frequently violate the rules of good manners.

Really well-bred persons keep to their standards at all times.

It can be counted on that they will act as ladies and gentlemen.

Those who throw off their good manners at times are the ones that make it uncomfortable for their companions.

No matter what a poor, unfortunate untrained person may do in public, such a one is very quick to mark the one who is bad-mannered.

And the derision expressed later and the contempt felt for those who consciously do wrong would be disconcerting, to say the least.

Reaction To Roosevelt Talk What Some People Are Saying Can A Truce Be Worked?

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—Readers often express doubt that a writer in New York can get the view of the people of America as a whole. That is the reason this writer mingles among the people and with people.

One of the foremost subjects of conversations is the recent radio address of President Roosevelt.

If casual conversation of the people means anything, that address struck a favorable chord in this region.

One man, who formerly was an Al Smith supporter, sums up much of the opinion that is voiced here:

"President Roosevelt will have to go through with the New Deal to the end—the people depend upon it. And there is great danger unless he does go through with it. The millions who still have no work are a factor—a great human factor—a factor that will not be downed with arguments that its liberty has been destroyed by a New Deal. A starving man has no liberty. Work provides his liberty.

"President Roosevelt seems to be trying to save the United States from the darkness, the terrible days of revolution, he seems to be trying to save the very men who are attacking him.

"Can't they see? Or am I wrong? "I have a wife and three young children. I have a home. I believe he is trying to protect us. I hope he wins in his fight."

CAN IT BE WORKED?

Some people here, however, see no truce between capital and labor.

They ask, How can there be?

One group, capital, contends it is surrendering its power, even its life. The other group, the workers, assert unless they fight they will have no right, no homes.

Here, where there are mills and factories and shops of all degrees, the issue is sharply joined.

Communists are not reckoned in this dispute. There seems to be no tendency here, in a city of tens of thousands of homes, to be Red.

There is, nevertheless, a determination that this writer has not seen previously—a determination to achieve a new standard of living.

It is doubtful whether any president could stop that movement.

One student of affairs here, a young man, has the opinion that the Rooseveltian truce plan would lead to fascism and that fascism would lead to terror and revolution.

The sentiment here undoubtedly is for peace. That sentiment is stronger in labor unions than elsewhere. But no labor leader would last a day if he surrendered what workers believe to be their means of procuring a betterment of living conditions.

A WORKER'S VIEW

One worker—a well paid man—remarked that people were beginning to be better off here.

"On what do you base that?" the writer asked, since an examination of industrial figures showed no improvement during the year.

The man responded: "My building and loan association is working overtime arranging for persons to build homes. At present, the land is being bought. House building will follow.

"This new prosperity will be more substantial. People now are going into fundamentals. That will increase wealth instead of destroying it."

MONTHLY FURLOUGHS

Ohio, like other states, is worried by prison revolts. There is a feeling that prison administration is antiquated and that, somehow, the New Deal must take care of it too.

Great interest is manifest in the suggestion of Joseph Fulling Fishman, chairman of the jail committee of the American Prison association. Fishman, practical student of prisons in the United States and abroad, suggests monthly furloughs for prisoners. That, he believes, would reduce sex perversion in prison, cause of much of the unrest.

Fishman, who for 10 years was federal inspector of prisons, would build modern prisons and "liberalize" the rights of inmates.

Russia, Fishman asserts, has solved the sex perversion problem by either admitting wives of prisoners or furloughing prisoners at monthly intervals.

FRIDAY, OCT 5

The World War Day-By-Day—Oct. 5, 1914—From Austria, where a third of the population was of Irish origin, 31,000 volunteers were moving toward Egypt. From Canada, where next to the French and Irish strain predominated, the first division of 33,000 volunteers was being convoyed to England.

The news from Ireland itself was different indeed. The rabid "Irish Volunteer" began circulating a manifesto drawn up by Sinn Fein members that left no doubt they were determined to resist recruiting in every way. It declared that Ireland could not, with honor or safety, take part in foreign quarrels otherwise than through the free action of a national government of its own.

Among the signatories were Prof. John MacNeill, Patrick H. Pearse, Joseph Plunkett, Thomas McDonagh. Regret was expressed that, owing to his absence in America, the signature of Sir Roger Casement was not attached.

Thousands pushed other thousands through Dublin street to shout their approval.

From the United States Casement wrote urging Irishmen to stay in Ireland, "as they had no quarrel with Germany." He likewise conceived the idea of pamphlet, "The crime against Ireland and how the war may right it," which the Germans adopted as part of the flood of propaganda they were loosening in the U. S. in an attempt to offset the torrents of ingenuous British and French propaganda.

The same week it was shown that the enlisted strength of the National Volunteers, the quasi-army formed in 1913 "to secure and maintain the rights and liberties common to all the people of Ireland without distinction or class, creed or politics," was 178,649. Most were armed and ready for a fight, but they had the most patriotic reasons for not getting into the one across the channel.

History Up-To-Date—Oct. 5, 1656—The Massachusetts Bay Colony, whose people crossed the Atlantic to enjoy freedom of worship, barred Quakers upon pain of lashes and deportation.

When Mary Fisher and Ann Austin arrived from Barbados and were found to be Quakers, their books were burned by the hangmen, they were stripped and searched for bodymarks of witches, and then driven from Boston. A little later Mary Dyer was hanged there because she was a friend. Coincidentally, Dorothy Waugh and Mary Witherhead were stripped and beaten in New York by order of Gov. Peter Stuyvesant to protect members of the Reformed Dutch church from their iniquitous religious ideas. Virginia imposed a fine of 5000 pounds of tobacco upon the master of a vessel who transported one of William Penn's fellow believers to Jamestown!

Oct. 5, 1703—Jonathon Edwards was born in East Windsor, Conn., destined to become America's most original thinker in metaphysics. He was a missionary to the Housatonnuck Amerindians when he was called to the presidency of Princeton. (He died of smallpox 34 days after his installation.)

It is related that after he had been married a year to Sarah Pierrepont of New Haven, Conn., his wife sewed on little garments for some time without seeming to attract his notice. So she led directly up to the subject.

"Jonathan," she said, "I'm going to have a baby."

Johnathan turned crimson with rage. "Never mention such a subject in my presence again!" he rumbled.

She never did. She had 12 children. The ancestors of 12 college presidents, 65 professors, 60 physicians, 80 authors, 30 judges, 80 state governors, 100 lawyers, 100 clergymen, three congressmen, two U. S. senators, one U. S. vice president.

Oct. 5, 1813—Chief Tecumseh of the Shawnees, a brigadier-general in the British army, was killed in action in the 15-minute battle of the Thames, Canada, in which Brig. Gen. Benjamin Harrison's army of 3,500 volunteers (mostly Kentuckians) overwhelmed 700 British regulars and 1,200 Amerindians under Brig. Gen. Henry A. Proctor.

Proctor ran away from the rout, and was discharged and disgraced for his cowardice. More than one man claimed to have killed Tecumseh, and one of them, Richard M. Johnson, campaigned for the vice

It is his to do with as he sees fit. His vote is his own, and how he casts it is his own business. The difficulty in America is that the voter, speaking collectively does not appreciate his possessions.

This applies not alone to Maine and California, but to the City of New Castle. With at least 18,000 men and women entitled to vote, there are less than 7000 registered for the election on November 6. Should someone attempt to deny them the right to vote they would be willing to take up arms in the defense of the right. But for many varied and useless reasons, more than 11,000 men and women are not yet registered, with tomorrow, Saturday, October 6, the last opportunity.

If you are not registered, do so on Saturday. It is your last chance for the November election. And remember this, if all the 11,000 decide to register on Saturday, it would mean an average of 300 to a precinct. Hence it is advisable to get around early and register.

It is not a pleasing commentary upon the civic consciousness of citizens when three out of every five are not registered with two days gone. Unfortunately nothing can be done about it if the citizen himself will not bestir himself and get to the polls before ten o'clock Saturday night and register.

To those dilatory citizens who do not register on Saturday may we suggest that they refrain from complaining or criticizing if the results on November 6 go counter to what they want to see happen.

As a last word in a last line! Register tomorrow!

FAIR TRIAL FOR CASH RELIEF

Philadelphia is to be laboratory to test the efficacy of direct cash relief for the unemployed in place of the present system of welfare orders. State relief heads have been pressing for this substitution for many months past; their aim, if the experiment proves worthwhile, is to make it state-wide.

Abandonment of the order system and establishment of direct relief seem to have some advantages. Principally the substitution would enormously simplify administration, reduce overhead charges, curtail red-tape and dispense with much clerical and "home visitor" routine. Its sponsors also stress the humaneness of the change, the uplift to the morale of the needy in giving them money instead of tying them down to relief orders prescribing specific purchases.

That one system of disbursement would make things easier for those in charge does not, however, seem a very weighty argument in its behalf. And cash relief, no matter how euphoniously named, is still the dole, is still the dollar hand-out. There is a danger in facilitating perpetuation of the dole system—danger also that cash placed in some hands may not always be used for essential family needs, for food, for shoes, for coal. Administrative expense would not be lessened and the morale of the jobless would not be aided if a squadron of snoopers were required to police those on the relief rolls.

The new system has its advantages, its disadvantages. A fair trial here should determine where the balance lies.

CHICAGO FAIR NEAR END

November 1 sees the century's biggest entertainment venture—the Chicago World's Fair that cost $20,000,000—reduced to just a mass of junk. When that day arrives the second-hand man may back up his truck to the gate through which so many thousands of the nation's citizens have passed, name his own price for much of the material there, and cart it away. To the cold and calculating wreckers who will swarm over the gigantic playground, the fair will mean little more than 20,000 tons of light structural steel for sale.

Possibly some of the exhibits will be moved to the San Diego Exposition, which opens next year. But according to Colonel J. Franklin Bell, who also closed out the American Engineering Corps in France, most of the exhibitors will be out and gone two weeks after the fair closes.

Who remembers what has happened to other great fairs in other great cities? Like meteors across the public sky they flash and are gone. The hall in which President McKinley was assassinated in Buffalo was moved to Aurora, Illinois, where is served for a time as a municipal building. Later it became a movie theater, through the years retaining the brass plate in the floor, near the stage, that marked the spot where the martyred President fell. Last year the building was torn down. A modern theater was erected on its site, while probably even Buffalo forgot whatever became of it.

So will pass the glamous and gayety of the Chicago Fair. Stripped of their finery the buildings will be ghostlike. It is as tragic as the day after the circus when Willie visits the lot to recall: "Here were the elephants; here the—the beautiful lady on the horse." One can readily forgive Willie's quivering lip, the catch in his voice. When such pagaentry is at its zenith we, like Joshua would call upon the sun to stand still.

MORE "PROFIT"

Another big "profit," this time $49,500,000, has gone into the federal treasury, as revealed in the daily statement of the latter.

It was made by purchasing silver at around 50 cents an ounce and then valuing this on the treasury's books, as assets, at $1.29 an ounce.

The government, in recent years, has had much to say about certain practices in the private business world by which fictitious value were created and traded on. Manipulation of the stock market through the operation of pools and by other means were condemned after much fuss and fury, and put under the ban. In its policy of regulating the conduct of private business, the government has posed as a stern upholder of recognized moral practices and a bitter foe of anything that had a questionable coloring.

We venture that nowhere has it uncovered anything in the latter class that went as far as it has gone itself in its silver and gold revaluation policies.

Why should practices outlawed in private business be held moral and upright when engaged in by the government?

All you need to capture world markets is enough dumb employes working at 30 cents a day to make you rich.

CAN YOU DO THE TRICK?

I've been reading a book on secrets of magic—and now I know how everything's done.

When the magician asks me to select a card from a deck and then tells me what card is it, I know how he did it.

I know how he changes the spots on cards, produces rabbits from hats, makes cigarets vanish in the air.

When he saws a woman in two, makes a pretty girl disappear from a cabinet or the man go through a mirror—I know exactly how he does it and if I want to be smart I can stand right up in the audience and explain it to everybody.

He's fooling me, but I know his secrets. He has trick slates, trick tubes, trick containers and trick decks of cards. I can't see how he does the things he does, but I know he isn't doing what he says he is. His hand is quicker than my eye, but just the same "it's just a trick."

When he puts a girl in a box and sticks swords through it in all directions, apparently, then opens the front of the box and shows us that she isn't there, I know exactly how that's done, too. She IS there, in a little partition at the back of the box, but trick mirrors make you think she isn't there at all.

I've read a book that tells all about it—I know HOW he does the tricks, but I could never do those tricks myself. My fingers aren't clever enough, my mind isn't fast enough. I haven't the experience. And, furthermore, I haven't any desire to be a magician.

And that's the way it is with many, many things. We know how a lot of things are done, but WE can't do them.

There's magic everywhere in this world, but few of us know how to make it. We see poor people getting happiness out of common things, we see fine women loving most ordinary men, we see deaf lads like Edison becoming great inventors, we see average fellows doing incredibly brave things, we see wonders happening all around us—and we can tell you HOW they happen, but we can't tell you any more than that. We have all, somewhere, read a book of magic and received a hint about the mystery of it—and that's all we know about it.

Life is "just a trick," but what a trick it is!

THOSE CUP AND SAUCER DAYS

It seems to me we've journed far—
at least a million miles—
From habits, customs, needs and laws, taxes and games and styles
Which marked my early boyhood years. So swift has been the change
The moderns think our parents were old fossils, crude and strange.
They curl their lips in sneering at
the joys we used to praise
But we often sit and chuckle o'er
those cup and saucer days.

They were cup and saucer-minded.
Nellie, do not you recall
'Twas a dainty cup and saucer that
I gave you first of all?
Every birthday and at Christmas—
oh, I'm sure you can't forget.
Some one added bits of China to the
slowly growing set,
And that mustache cup for father,
with the strainer at the brim,
With his name in gold upon it, so
he'd know it was for him!

If you won a game at parties 'twas
a cup and saucer prize,
Some were dainty, some were rugged, but what mattered shape or size?
Every home had its collection, and the proudest on the shelves
Were the pretty bits the donors had adorned with paint themselves
There were violets, and pansies
rosebuds pink beneath the glaze
Till the eye was fairly dazzled in those cup and saucer days.

Yes, the peace of life is swifter and
we've traveled far since them:
Change has banished many customs
that will never be again.
In the attic, cracked and dusty stuck
in boxes and in crates
Are the flowered salts and cellars
and the violet-studded plates:
But although the fad is ended and
we've come to smarter days,
It is good to sit and chuckle o'er
those cup and saucer days.

NOBLESSE OBLIGE

A sure way to indicate your lack of good breeding is to laugh and talk loudly in a public eating place, whether it be a roadside inn or the dining room of an expensive hotel.

Persons who otherwise act in a decorous manner will sometimes throw aside good manners and violate the rules of etiquette when dining in out of the way places.

They feel under no restraint, believing that the other tables are occupied by rather insignificant people who don't count in their estimation.

Measured by certain standards, they may be right in judging the quality of fellow diners, but such persons have enough innate good breeding to conduct themselves properly and to place proper judgment upon those who frequently violate the rules of good manners.

Really well-bred persons keep to their standards at all times.

It can be counted on that they will act as ladies and gentlemen.

Those who throw off their good manners at times are the ones that make it uncomfortable for their companions.

No matter what a poor, unfortunate untrained person may do in public, such a one is very quick to mark the one who is bad-mannered.

And the derision expressed later and the contempt felt for those who consciously do wrong would be disconcerting, to say the least.

Reaction To Roosevelt Talk
What Some People Are Saying Can A Truce Be Worked?

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—Readers often express doubt that a writer in New York can get the view of the people of America as a whole. That is the reason this writer mingles among the people and with people.

One of the foremost subjects of conversations is the recent radio address of President Roosevelt.

If casual conversation of the people means anything, that address struck a favorable chord in this region.

One man, who formerly was an Al Smith supporter, sums up much of the opinion that is voiced here:

"President Roosevelt will have to go through with the New Deal to the end—the people depend upon it. And there is great danger unless he does go through with it. The millions who still have no work are a factor—a great human factor—a factor that will not be downed with arguments that its liberty has been destroyed by a New Deal. A starving man has no liberty. Work provides his liberty.

"President Roosevelt seems to be trying to save the United States from the darkness, the terrible days of revolution, he seems to be trying to save the very men who are attacking him.

"Can't they see? Or am I wrong?

"I have a wife and three young children. I have a home. I believe he is trying to protect us. I hope he wins in his fight."

CAN IT BE WORKED?

Some people here, however, see no truce between capital and labor.

They ask, How can there be?

One group, capital, contends it is surrendering its power, even its life. The other group, the workers, assert unless they fight they will have no right, no homes.

Here, where there are mills and factories and shops of all degrees, the issue is sharply joined.

Communists are not reckoned in this dispute. There seems to be no tendency here, in a city of tens of thousands of homes, to be Red.

There is, nevertheless, a determination that this writer has not seen previously—a determination to achieve a new standard of living.

It is doubtful whether any president could stop that movement.

One student of affairs here, a young man, has the opinion that the Rooseveltian truce plan would lead to fascism and that fascism would lead to terror and revolution.

The sentiment here undoubtedly is for peace. That sentiment is stronger in labor unions than elsewhere. But no labor leader would last a day if he surrendered what workers believe to be their means of procuring a betterment of living conditions.

A WORKER'S VIEW

One worker—a well paid man—remarked that people were beginning to be better off here.

"On what do you base that?" the writer asked, since an examination of industrial figures showed no improvement during the year.

The man responded: "My building and loan association is working overtime arranging for persons to build homes. At present, the land is being bought. House building will follow.

"This new prosperity will be more substantial. People now are going into fundamentals. That will increase wealth instead of destroying it."

MONTHLY FURLOUGHS

Ohio, like other states, is worried by prison revolts. There is a feeling that prison administration is antiquated and that, somehow, the New Deal must take care of it too.

Great interest is manifest in the suggestion of Joseph Fulling Fishman, chairman of the jail committee of the American Prison association. Fishman, practical student of prisons in the United States and abroad, suggests monthly furloughs for prisoners. That, he believes, would reduce sex perversion in prison, cause of much of the unrest.

Fishman, who for 10 years was federal inspector of prisons, would build modern prisons and "liberalize" the rights of inmates.

Russia, Fishman asserts, has solved the sex perversion problem by either admitting wives of prisoners or furloughing prisoners at monthly intervals.

FRIDAY, OCT 5

The World War Day-By-Day—Oct. 5, 1914—From Austria, where a third of the population was of Irish origin, 31,000 volunteers were moving toward Egypt. From Canada, where next to the French and Irish strain predominated, the first division of 33,000 volunteers was being convoyed to England.

The news from Ireland itself was different indeed. The rabid "Irish Volunteer" began circulating a manifesto drawn up by Sinn Fein members that left no doubt they were determined to resist recruiting in every way. It declared that Ireland could not, with honor or safety, take part in foreign quarrels otherwise than through the free action of a national government of its own.

Among the signatories were Prof. John MacNeill, Patrick H. Pearse, Joseph Plunkett, Thomas McDonagh. Regret was expressed that, owing to his absence in America, the signature of Sir Roger Casement was not attached.

Thousands pushed other thousands through Dublin street to shout their approval.

From the United States Casement wrote urging Irishmen to stay in Ireland, "as they had no quarrel with Germany." He likewise conceived the idea of pamphlet, "The crime against Ireland and how the war may right it," which the Germans adopted as part of the flood of propaganda they were loosening in the U. S. in an attempt to offset the torrents of ingenuous British and French propaganda.

The same week it was shown that the enlisted strength of the National Volunteers, the quasi-army formed in 1913 "to secure and maintain the rights and liberties common to all the people of Ireland without distinction or class, creed or politics," was 178,649. Most were armed and ready for a fight, but they had the most patriotic reasons for not getting into the one across the channel.

History Up-To-Date—Oct. 5, 1656—The Massachusetts Bay Colony, whose people crossed the Atlantic to enjoy freedom of worship, barred Quakers upon pain of lashes and deportation.

When Mary Fisher and Ann Austin arrived from Barbados and were found to be Quakers, their books were burned by the hangmen, they were stripped and searched for body-marks of witches, and then driven from Boston. A little later Mary Dyer was hanged there because she was a friend. Coincidentally, Dorothy Waugh and Mary Witherhead were stripped and beaten in New York by order of Gov. Peter Stuyvesant to protect members of the Reformed Dutch church from their iniquitous religious ideas. Virginia imposed a fine of 5000 pounds of tobacco upon the master of a vessel who transported one of William Penn's fellow believers to Jamestown!

Oct. 5, 1703—Jonathan Edwards was born in East Windsor, Conn., destined to become America's most original thinker in metaphysics. He was a missionary to the Housatonnuck Amerindians when he was called to the presidency of Princeton. (He died of smallpox 34 days after his installation.)

It is related that after he had been married a year to Sarah Pierrepont of New Haven, Conn., his wife sewed on little garments for some time without seeming to attract his notice. So she led directly up to the subject.

"Jonathan," she said, "I'm going to have a baby."

Johnathan turned crimson with rage. "Never mention such a subject in my presence again!" he rumbled.

She never did. She had 12 children. The ancestors of 12 college presidents, 65 professors, 60 physicians, 60 authors, 30 judges, 80 state governors, 100 lawyers, 100 clergymen, three congressmen, two U. S. senators, one U. S. vice president.

Oct. 5, 1813—Chief Tecumseh of the Shawnees, a brigadier-general in the British army, was killed in action in the 15-minute battle of the Thames, Canada, in which Brig. Gen. Benjamin Harrison's army of 3,500 volunteers (mostly Kentuckians) overwhelmed 700 British regulars and 1,200 Amerindians under Brig. Gen. Henry A. Proctor.

Proctor ran away from the rout, and was discharged and disgraced for his cowardice. More than one man claimed to have killed Tecumseh, and one of them, Richard M. Johnson, campaigned for the vice

ONE of the dearest possessions of the American citizen is his right of franchise!

It is his to do with as he sees fit. His vote is his own, and how he casts it is his own business. The difficulty in America is that the voter, speaking collectively does not appreciate his possessions.

This applies not alone to Maine and California, but to the City of New Castle. With at least 18,000 men and women entitled to vote, there are less than 7000 registered for the election on November 6. Should someone attempt to deny them the right to vote they would be willing to take up arms in the defense of the right. But for many varied and useless reasons, more than 11,000 men and women are not yet registered, with tomorrow, Saturday, October 6, the last opportunity.

If you are not registered, do so on Saturday. It is your last chance for the November election. And remember this, if all the 11,000 decide to register on Saturday, it would mean an average of 300 to a precinct. Hence it is advisable to get around early and register.

It is not a pleasing commentary upon the civic consciousness of citizens when three out of every five are not registered with two days gone. Unfortunately nothing can be done about it if the citizen himself will not bestir himself and get to the polls before ten o'clock Saturday night and register.

To those dilatory citizens who do not register on Saturday may we suggest that they refrain from complaining or criticizing if the results on November 6 go counter to what they want to see happen.

As a last word in a last line! Register tomorrow!

FAIR TRIAL FOR CASH RELIEF

Philadelphia is to be laboratory to test the efficacy of direct cash relief for the unemployed in place of the present system of welfare orders. State relief heads have been pressing for this substitution for many months past; their aim, if the experiment proves worthwhile, is to make it state-wide.

Abandonment of the order system and establishment of direct relief seem to have some advantages. Principally the substitution would enormously simplify administration, reduce overhead charges, curtail red-tape and dispense with much clerical and "home visitor" routine. Its sponsors also stress the humaneness of the change, the uplift to the morale of the needy in giving them money instead of tying them down to relief orders prescribing specific purchases.

That one system of disbursement would make things easier for those in charge does not, however, seem a very weighty argument in its behalf. And cash relief, no matter how euphoniously named, is still the dole, is still the dollar hand-out. There is a danger in facilitating perpetuation of the dole system—danger also that cash placed in some hands may not always be used for essential family needs, for food, for shoes, for coal. Administrative expense would not be lessened and the morale of the jobless would not be aided if a squadron of snoopers were required to police those on the relief rolls.

The new system has its advantages, its disadvantages. A fair trial here should determine where the balance lies.

CHICAGO FAIR NEAR END

November 1 sees the century's biggest entertainment venture—the Chicago World's Fair that cost $20,000,000—reduced to just a mass of junk. When that day arrives the second-hand man may back up his truck to the gate through which so many thousands of the nation's citizens have passed, name his own price for much of the material there, and cart it away. To the cold and calculating wreckers who will swarm over the gigantic playground, the fair will mean little more than 20,000 tons of light structural steel for sale.

Possibly some of the exhibits will be moved to the San Diego Exposition, which opens next year. But according to Colonel J. Franklin Bell, who also closed out the American Engineering Corps in France, most of the exhibitors will be out and gone two weeks after the fair closes.

Who remembers what has happened to other great fairs in other great cities? Like meteors across the public sky they flash and are gone. The hall in which President McKinley was assassinated in Buffalo was moved to Aurora, Illinois, where is served for a time as a municipal building. Later it became a movie theater, through the years retaining the brass plate in the floor, near the stage, that marked the spot where the martyred President fell. Last year the building was torn down. A modern theater was erected on its site, while probably even Buffalo forgot whatever became of it.

So will pass the glamous and gayety of the Chicago Fair. Stripped of their finery the buildings will be ghostlike. It is as tragic as the day after the circus when Willie visits the lot to recall: "Here were the elephants; here the—the beautiful lady on the horse." One can readily forgive Willie's quivering lip, the catch in his voice. When such pagaentry is at its zenith we, like Joshua would call upon the sun to stand still.

MORE "PROFIT"

Another big "profit," this time $49,500,000, has gone into the federal treasury, as revealed in the daily statement of the latter.

It was made by purchasing silver at around 50 cents an ounce and then valuing this on the treasury's books, as assets, at $1.29 an ounce.

The government, in recent years, has had much to say about certain practices in the private business world by which fictitious value were created and traded on. Manipulation of the stock market through the operation of pools and by other means were condemned after much fuss and fury, and put under the ban. In its policy of regulating the conduct of private business, the government has posed as a stern upholder of recognized moral practices and a bitter foe of anything that had a questionable coloring.

We venture that nowhere has it uncovered anything in the latter class that went as far as it has gone itself in its silver and gold revaluation policies.

Why should practices outlawed in private business be held moral and upright when engaged in by the government?

All you need to capture world markets is enough dumb employes working at 30 cents a day to make you rich.

CAN YOU DO THE TRICK?

I've been reading a book on secrets of magic—and now I know how everything's done.

When the magician asks me to select a card from a deck and then tells me what card is it, I know how he did it.

I know how he changes the spots on cards, produces rabbits from hats, makes cigarets vanish in the air.

When he saws a woman in two, makes a pretty girl disappear from a cabinet or the man go through a mirror—I know exactly how he does it and if I want to be smart I can stand right up in the audience and explain it to everybody.

He's fooling me, but I know his secrets. He has trick slates, trick tubes, trick containers and trick decks of cards. I can't see how he does the things he does, but I know he isn't doing what he says he is. His hand is quicker than my eye, but just the same "it's just a trick."

When he puts a girl in a box and sticks swords through it in all directions, apparently, then opens the front of the box and shows us that she isn't there, I know exactly how that's done, too. She IS there, in a little partition at the back of the box, but trick mirrors make you think she isn't there at all.

I've read a book that tells all about it—I know HOW he does the tricks, but I could never do those tricks myself. My fingers aren't clever enough, my mind isn't fast enough. I haven't the experience. And, furthermore, I haven't any desire to be a magician.

And that's the way it is with many, many things. We know how a lot of things are done, but WE can't do them.

There's magic everywhere in this world, but few of us know how to make it. We see poor people getting happiness out of common things, we see fine women loving most ordinary men, we see deaf lads like Edison becoming great inventors, we see average fellows doing incredibly brave things, we see wonders happening all around us—and we can tell you HOW they happen, but we can't tell you any more than that. We have all, somewhere, read a book of magic and received a hint about the mystery of it—and that's all we know about it.

Life is "just a trick," but what a trick it is!

THOSE CUP AND SAUCER DAYS

It seems to me we've journed far—
at least a million miles—
From habits, customs, needs and laws, taxes and games and styles
Which marked my early boyhood years. So swift has been the change
The moderns think our parents were old fossils, crude and strange.
They curl their lips in sneering at
the joys we used to praise
But we often sit and chuckle o'er
those cup and saucer days.

They were cup and saucer-minded.
Nellie, do not you recall
'Twas a dainty cup and saucer that
I gave you first of all?
Every birthday and at Christmas—
oh, I'm sure you can't forget.
Some one added bits of China to the
slowly growing set,
And that mustache cup for father,
with the strainer at the brim,
With his name in gold upon it, so
he'd know it was for him!

If you won a game at parties 'twas
a cup and saucer prize,
Some were dainty, some were rugged, but what mattered shape or size?
Every home had its collection, and the proudest on the shelves
Were the pretty bits the donors had adorned with paint themselves
There were violets, and pansies
rosebuds pink beneath the glaze
Till the eye was fairly dazzled in those cup and saucer days.

Yes, the peace of life is swifter and
we've traveled far since them:
Change has banished many customs
that will never be again.
In the attic, cracked and dusty stuck
in boxes and in crates
Are the flowered salts and cellars
and the violet-studded plates:
But although the fad is ended and
we've come to smarter days,
It is good to sit and chuckle o'er
those cup and saucer days.

NOBLESSE OBLIGE

A sure way to indicate your lack of good breeding is to laugh and talk loudly in a public eating place, whether it be a roadside inn or the dining room of an expensive hotel.

Persons who otherwise act in a decorous manner will sometimes throw aside good manners and violate the rules of etiquette when dining in out of the way places.

They feel under no restraint, believing that the other tables are occupied by rather insignificant people who don't count in their estimation.

Measured by certain standards, they may be right in judging the quality of fellow diners, but such persons have enough innate good breeding to conduct themselves properly and to place proper judgment upon those who frequently violate the rules of good manners.

Really well-bred persons keep to their standards at all times.

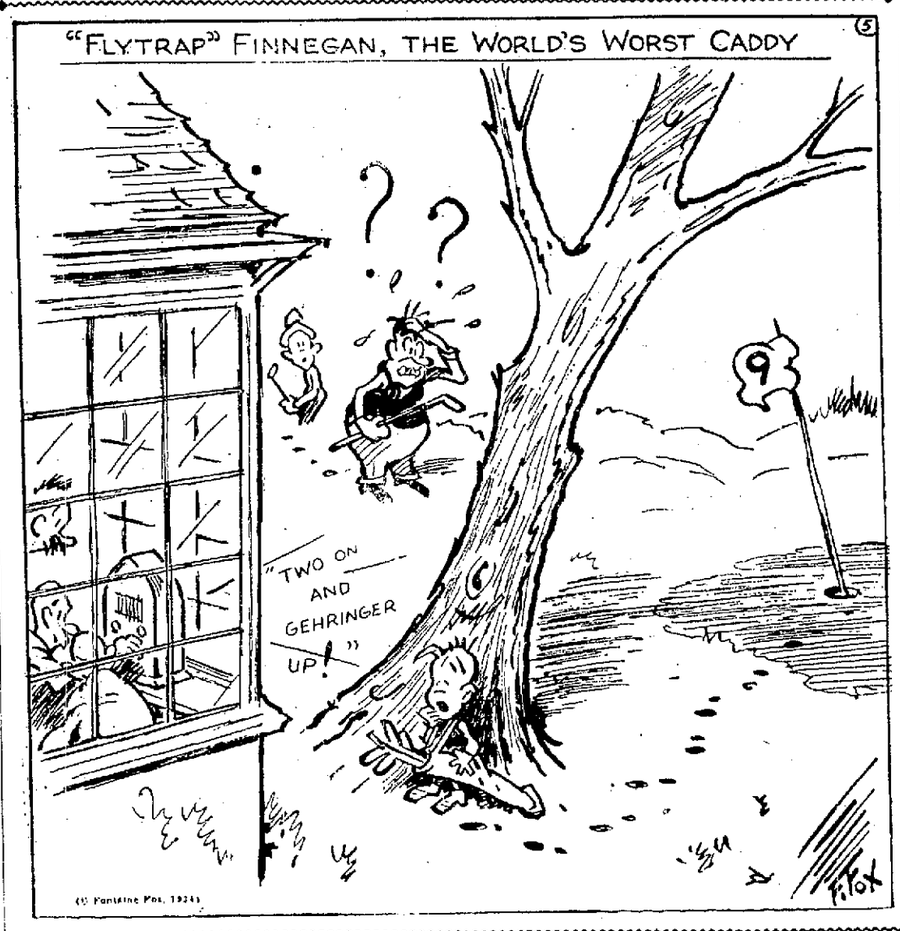

It can be counted on that they will act as ladies and gentlemen.

Those who throw off their good manners at times are the ones that make it uncomfortable for their companions.

No matter what a poor, unfortunate untrained person may do in public, such a one is very quick to mark the one who is bad-mannered.

And the derision expressed later and the contempt felt for those who consciously do wrong would be disconcerting, to say the least.

Reaction To Roosevelt Talk What Some People Are Saying Can A Truce Be Worked?

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—Readers often express doubt that a writer in New York can get the view of the people of America as a whole. That is the reason this writer mingles among the people and with people.

One of the foremost subjects of conversations is the recent radio address of President Roosevelt.

If casual conversation of the people means anything, that address struck a favorable chord in this region.

One man, who formerly was an Al Smith supporter, sums up much of the opinion that is voiced here:

"President Roosevelt will have to go through with the New Deal to the end—the people depend upon it. And there is great danger unless he does go through with it. The millions who still have no work are a factor—a great human factor—a factor that will not be downed with arguments that its liberty has been destroyed by a New Deal. A starving man has no liberty. Work provides his liberty.

"President Roosevelt seems to be trying to save the United States from the darkness, the terrible days of revolution, he seems to be trying to save the very men who are attacking him.

"Can't they see? Or am I wrong?

"I have a wife and three young children. I have a home. I believe he is trying to protect us. I hope he wins in his fight."

CAN IT BE WORKED?

Some people here, however, see no truce between capital and labor.

They ask, How can there be?

One group, capital, contends it is surrendering its power, even its life. The other group, the workers, assert unless they fight they will have no right, no homes.

Here, where there are mills and factories and shops of all degrees, the issue is sharply joined.

Communists are not reckoned in this dispute. There seems to be no tendency here, in a city of tens of thousands of homes, to be Red.

There is, nevertheless, a determination that this writer has not seen previously—a determination to achieve a new standard of living.

It is doubtful whether any president could stop that movement.

One student of affairs here, a young man, has the opinion that the Rooseveltian truce plan would lead to fascism and that fascism would lead to terror and revolution.

The sentiment here undoubtedly is for peace. That sentiment is stronger in labor unions than elsewhere. But no labor leader would last a day if he surrendered what workers believe to be their means of procuring a betterment of living conditions.

A WORKER'S VIEW

One worker—a well paid man—remarked that people were beginning to be better off here.

"On what do you base that?" the writer asked, since an examination of industrial figures showed no improvement during the year.

The man responded: "My building and loan association is working overtime arranging for persons to build homes. At present, the land is being bought. House building will follow.

"This new prosperity will be more substantial. People now are going into fundamentals. That will increase wealth instead of destroying it."

MONTHLY FURLOUGHS

Ohio, like other states, is worried by prison revolts. There is a feeling that prison administration is antiquated and that, somehow, the New Deal must take care of it too.

Great interest is manifest in the suggestion of Joseph Fulling Fishman, chairman of the jail committee of the American Prison association. Fishman, practical student of prisons in the United States and abroad, suggests monthly furloughs for prisoners. That, he believes, would reduce sex perversion in prison, cause of much of the unrest.

Fishman, who for 10 years was federal inspector of prisons, would build modern prisons and "liberalize" the rights of inmates.

Russia, Fishman asserts, has solved the sex perversion problem by either admitting wives of prisoners or furloughing prisoners at monthly intervals.

FRIDAY, OCT 5

The World War Day-By-Day—Oct. 5, 1914—From Austria, where a third of the population was of Irish origin, 31,000 volunteers were moving toward Egypt. From Canada, where next to the French and Irish strain predominated, the first division of 33,000 volunteers was being convoyed to England.

The news from Ireland itself was different indeed. The rabid "Irish Volunteer" began circulating a manifesto drawn up by Sinn Fein members that left no doubt they were determined to resist recruiting in every way. It declared that Ireland could not, with honor or safety, take part in foreign quarrels otherwise than through the free action of a national government of its own.

Among the signatories were Prof. John MacNeill, Patrick H. Pearse, Joseph Plunkett, Thomas McDonagh. Regret was expressed that, owing to his absence in America, the signature of Sir Roger Casement was not attached.

Thousands pushed other thousands through Dublin street to shout their approval.

From the United States Casement wrote urging Irishmen to stay in Ireland, "as they had no quarrel with Germany." He likewise conceived the idea of pamphlet, "The crime against Ireland and how the war may right it," which the Germans adopted as part of the flood of propaganda they were loosening in the U. S. in an attempt to offset the torrents of ingenuous British and French propaganda.

The same week it was shown that the enlisted strength of the National Volunteers, the quasi-army formed in 1913 "to secure and maintain the rights and liberties common to all the people of Ireland without distinction or class, creed or politics," was 178,649. Most were armed and ready for a fight, but they had the most patriotic reasons for not getting into the one across the channel.

It is related that after he had been married a year to Sarah Pierrepont of New Haven, Conn., his wife sewed on little garments for some time without seeming to attract his notice. So she led directly up to the subject.

"Jonathan," she said, "I'm going to have a baby."

Johnathan turned crimson with rage. "Never mention such a subject in my presence again!" he rumbled.

Edwards Denies He Killed Girl

Sticks To Story She Died After A Faint While In Swimming

LOVE LETTERS OF GIRL MAY FIGURE

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 5—Handsome young Bobby Edwards, who has sowed death and shame with his philandering, returns to his Gethsemane on the witness stand today at his "American tragedy" murder trial.

The black-haired defendant with features like a matinee idol with a philosophy of love all his own, will again pit his boyish wits against the bombarding cross-examination of Prosecutor Thomas Lewis.

Five hours of bullying, seathing, gruelling questioning by the state's attorney has failed to swerve him from his naieve story as to how Freda McKechnie, expectant mother, came to her end.

Claims Shock Killed Her

Bobby repeats his version in that Freda died after a faint as they were swimming in Harvey's Lake. He feared, as the father of her baby he would be blamed for her death, so he struck her over the head with a blackjack to make it look as if she injured herself.

He sticks to the main channel of his tale but he flounders in the details. The prosecutor registers contradiction after contradiction. There are also many paradoxes.

What of Margaret Crain, young music teacher, of East Aurora, N. Y. whom he was to marry in November although promising to marry Freda in August?

Girl's Letters May Be Read

Bobby no longer holds his head low from knowledge that his 172 ardent, erotic epistles of love to Margaret have been broadcast in detail through the courtroom. Margaret's replies have also been offered in evidence but they will probably not be read to the jury.

"We had relations and we talked about them," explained Bobby defiantly.

"We understood them. When they are read just as words they seem entirely different."

Bobby seemed more interested in submitting his philosophy of love than saving his youthful neck from the electric chair.

He declared he loved both Freda and Margaret—but they were different loves.

"I intended to marry Margaret but my love for Freda was not the love of marriages—it was the love of a friend," said Bobby.

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 15:4—"Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye, except ye abide in me."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 7 is John 15:1-27, being the first of a three months' series of "Studies in the Christian Life". The Golden Text is John 15:4, "Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye, except ye abide in me.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

"I AM THE VINE, ye are the branches." This is the seventh of the great "I am's" of Jesus, all recorded by St. John, and all of them amazing and challenging claims of Jesus to become to his disciples that which at any time they should most need. Here he was about to leave them and they were conscious of their utter helplessness without him and their despair of ever living fruitful lives apart from him.

The Vine and Branches

As the true vine of which they were the branches the Lord Jesus was promising his disciples continued fellowship upbroken by his death. Their communion was to be as intimate and real as that between the vine and its branches. Death would not separate them, but rather bring them into closer fellowship, and this fellowship would be an abiding and enriching experience.

Life and Fruitfulness

The first results of this abiding fellowship he promised would be life and fruitfulness. As the vine pours its life into its branches, so Christ would vivify and fructify his disciples by pouring his life into and through them, enabling them to live and bear fruit for him: "Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit: for apart from me you can do nothing." Thus our Lord promises his life will be poured into our lives as he lives his endless life over again in us thus enabling us to bear fruit for him. To this abiding union he, furthermore, promises the power of prayer: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatsoever ye will, and it shall be done unto you."

Love and Friendship

Not only life and fruitfulness but love and friendship were promised by our Lord to those who would thus abide in him: "Even as the Father hath loved me, I also have loved you: abide ye in my love. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love . . . This is my commandment, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command you . . . I have called you friends; for all things that I heard from my Father I have made known unto you". Abiding in Christ by faith we have not only life and fruit, but love and friendship, and this a friendship which in the eyes of the Father identifies us with Christ, assuring us again of power in prayer: "that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he will give it you". Abide, live, pray, love, witness—these are our duty if we are to be fruitful branches of the true vine.

In this "National Recognition Day" America pays tribute to its two million Sunday school teachers for fruitfulness in Christian service as teachers of God's Word. Abiding in Christ they live his life before their pupils, exemplify his love and commend his friendship and thus prove themselves fruitful branches of the True Vine.

Capt. Garrison To Attempt New Parachute Record

Parachute Jumper Here From Pittsburgh; Will Try To Break Record Sunday

Operators of the New Castle airport have again brought Capt. R. E. "Gary" Garrison here from Pittsburgh to make an attempt at breaking the world's record for consecutive parachute jumps in one day. He is scheduled to make the first jump at dawn Sunday morning.

Capt. Garrison in a similar attempt two weeks ago was unable to break the record due to his inability to start early enough in the day. His late arrival was caused by weather conditions which delayed the plane in which he was traveling. Those in charge of the local airport have taken the precaution to bring Capt. Garrison to New Castle two days before he is to make his record attempt in order to insure having him here to make his first jump at dawn Sunday morning. He will be assisted in the parachute show by Tim Turk, of New Castle.

Thursday evening Capt. Garrison inquired about some place to get his dinner and was told of an inn some distance from the airport. Not having any other method of transportation the captain fastened on his parachute and asked one of the pilots to fly him over the inn. At a 1500 feet altitude he nonchalantly stepped out of the plane, landed nearby, rolled up his chute and sauntered into a very good dinner.

ODD DIVORCE CASES HEARD IN COURT

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—Several divorce cases heard in the Circuit court here recently evoked a chuckle from listeners.

Mrs. Emma Bowman was granted a divorce when she informed the court in rather plaintive tones that she was tired of having her husband throw an alarm clock at her if she failed to hear it ring.

Mrs. Minnie Olson also was granted a divorce when she told the court that although she wanted a divorce badly, her husband wanted one even more. In answer to a querry by the court as to which she considered the happier event—the marriage or the divorce, Mrs. Olson said she "didn't know."

Edwards Denies He Killed Girl

Sticks To Story She Died After A Faint While In Swimming

LOVE LETTERS OF GIRL MAY FIGURE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 5—Handsome young Bobby Edwards, who has sowed death and shame with his philandering, returns to his Gethsemane on the witness stand today at his "American tragedy" murder trial.

The black-haired defendant with features like a matinee idol with a philosophy of love all his own, will again pit his boyish wits against the bombarding cross-examination of Prosecutor Thomas Lewis.

Five hours of bullying, scathing, gruelling questioning by the state's attorney has failed to swerve him from his naieve story as to how Freda McKechnie, expectant mother, came to her end.

Claims Shock Killed Her

Bobby repeats his version in that Freda died after a faint as they were swimming in Harvey's Lake. He feared, as the father of her baby he would be blamed for her death, so he struck her over the head with a blackjack to make it look as if she injured herself.

He sticks to the main channel of his tale but he flounders in the details. The prosecutor registers contradiction after contradiction. There are also many paradoxes.

What of Margaret Crain, young music teacher, of East Aurora, N. Y. whom he was to marry in November although promising to marry Freda in August?

Girl's Letters May Be Read

Bobby no longer holds his head low from knowledge that his 172 ardent, erotic epistles of love to Margaret have been broadcast in detail through the courtroom. Margaret's replies have also been offered in evidence but they will probably not be read to the jury.

"We had relations and we talked about them," explained Bobby defiantly.

"We understood them. When they are read just as words they seem entirely different."

Bobby seemed more interested in submitting his philosophy of love than saving his youthful neck from the electric chair.

He declared he loved both Freda and Margaret—but they were different loves.

"I intended to marry Margaret but my love for Freda was not the love of marriages—it was the love of a friend," said Bobby.

Fellowship With Christ

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 15:4—"Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye, except ye abide in me."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 7 is John 15:1-27, being the first of a three months' series of "Studies in the Christian Life". The Golden Text is John 15:4, "Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye, except ye abide in me.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

"I AM THE VINE, ye are the branches." This is the seventh of the great "I am's" of Jesus, all recorded by St. John, and all of them amazing and challenging claims of Jesus to become to his disciples that which at any time they should most need. Here he was about to leave them and they were conscious of their utter helplessness without him and their despair of ever living fruitful lives apart from him.

The Vine and Branches

As the true vine of which they were the branches the Lord Jesus was promising his disciples continued fellowship upbroken by his death. Their communion was to be as intimate and real as that between the vine and its branches. Death would not separate them, but rather bring them into closer fellowship, and this fellowship would be an abiding and enriching experience.

Life and Fruitfulness

The first results of this abiding fellowship he promised would be life and fruitfulness. As the vine pours its life into its branches, so Christ would vivify and fructify his disciples by pouring his life into and through them, enabling them to live and bear fruit for him: "Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit: for apart from me you can do nothing." Thus our Lord promises his life will be poured into our lives as he lives his endless life over again in us thus enabling us to bear fruit for him. To this abiding union he, furthermore, promises the power of prayer: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatsoever ye will, and it shall be done unto you."

Love and Friendship

Not only life and fruitfulness but love and friendship were promised by our Lord to those who would thus abide in him: "Even as the Father hath loved me, I also have loved you: abide ye in my love. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love . . . This is my commandment, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command you . . . I have called you friends; for all things that I heard from my Father I have made known unto you". Abiding in Christ by faith we have not only life and fruit, but love and friendship, and this a friendship which in the eyes of the Father identifies us with Christ, assuring us again of power in prayer: "that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he will give it you". Abide, live, pray, love, witness—these are our duty if we are to be fruitful branches of the true vine.

In this "National Recognition Day" America pays tribute to its two million Sunday school teachers for fruitfulness in Christian service as teachers of God's Word. Abiding in Christ they live his life before their pupils, exemplify his love and commend his friendship and thus prove themselves fruitful branches of the True Vine.

Parachute Jumper Here From Pittsburgh; Will Try To Break Record Sunday

Operators of the New Castle airport have again brought Capt. R. E. "Gary" Garrison here from Pittsburgh to make an attempt at breaking the world's record for consecutive parachute jumps in one day. He is scheduled to make the first jump at dawn Sunday morning.

MARRIAGE UNITES OLDEST FAMILIES

(International News Service)

BOSTON—It was not merely another marriage, but the union of descendants of two of the nation's oldest families when John J Marchant, formerly of Roslindale, a Mayflower scion, and Miss Esther "Flower" Marmon, full blooded member of the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico, were wed.

The marriage, which took place in Roslindale with Marchant's family and a few close friends in attendance, was the climax to a romance which began when bride and groom met while employes of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Fellowship With Christ

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 15:4—"Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye, except ye abide in me."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 7 is John 15:1-27, being the first of a three months' series of "Studies in the Christian Life". The Golden Text is John 15:4, "Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye, except ye abide in me.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

"I AM THE VINE, ye are the branches." This is the seventh of the great "I am's" of Jesus, all recorded by St. John, and all of them amazing and challenging claims of Jesus to become to his disciples that which at any time they should most need. Here he was about to leave them and they were conscious of their utter helplessness without him and their despair of ever living fruitful lives apart from him.

The Vine and Branches

As the true vine of which they were the branches the Lord Jesus was promising his disciples continued fellowship upbroken by his death. Their communion was to be as intimate and real as that between the vine and its branches. Death would not separate them, but rather bring them into closer fellowship, and this fellowship would be an abiding and enriching experience.

Life and Fruitfulness

The first results of this abiding fellowship he promised would be life and fruitfulness. As the vine pours its life into its branches, so Christ would vivify and fructify his disciples by pouring his life into and through them, enabling them to live and bear fruit for him: "Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit: for apart from me you can do nothing." Thus our Lord promises his life will be poured into our lives as he lives his endless life over again in us thus enabling us to bear fruit for him. To this abiding union he, furthermore, promises the power of prayer: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatsoever ye will, and it shall be done unto you."

Love and Friendship

Not only life and fruitfulness but love and friendship were promised by our Lord to those who would thus abide in him: "Even as the Father hath loved me, I also have loved you: abide ye in my love. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love . . . This is my commandment, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command you . . . I have called you friends; for all things that I heard from my Father I have made known unto you". Abiding in Christ by faith we have not only life and fruit, but love and friendship, and this a friendship which in the eyes of the Father identifies us with Christ, assuring us again of power in prayer: "that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he will give it you". Abide, live, pray, love, witness—these are our duty if we are to be fruitful branches of the true vine.

In this "National Recognition Day" America pays tribute to its two million Sunday school teachers for fruitfulness in Christian service as teachers of God's Word. Abiding in Christ they live his life before their pupils, exemplify his love and commend his friendship and thus prove themselves fruitful branches of the True Vine.

Capt. Garrison To Attempt New Parachute Record

Parachute Jumper Here From Pittsburgh; Will Try To Break Record Sunday

Operators of the New Castle airport have again brought Capt. R. E. "Gary" Garrison here from Pittsburgh to make an attempt at breaking the world's record for consecutive parachute jumps in one day. He is scheduled to make the first jump at dawn Sunday morning.

Capt. Garrison in a similar attempt two weeks ago was unable to break the record due to his inability to start early enough in the day. His late arrival was caused by weather conditions which delayed the plane in which he was traveling. Those in charge of the local airport have taken the precaution to bring Capt. Garrison to New Castle two days before he is to make his record attempt in order to insure having him here to make his first jump at dawn Sunday morning. He will be assisted in the parachute show by Tim Turk, of New Castle.

Thursday evening Capt. Garrison inquired about some place to get his dinner and was told of an inn some distance from the airport. Not having any other method of transportation the captain fastened on his parachute and asked one of the pilots to fly him over the inn. At a 1500 feet altitude he nonchalantly stepped out of the plane, landed nearby, rolled up his chute and sauntered into a very good dinner.

ODD DIVORCE CASES HEARD IN COURT

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—Several divorce cases heard in the Circuit court here recently evoked a chuckle from listeners.

Mrs. Emma Bowman was granted a divorce when she informed the court in rather plaintive tones that she was tired of having her husband throw an alarm clock at her if she failed to hear it ring.

Mrs. Minnie Olson also was granted a divorce when she told the court that although she wanted a divorce badly, her husband wanted one even more. In answer to a querry by the court as to which she considered the happier event—the marriage or the divorce, Mrs. Olson said she "didn't know."

Frances Perkins To Make Speech At Convention

American Federation Of Labor Delegates Will Hear Labor Secretary Talk

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5—Union labor today eagerly awaited in address by secretary of labor Frances Perkins—a message which labor will take as the voice of the administration.

The 1,000 delegates and friends of the American federation of labor here attending the federation's annual convention, gathered early in civic auditorium.

May Outline Position

They expected Miss Perkins to outline the position of the new deal with respect to the latest developments in industry and labor.

They hoped the lady member of the cabinet will tell them—

1. The position of the administration on the federation's drive for a 30 hour week.
2. If there has been any strengthening of the administration's stand for the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively.
3. What will be done about employers the federation charges are violating section 7-A.
4. What labor is expected to do to carry out its part in the industrial "truce" proposed by the president.
5. Just what the president had in mind when he proposed a "truce" and what kind of a "truce" he meant.

The leaders of organized labor will not be greatly disappointed if some of their questions go unanswered, but they are intent on the 30 hour week and the temporary peace propositions.

Take Mail Boxes Off 'Phone Poles

Postmaster Steen Acts On Request Of Bell Company; Is Safety Move

Co-operating with the Bell Telephone company in its special effort to do its part in Everybody's Safety drive, Postmaster Richard A. Steen has ordered all street letter boxes removed from phone poles and installed on stands of their own.

The request to make the transfer, a safety move, came from Bell officials. Steen was glad to co-operate.

Twelve boxes, the postmaster said, would be removed from the poles they now are attached to and placed on separate stands. Some are in the business district and others are along residential routes.

An accident which occurred some time ago, in which a Bell lineman fell from the top of the pole and struck a letter box below, prompted the utility to take this safety step.

Frances Perkins To Make Speech At Convention

American Federation Of Labor Delegates Will Hear Labor Secretary Talk

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5—Union labor today eagerly awaited in address by secretary of labor Frances Perkins—a message which labor will take as the voice of the administration.

The 1,000 delegates and friends of the American federation of labor here attending the federation's annual convention, gathered early in civic auditorium.

May Outline Position

They expected Miss Perkins to outline the position of the new deal with respect to the latest developments in industry and labor.

They hoped the lady member of the cabinet will tell them—

1. The position of the administration on the federation's drive for a 30 hour week.

2. If there has been any strengthening of the administration's stand for the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively.

3. What will be done about employers the federation charges are violating section 7-A.

4. What labor is expected to do to carry out its part in the industrial "truce" proposed by the president.

5. Just what the president had in mind when he proposed a "truce" and what kind of a "truce" he meant.

The leaders of organized labor will not be greatly disappointed if some of their questions go unanswered, but they are intent on the 30 hour week and the temporary peace propositions.

Postmaster Steen Acts On Request Of Bell Company; Is Safety Move

Allegheny To Meet Clarion

MEADVILLE, Oct. 5.—When Allegheny faces Clarion in their 1934 opener, the blue and gold followers will be looking for material evidence pointing to a successful season. So far, predictions as to the ability of Tippin's current aggregation have been based on a few scant views of scrimmage, and many loyal backers are only waiting for a chance to say, "I told you so."

Clarion has not been on the schedule since 1931 when the smooth running Garbark, now a catcher with the Cleveland Indians, and his mates, ran up forty-five points while holding the Teachers scoreless.

Pillsbury Is Named Head Of Army Engineers

Beaver - Mahoning River Canal Boosters Cheered By New Appointment

SUCCEEDS BARDEN AT IMPORTANT POST

Supporters of the Beaver-Mahoning river canal were cheered today by the announcement that Brigadier General George B. Pillsbury has been named chairman of the Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, succeeding Col. William J. Barden, who has been placed on the retired list of the army after attaining the age of 64.

General Pillsbury, who has been assistant chief of engineers, is more than familiar with the Beaver-Mahoning river project. During the absence of General Edward Markham, chief of engineers, it was General Pillsbury who presented the favorable report, recommending to the House Rivers and Harbors committee, the construction of the Beaver-Mahoning canal.

Army engineer officials state that the proposed survey ordered for the French creek canal route between the Ohio and Lake Erie will not long delay action on the project. The additional surveys which were ordered for both the Beaver-Mahoning and French creek routes, will take but a short time to complete, the engineers state.

Third Of Voters To Use Machines

Some Data Regarding The Extent Of Their Use At Coming Election

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5—At least one third of Pennsylvania's voters will turn a voting machine crank to register their ballot at the November election, a checkup with the elections bureau shows.

Voting machines are ready for use in 2,688 of the states' 7,900 odd precincts. In 1,530 more precincts, the electorate has expressed a desire for the machines but because of court litigation or failure of the machines to operate properly it is doubtful they can be used on November 6.

Except in parts of Allegheny county, in every voting district where machines are available they can be used. George D. Thron, chief of the elections bureau, said. An excess of independent parties in a number of Pittsburgh wards and in several boroughs and townships would prevent their use in those districts, he said.

The 2,688 precincts in which voting machines will be used are spread over 20 counties. Five counties, Delaware, Erie, Lackawanna, Philadelphia and Luzerne, are completely outfitted with machines. Bids have been asked for machines to equip all of Cambria, Fayette, Northumberland, and Washington counties but it is not certain that they will be available for use in November.

Schuylkill county has machines for every district, also but their use is in litigation, as are the awarding of bids for Northumberland and Washington counties.

Other counties which will use voting machines are:

Armstrong—in Leechburg: Berks—in Wyomissing and Mt. Penn: Centre—in Philipsburg: Clearfield—in DuBois: Crawford—in seven boroughs: Cumberland—in four boroughs: Dauphin—Harrisburg: Lancaster—in Lancaster, Elizabeth, and Cooperstown: McKean—in Bradford, Kane, Port Allegany, and Smethport: Mercer—in Sharon, Farrell, Greenville, Sharpsville and Grove City: Mifflin—in Burnham; Northampton—in Bethlehem and Bangor: Somerset—in Myersdale: Warren—in Warren, Clarenden and Sheffield.

State Threatens Mayor With Arrest

FARRELL, Pa., Oct. 5.—Following receipt of a letter from officials of the state department of health, threatening the arrest of Mayor Joseph A. Franek, as head of the municipality, if city officials continue to delay the construction of a sewage disposal plant, as ordered by the state several years ago, council has instructed Harry Gerber, superintendent of streets and public improvements, and Attorney Ben H. Pillsbury Is Named Head Of Army Engineers

Beaver - Mahoning River Canal Boosters Cheered By New Appointment

SUCCEEDS BARDEN AT IMPORTANT POST

Supporters of the Beaver-Mahoning river canal were cheered today by the announcement that Brigadier General George B. Pillsbury has been named chairman of the Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, succeeding Col. William J. Barden, who has been placed on the retired list of the army after attaining the age of 64.

General Pillsbury, who has been assistant chief of engineers, is more than familiar with the Beaver-Mahoning river project. During the absence of General Edward Markham, chief of engineers, it was General Pillsbury who presented the favorable report, recommending to the House Rivers and Harbors committee, the construction of the Beaver-Mahoning canal.

Army engineer officials state that the proposed survey ordered for the French creek canal route between the Ohio and Lake Erie will not long delay action on the project. The additional surveys which were ordered for both the Beaver-Mahoning and French creek routes, will take but a short time to complete, the engineers state.

Third Of Voters To Use Machines

Some Data Regarding The Extent Of Their Use At Coming Election

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5—At least one third of Pennsylvania's voters will turn a voting machine crank to register their ballot at the November election, a checkup with the elections bureau shows.

Voting machines are ready for use in 2,688 of the states' 7,900 odd precincts. In 1,530 more precincts, the electorate has expressed a desire for the machines but because of court litigation or failure of the machines to operate properly it is doubtful they can be used on November 6.

Except in parts of Allegheny county, in every voting district where machines are available they can be used, George D. Thron, chief of the elections bureau, said. An excess of independent parties in a number of Pittsburgh wards and in several boroughs and townships would prevent their use in those districts, he said.

The 2,688 precincts in which voting machines will be used are spread over 20 counties. Five counties, Delaware, Erie, Lackawanna, Philadelphia and Luzerne, are completely outfitted with machines. Bids have been asked for machines to equip all of Cambria, Fayette, Northumberland, and Washington counties but it is not certain that they will be available for use in November.

Schuylkill county has machines for every district, also but their use is in litigation, as are the awarding of bids for Northumberland and Washington counties.

Other counties which will use voting machines are:

Armstrong—in Leechburg: Berks—in Wyomissing and Mt. Penn: Centre—in Philipsburg: Clearfield—in DuBois; Crawford—in seven boroughs: Cumberland—in four boroughs: Dauphin—Harrisburg: Lancaster—in Lancaster, Elizabeth, and Cooperstown: McKean—in Bradford, Kane, Port Allegany, and Smethport: Mercer—in Sharon, Farrell, Greenville, Sharpsville and Grove City: Mifflin—in Burnham; Northampton—in Bethlehem and Bangor: Somerset—in Myersdale: Warren—in Warren, Clarendon and Sheffield.

Treasure Search Bringing Rewards

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 5.—Rivaling in intensity the search for the Lindbergh ransom money, Johnstown is having its own gold hunt which already has unearthed $5,400 in greenbacks, gold certificates and gold pieces.

The search is for money that George Winegrad, who didn't trust banks, cached in his chicken coop. His widow began the search when he died without revealing the whereabouts of the money.

Down South where they grow tobacco folks say . . .

It's no wonder so many people smoke Chesterfields. The tobaccos are mild and ripe to start with, and then they're aged the right way to make a milder, better-tasting cigarette.

If the word of the Chartiers body carries any weight in the legislature it may be that the organization—to be known as "the wild asses of the road"—will come into existence.

State Threatens Mayor With Arrest

FARRELL, Pa., Oct. 5.—Following receipt of a letter from officials of the state department of health, threatening the arrest of Mayor Joseph A. Franek, as head of the municipality, if city officials continue to delay the construction of a sewage disposal plant, as ordered by the state several years ago, council has instructed Harry Gerber, superintendent of streets and public improvements, and Attorney Ben H. Marks, city solicitor, to decide on plans for the project.

Council already has sold bonds to finance the construction of the plant, but plans to use the money have not yet been made, despite several warnings from state health officials. The letter threatening Franek's arrest was received earlier this week.

PINCHOT SAYS EARLE IS "GREENHORN PLAYBOY"

Governor Also Flays Guffey

PINCHOT GIVES SCHNADER BOOST

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct 5.—"I am for William A. Schnader for governor I can't stand for Joseph F. Guffey."

That, in a nutshell, today was Gov. Gifford Pinchot's endorsement of the Republican ticket in the fall election, a positive commitment for his attorney general and negative inferential support for Senator David A. Reed, seeking re-election.

Governor Pinchot selected this capital of the anthracite region where his disputed 26,000-plurality in the 1930 primary enabled him to best the G. O. P. organization he had fought for two decades to deliver his first political pronouncement since he suffered defeat in his third attempt to attain a lifelong ambition, a seat in the United States senate.

Lawrence Replies.

Hardly had the governor's words died away before David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, went on the air over the same stations used by the executive to accuse him of a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde personality.

Accepting Governor Pinchot's speech as an endorsement for Reed, Lawrence charged the executive with "betraying" the people to repay the Republican organization for the state senate's confirmation of the five Pinchot appointees to the Public Service Commission.

Governor Pinchot did not mention Reed's name—although he almost did by a slip of the tongue over the radio. But the bitter invective, uttered in customary Pinchot style, he blasted at Guffey left little room to doubt his position. Guffey is Reed's Democratic opponent.

Resorting to oratorical redundancy to hammer home his point, the governor repeated over and over again: "I can't stand Guffey."

Then, the executive sought to rob Guffey even of the right to endorsement by the national administration, inferring that election of an outright critic of the new deal would be more preferred than election of Guffey. He said:

"Guffey is posing as Roosevelt's fair-haired boy. I resent that claim. And I want you to understand clearly what I think about Franklin Roosevelt.

President Harassed.

"I think he is an honest man headed in the right direction. I think he is often deceived and hampered and harassed by the Farleys, the Guffeys and the rest of the spoilsmen and little brothers of the rich in his own party.

"And I think that one of the very finest things that could be done for Franklin Roosevelt would be to pluck Joe Guffey of every tailfeather that still remains. And that goes for Farley (Postmaster General James A. Farley) too."

Using liberal quotations from the U. S. district attorney's brief supporting the successful plea for a nol prosse of an embezzlement indictment against Guffey charging improper use of interest he handled as director of sales for the alien property custodian during the war, Governor Pinchot cited the chronology of that case. The indictment was handed down December 28, 1822, and nol prossed November 17, 1930.

Refers To Suit Against Guffey.

He referred to the suit against Guffey filed by Clarence H. Fay, one-time New York Republican leader, seeking $25,000 for alleged services in obtaining the nol prosse, and said:

"Perhaps Mr. Guffey will tell you just how and why his indictment was stricken off. And perhaps he won't."

Governor Pinchot referred also to another action brought in 1926 in the Massachusetts federal court on behalf of the owners of the Bosch Magneto properties against Guffey and others for $4,000,000, charging the Bosch properties had been undervalued for sale and that there had been collusive bidding. The case was finally settled four years later.

Turning to the gubernatorial campaign, Governor Pinchot said "This is no time to give the ship of state to a captain who never went to sea," adding:

"I Am For Schnader."

"I am for Schnader for two reasons.

"First, because there is no one in Pennsylvania more fit to handle the job than William A. Schnader.

"Second, because there is no one in Pennsylvania more completely unfit to handle the job than George Earl the third."

He characterized Earle as a "greenhorn playboy", and said of him that Guffey was his "other two-thirds." The executive called the roll of social and labor bills enacted in Pennsylvania in the last two decades and declared Schnader fought to pass the bills while Earle was "out of sight and utterly useless to the cause he has suddenly become so fond of."

Although Lawrence declared Governor Pinchot's speech was fulfillment of a bargain with the Mellon-Grundy-Atterbury political combine, the governor ridiculed assertions that the Republican party is today controlled by "bosses".

"That used to be true enough," he said, "but not now. If Mellon, Grundy and Atterbury still had their old pull with the Republican party, would the Republican platform pledge minimum wage legislation, the outlawing of sweatshops, support for old age assistance, pensions for the blind and other social legislation these men hate?"

Today

A Ball And A Club.
Why Drag In The Universe?
Wanted, 50 Dirigibles.
Ending Poverty Costs Money.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

MILLIONS of newspaper words, thousands of tons of white paper, barrels of ink and innumerable pictures let you know that, with "Dizzy" Dean pitching, the Cardinals, National League baseball team of St. Louis, beat the Tigers, American League team, by a score of 8 to 3.

Played in Detroit, with nearly 50,000 paying admission, the game created a crush at the entrance to the baseball grounds that delayed the start 21 minutes.

Elsewhere you will read all details, elaborate descriptions of "Dizzy" Dean, young player with a serious face, who has won 30 games, lost only seven this season, leading in games won, "strikeouts," "shutouts," etc.

OF 123,000,000 people, 99 per cent of all old enough to understand baseball are more interested today in "Dizzy" Dean than in the President of the United States, all Europe's dictators and all American professors put together.

And there is no mystery about it. Ball players hit a small ball with a club, then run. Our ancestors of the caves did that, a million years ago, with the branch of a tree and a round stone. We like to do what our ancestors have always done.

That is why men go fishing and think they enjoy watching a cork, and hunting, often tramping fourteen hours to get a ten-cent rabbit. That was bred in them by ancestors who did not eat unless they caught a fish or killed an animal.

NOTENG YOU could mention would interest America as much as "Dizzy" Dean's expression as he let the ball fly from his right hand.

Mr. Bilbo, from Mississippi, determined when Senator to "make more noise than Huey Long, and raise the same kind of hell as President Roosevelt."

Hauptmann, accused in the Lindbergh kidnaping, Bobby Edwards, accused of murdering a young girl, knocking her on the head while she was in the water, and all other news is dull to Americans eagerly watching what Ring Lardner called "the world's serious."

THE WORLD SERIES is not a propitious time for talking about such things as "the universe" and how it is managed.

Nevertheless, you must know that Prof. Millikan modifies his cosmic theory somewhat. He tells scientists in London that cosmic rays rolling through all space, passing through your body in a steady wave as you read this, cause the death of what we call matter, as well as creating new matter, new electrons, atoms, molecules.

British scientists and the American Millikan disagree. The British, Jeans, Eddington and others, say "the universe is running down like a clock," and by and by it will stop.

That would be discouraging for those that have been promised life eternal.

PROF. MILLIKAN says for your comfort that the universe is building itself up as fast as it runs down, on a perpetual motion and growth basis. Everybody would want to read what Prof. Millikan says about his important new "photon theory."

Without the "photon theory," cosmic rays, to overcome atmospheric resistance, would require a power of twenty thousand million volts.

The "photon theory" would reduce that to a few billion volts.

IMAGINE twenty thousand million volts, driving cosmic rays through this earth and other planets and suns that stand in their way, also, incidentally through your skull and your brain.

Some times you think the universe might have been built a LITTLE less complicated.

BRIG. GEN. WILLIAM MITCHELL, in charge of all our flying forces in the big war, talked plainly about air defense for the United States before President Roosevelt's aviation "planners."

He said this country ought to have fifty dirigibles, because fifty well handled could destroy Japan within two days.

Nobody, let us hope, wants to destroy Japan in two days or two centuries, but this country should possess an air force that would justify the statement that the United States could quickly destroy ANY nation, foolish enough to attack us.

GEN. MITCHELL advocates a plan to take the population out of New York in case of air attack by Japan "from a base in Alaska."

According to Gen. Mitchell, in case of war, this government would have to buy airplane engines in Europe, because it does not encourage building big enough engines here.

England has planes of 1,600 horsepower, Italy has still more powerful engines. We cannot compare with them.

Gen. Mitchell thinks that all air forces in the United States should be under one single commander, and everybody else thinks so, except gentlemen of the Army and Navy that want to amuse themselves playing with separate, inadequate air units.

"GOLD, GOLD, yellow and cold," or our paper substitute for it, appears not to believe in Upton Sinclair's "EPIC" or "End Poverty in California" plan.

San Francisco shows that state and local bonds have shrunk in value fifty millions of dollars, since Mr. Sinclair produced his "EPIC" idea. Perhaps financiers feel that they and their securities will have to PAY for "EPIC."

You can only "end poverty" with money in these practical days, and when, if elected, Mr. Sinclair comes to borrow for his well-meant experiments hundreds of millions that the experiments will require, the capitalistic "Fafner," sleeping on his Rhinegold, may growl out a drowsy "no."

THE PRESIDENT is understood to be much interested in what newspaper correspondents call "an industrial truce," meaning cessation of fighting between employers and employed, and if possible some decrease in strikes.

The President's interest in the matter is easily understood. If you were trying to help swimmers in desperate straits, leaving a sinking ship and struggling to reach shore, you would be sorry to see them stop swimming every few minutes to scratch each other's faces and pull each other's hair.

That is what capital and labor have been doing. No wonder the President is disappointed in both. His rebuke is very gentle.

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, British chancellor of the exchequer, who can keep a single glass in his eye without any string attached, and appears to steer the British money ship skillfully, says Britain's method of gradually coming back to prosperity, while lacking in drama, produces results." He seems to think that is better than plenty of drama, not producing results.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke at the Lord Mayor's dinner to toast the "chancellor" of the exchequer and prosperity to the public purse."

BEFORE HE rose to speak the hope was expressed that the government raise money in such a fashion as to call for "the least possible interference with trade, national and international."

Mr. Chamberlain promised that that should be done. American trade, national and international," will read that with interest.

Pittsburgh Bar Owner Beats Law

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—One Pittsburgh restauranter is serving drinks over a bar, and doing it in a fashion that gets around the state regulation requiring they be dispensed via table.

It is accomplishing its end by placing the drinks on tiny wooden bar tables. Fifteen of the tables were lined along the restaurant bar and patrons, resting on bar stools, imbibed a la bar-table manner.

"And I think that one of the very finest things that could be done for Franklin Roosevelt would be to pluck Joe Guffey of every tailfeather that still remains. And that goes for Farley (Postmaster General James A. Farley) too."

Using liberal quotations from the U. S. district attorney's brief supporting the successful plea for a nol prosse of an embezzlement indictment against Guffey charging improper use of interest he handled as director of sales for the alien property custodian during the war, Governor Pinchot cited the chronology of that case. The indictment was handed down December 28, 1822, and nol prossed November 17, 1930.

Refers To Suit Against Guffey.

He referred to the suit against Guffey filed by Clarence H. Fay, one-time New York Republican leader, seeking $25,000 for alleged services in obtaining the nol prosse, and said:

"Perhaps Mr. Guffey will tell you just how and why his indictment was stricken off. And perhaps he won't."

Governor Pinchot referred also to another action brought in 1926 in the Massachusetts federal court on behalf of the owners of the Bosch Magneto properties against Guffey and others for $4,000,000, charging the Bosch properties had been undervalued for sale and that there had been collusive bidding. The case was finally settled four years later.

Turning to the gubernatorial campaign, Governor Pinchot said "This is no time to give the ship of state to a captain who never went to sea," adding:

"I Am For Schnader."

"I am for Schnader for two reasons.

"First, because there is no one in Pennsylvania more fit to handle the job than William A. Schnader.

"Second, because there is no one in Pennsylvania more completely unfit to handle the job than George Earl the third."

He characterized Earle as a "greenhorn playboy", and said of him that Guffey was his "other two-thirds." The executive called the roll of social and labor bills enacted in Pennsylvania in the last two decades and declared Schnader fought to pass the bills while Earle was "out of sight and utterly useless to the cause he has suddenly become so fond of."

Although Lawrence declared Governor Pinchot's speech was fulfillment of a bargain with the Mellon-Grundy-Atterbury political combine, the governor ridiculed assertions that the Republican party is today controlled by "bosses".

"That used to be true enough," he said, "but not now. If Mellon, Grundy and Atterbury still had their old pull with the Republican party, would the Republican platform pledge minimum wage legislation, the outlawing of sweatshops, support for old age assistance, pensions for the blind and other social legislation these men hate?"

A Ball And A Club.
Why Drag In The Universe?
Wanted, 50 Dirigibles.
Ending Poverty Costs Money.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

MILLIONS of newspaper words, thousands of tons of white paper, barrels of ink and innumerable pictures let you know that, with "Dizzy" Dean pitching, the Cardinals, National League baseball team of St. Louis, beat the Tigers, American League team, by a score of 8 to 3.

Played in Detroit, with nearly 50,000 paying admission, the game created a crush at the entrance to the baseball grounds that delayed the start 21 minutes.

Elsewhere you will read all details, elaborate descriptions of "Dizzy" Dean, young player with a serious face, who has won 30 games, lost only seven this season, leading in games won, "strikeouts," "shutouts," etc.

OF 123,000,000 people, 99 per cent of all old enough to understand baseball are more interested today in "Dizzy" Dean than in the President of the United States, all Europe's dictators and all American professors put together.

And there is no mystery about it. Ball players hit a small ball with a club, then run. Our ancestors of the caves did that, a million years ago, with the branch of a tree and a round stone. We like to do what our ancestors have always done.

That is why men go fishing and think they enjoy watching a cork, and hunting, often tramping fourteen hours to get a ten-cent rabbit. That was bred in them by ancestors who did not eat unless they caught a fish or killed an animal.

NOTHNG YOU could mention would interest America as much as "Dizzy" Dean's expression as he let the ball fly from his right hand.

Mr. Bilbo, from Mississippi, determined when Senator to "make more noise than Huey Long, and raise the same kind of hell as President Roosevelt."

Hauptmann, accused in the Lindbergh kidnaping, Bobby Edwards, accused of murdering a young girl, knocking her on the head while she was in the water, and all other news is dull to Americans eagerly watching what Ring Lardner called "the world's serious."

THE WORLD SERIES is not a propitious time for talking about such things as "the universe" and how it is managed.

Nevertheless, you must know that Prof. Millikan modifies his cosmic theory somewhat. He tells scientists in London that cosmic rays rolling through all space, passing through your body in a steady wave as you read this, cause the death of what we call matter, as well as creating new matter, new electrons, atoms, molecules.

British scientists and the American Millikan disagree. The British, Jeans, Eddington and others, say "the universe is running down like a clock," and by and by it will stop.

That would be discouraging for those that have been promised life eternal.

PROF. MILLIKAN says for your comfort that the universe is building itself up as fast as it runs down, on a perpetual motion and growth basis. Everybody would want to read what Prof. Millikan says about his important new "photon theory."

Without the "photon theory," cosmic rays, to overcome atmospheric resistance, would require a power of twenty thousand million volts.

The "photon theory" would reduce that to a few billion volts.

IMAGINE twenty thousand million volts, driving cosmic rays through this earth and other planets and suns that stand in their way, also, incidentally through your skull and your brain.

Some times you think the universe might have been built a LITTLE less complicated.

BRIG. GEN. WILLIAM MITCHELL, in charge of all our flying forces in the big war, talked plainly about air defense for the United States before President Roosevelt's aviation "planners."

He said this country ought to have fifty dirigibles, because fifty well handled could destroy Japan within two days.

Nobody, let us hope, wants to destroy Japan in two days or two centuries, but this country should possess an air force that would justify the statement that the United States could quickly destroy ANY nation, foolish enough to attack us.

GEN. MITCHELL advocates a plan to take the population out of New York in case of air attack by Japan "from a base in Alaska."

According to Gen. Mitchell, in case of war, this government would have to buy airplane engines in Europe, because it does not encourage building big enough engines here.

England has planes of 1,600 horsepower, Italy has still more powerful engines. We cannot compare with them.

Gen. Mitchell thinks that all air forces in the United States should be under one single commander, and everybody else thinks so, except gentlemen of the Army and Navy that want to amuse themselves playing with separate, inadequate air units.

"GOLD, GOLD, yellow and cold," or our paper substitute for it, appears not to believe in Upton Sinclair's "EPIC" or "End Poverty in California" plan.

San Francisco shows that state and local bonds have shrunk in value fifty millions of dollars, since Mr. Sinclair produced his "EPIC" idea. Perhaps financiers feel that they and their securities will have to PAY for "EPIC."

You can only "end poverty" with money in these practical days, and when, if elected, Mr. Sinclair comes to borrow for his well-meant experiments hundreds of millions that the experiments will require, the capitalistic "Fafner," sleeping on his Rhinegold, may growl out a drowsy "no."

THE PRESIDENT is understood to be much interested in what newspaper correspondents call "an industrial truce," meaning cessation of fighting between employers and employed, and if possible some decrease in strikes.

The President's interest in the matter is easily understood. If you were trying to help swimmers in desperate straits, leaving a sinking ship and struggling to reach shore, you would be sorry to see them stop swimming every few minutes to scratch each other's faces and pull each other's hair.

That is what capital and labor have been doing. No wonder the President is disappointed in both. His rebuke is very gentle.

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, British chancellor of the exchequer, who can keep a single glass in his eye without any string attached, and appears to steer the British money ship skillfully, says Britain's method of gradually coming back to prosperity, while lacking in drama, produces results." He seems to think that is better than plenty of drama, not producing results.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke at the Lord Mayor's dinner to toast the "chancellor" of the exchequer and prosperity to the public purse."

BEFORE HE rose to speak the hope was expressed that the government raise money in such a fashion as to call for "the least possible interference with trade, national and international."

Mr. Chamberlain promised that that should be done. American trade, national and international," will read that with interest.

Pittsburgh Bar Owner Beats Law

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—One Pittsburgh restauranter is serving drinks over a bar, and doing it in a fashion that gets around the state regulation requiring they be dispensed via table.

PINCHOT SAYS EARLE IS "GREENHORN PLAYBOY"

Governor Also Flays Guffey

PINCHOT GIVES SCHNADER BOOST

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct 5.—"I am for William A. Schnader for governor I can't stand for Joseph F. Guffey."

That, in a nutshell, today was Gov. Gifford Pinchot's endorsement of the Republican ticket in the fall election, a positive commitment for his attorney general and negative inferential support for Senator David A. Reed, seeking re-election.

Governor Pinchot selected this capital of the anthracite region where his disputed 26,000-plurality in the 1930 primary enabled him to best the G. O. P. organization he had fought for two decades to deliver his first political pronouncement since he suffered defeat in his third attempt to attain a lifelong ambition, a seat in the United States senate.

Lawrence Replies.

Hardly had the governor's words died away before David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, went on the air over the same stations used by the executive to accuse him of a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde personality.

Accepting Governor Pinchot's speech as an endorsement for Reed, Lawrence charged the executive with "betraying" the people to repay the Republican organization for the state senate's confirmation of the five Pinchot appointees to the Public Service Commission.

Governor Pinchot did not mention Reed's name—although he almost did by a slip of the tongue over the radio. But the bitter invective, uttered in customary Pinchot style, he blasted at Guffey left little room to doubt his position. Guffey is Reed's Democratic opponent.

Resorting to oratorical redundancy to hammer home his point, the governor repeated over and over again: "I can't stand Guffey."

Then, the executive sought to rob Guffey even of the right to endorsement by the national administration, inferring that election of an outright critic of the new deal would be more preferred than election of Guffey. He said:

"Guffey is posing as Roosevelt's fair-haired boy. I resent that claim. And I want you to understand clearly what I think about Franklin Roosevelt.

President Harassed.

"I think he is an honest man headed in the right direction. I think he is often deceived and hampered and harassed by the Farleys, the Guffeys and the rest of the spoilsmen and little brothers of the rich in his own party.

"And I think that one of the very finest things that could be done for Franklin Roosevelt would be to pluck Joe Guffey of every tailfeather that still remains. And that goes for Farley (Postmaster General James A. Farley) too."

Using liberal quotations from the U. S. district attorney's brief supporting the successful plea for a nol prosse of an embezzlement indictment against Guffey charging improper use of interest he handled as director of sales for the alien property custodian during the war, Governor Pinchot cited the chronology of that case. The indictment was handed down December 28, 1822, and nol prossed November 17, 1930.

Refers To Suit Against Guffey.

He referred to the suit against Guffey filed by Clarence H. Fay, one-time New York Republican leader, seeking $25,000 for alleged services in obtaining the nol prosse, and said: "Perhaps Mr. Guffey will tell you just how and why his indictment was stricken off. And perhaps he won't."

Governor Pinchot referred also to another action brought in 1926 in the Massachusetts federal court on behalf of the owners of the Bosch Magneto properties against Guffey and others for $4,000,000, charging the Bosch properties had been undervalued for sale and that there had been collusive bidding. The case was finally settled four years later.

Turning to the gubernatorial campaign, Governor Pinchot said "This is no time to give the ship of state to a captain who never went to sea," adding:

"I Am For Schnader."

"I am for Schnader for two reasons.

"First, because there is no one in Pennsylvania more fit to handle the job than William A. Schnader.

"Second, because there is no one in Pennsylvania more completely unfit to handle the job than George Earl the third."

He characterized Earle as a "greenhorn playboy", and said of him that Guffey was his "other two-thirds." The executive called the roll of social and labor bills enacted in Pennsylvania in the last two decades and declared Schnader fought to pass the bills while Earle was "out of sight and utterly useless to the cause he has suddenly become so fond of."

Although Lawrence declared Governor Pinchot's speech was fulfillment of a bargain with the Mellon-Grundy-Atterbury political combine, the governor ridiculed assertions that the Republican party is today controlled by "bosses".

"That used to be true enough," he said, "but not now. If Mellon, Grundy and Atterbury still had their old pull with the Republican party, would the Republican platform pledge minimum wage legislation, the outlawing of sweatshops, support for old age assistance, pensions for the blind and other social legislation these men hate?"

1. Upperclass girls may visit freshman girls in their rooms, but freshman girls will not be permitted in sorority girls' rooms.
2. Upperclass girls may not take freshman girls home for week-ends.
3. Upperclass girls may not spend the night with freshman girls.
4. Upperclass girls may not mention sororities to freshman girls at any time.
5. "Dutch treats" only are permissable in entertaining.

New Wilmington

"Consumer training" was the subject studied by a group of A. A. U. W. women at their first meeting last night in the Commuter's study room of Old Main memorial. It is the present plan that meeting will continue each Thursday evening during October and November.

Miss Lillie Braham was the guest speaker at the October meeting of the Young Woman's guild held last night at the home of Miss Alice Ligo of New Castle street. Miss Braham enumerated experiences in Egypt where she has taught in the American College for Girls for three years.

Mrs. J. C. McCrady, with Mrs. C. L. Smyser as assisting hostess, will entertain the members of the Thursday club at her home, Thursday, October 11.

Members of the Bestyette club have chosen the following officers to lead them in the coming year: Miss Blanche Clinefelter, president; Mrs. A. W. Thompson, secretary.

Miss Lois Greer has enrolled as a student at Duff's Business college in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Miss Eleanor Smith has left for Pittsburgh, to enroll as a student in the Maison-Frederick Beauty Culture school.

A committee of school board members composed of Dr. J. A. Swindler and Fred Williamson, will consult county RWD officials in the near future to discuss ways and means of repairing the high school gym as a RWD project. At the present time the gym is badly in need of repairs both interior and exterior.

For those who have been undecided in the past as to the code used in sounding the fire siren, the following information is published. Four times denotes an out of town call, three times for a fire and the borough limits and twice on Wednesday evening at 6:30 for firemen practice.

Wilmington grange will hold a Farm Products show, Thursday evening, October 11, in the basement of the Shenango United Presbyterian church.

Paying due respects to beloved dead, members of the New Wilmington Volunteer Fire company, will unite Monday evening at the U. P. church, to honor three members who have passed on. The impressive service will be in memoriam to T. O. Hogue, Earl Hutchison, and former chief A. J. McCready. The members of the company will sit in a body at this service which begins at 7:30.

Mrs. Ella Johnston has returned to her home on South Market street, after spending several days with relatives in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cower, of Sprigboro, spent Tuesday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lamb.

Mrs. Eva Randall has returned to her home in New Castle, after spending several days with Mrs. J. C. Jarrett.

Warning Issued On Compensation

Investigator States Signs Must Be Posted By Those Observing Law

E. S. Norton, investigator for the Commonwealth, is in this district, making investigations of employers who have failed to provide workman's compensation. Those who are complying with the law by providing compensation must also post a sign to this effect in their place of business, and several violations of this latter clause in the act have been discovered, resulting in their being brought before Alderman, where the costs were assessed against them.

The investigator stated that smaller firms and employers particularly coal dealers and miners are being investigated.

The penalty for failure to observe the Workmen's Compensation Act is a fine or not less than $100 or more than $500 plus the costs of prosecution or a jail sentence not more than six months or both. The Act further states that each day of operation without compensation constitutes a violation and the offender may be fined on each offense.

On Court House Hill

Attorney Edwin K. Logan has filed a summons in assumpsit against Jones Kaufman in connection with difficulties over the sale of the Jolly Bowl.

Mike Winkovitch has filed a writ of foreign attachment at the prothonotary's office against Rosa Hermon, in which the sheriff is directed to attach a property in the eighth ward in possession of Nick and Katie Misler.

Under the will of the late Louis H. Lutton, of Taylor township which has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, his estate is left to his wife, Mary Lutton for life, or as long as she remains his widow. It is then to go to the children.

An application for divorce has been filed at the prothonotary's office by Elizabeth Laurel, of 1604 Wilson avenue against William Laurel of 811½ Lathrop street. The application is made on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers will hold a session of common pleas court next week, beginning on Monday morning. Motions and petitions will also be heard at the opening session. Another session will be held during the week beginning October 15, and one during the week beginning November 12th.

A considerable portion of the taxes now being paid into the county treasurer's office is coming from the Home Owners Loan Corporation. The corporation will not place a mortgage against a property on which taxes are delinquent. In most instances there are two or three years taxes unpaid.

No time has yet been set by the court for the sentencing of Roxie Long and his wife, Virginia Long, who were recently convicted of conspiracy to defraud wholesale merchants. It is possible that the matter may be taken up when court convenes next week. There are several others, who pleaded guilty to similar charges to be sentenced.

Following the last registration of voters in this city which will be on Saturday, October 6th, the registrars have only until October 8th to return their books to the county commissioners office. These books will show the total number registered at the three registration days this fall, together with their sex, nationality, politics and other data.

Acording to attorneys one of the big problems to come before the next session of the Pennsylvania state legislature will be that of raising taxes. The law makers will have to raise relief funds for the next biennium, and adso provide money to reimburse the $20,000,000 tranferred recently to a special session. By the terms of the bill the legislature must return to departments from which it was taken by the end of next year. Many believe that a sales tax will be advocated.

County commissioners have received a number of complaints about the overflow from septic tanks running into the gutters on the newly improved Youngstown hill. However this is a problem for the supervisors of Union township. There is a movement on foot for sanitary sewers which are very badly needed in that section. It is understood that the sewer could be laid as an RWD project, but it would be necessary for property owners or the township to furnish the tile, and arrange for the payment of the expense of connection with the city sewage system.

Bible Conference At Calvary Church

Young People Will Conduct One Week Of Study In Church At East New Castle

Miss Margaret Phillips, chairman of the publicity committee of the Young People's Bible Conference at the Calvary Presbyterian church, announces that practically every detail has been arranged for the conference, which will be held in the church for one week beginning Sunday, October 7.

A loud speaker will be installed in the basement of the church to take care of the overflow crowds that are expected to attend.

Special sacred musical numbers by talented guests will be a feature of the conference, with safe and sound evangelism in the Bible, teaching and preaching.

Sunday morning, Rev. Raymond Howell will be the speaker; at 2:30 there will be a young people's platform service with the young people's gospel team of Struthers, O., in charge and at 7:30 there will be preaching by Rev. H. H. VanCleve, of Grove City, with Homer Welch in charge of the music.

Each night of the following week there will be Bible study from 6:30 to 7:30, except Thursday, by Dr. J. R. Loughner, of Emlentotn, and at 7:30 Dr. W. D. Herrstrom, of Akron, O., will be the speaker. His subjects will be:

Monday, Oct. 8—"When a Nation Turns It's Back on God." (Stereopticon slide lecture showing the wages of sin in Russia.)

Tuesday, Oct. 9 — "Who Made God?"

Wednesday, Oct. 10—"Ten Commandments for the Twentieth Century."

Thursday, Oct. 11—"Bad Blunders of Bible Critics."

Friday, Oct. 12—"Free Hair Cuts in Delilah's Tonsorial Parlor."

Saturday, Oct. 13—"Why Some People Fail." (A sermon worth a college education.)

Sunday, Oct. 14—Morning, "The Greatest Chapter in the Bible." Afternoon, "And the Serpent Said, Oh Yeah!" Evening, "What Is the Greatest Sin in the World?"

Must Pay Widow About $3,000 For Husband's Death

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Oct. 5.—Affirming the decision of Judge James A. McLaughry that Mrs. Belle White, widow of T. C. White, former superintendent of the Mercer County Home, was entitled to compensation in his death, the Superior Court at Philadelphia, today returned a judgment for the plaintiff. The amount in question is more than $3,000.

Mr. White was killed November 19, 1932, in an auto accident while on the way from Mercer to the county home. Mrs. White asked the Mercer County Poor Board for compensation, claiming that her husband was on county duty at the time. Taken before the Common Pleas Court, a decision favoring Mrs. White was returned. The poor directors through their solicitor, Attorney Edward C. Moon, appealed the case to the Superior Court where the judgment was affirmed.

Paying due respects to beloved dead, members of the New Wilmington Volunteer Fire company, will unite Monday evening at the U. P. church, to honor three members who have passed on. The impressive service will be in memoriam to T. O. Hogue, Earl Hutchison, and former chief A. J. McCready. The members of the company will sit in a body at this service which begins at 7:30.

Warning Issued On Compensation

Investigator States Signs Must Be Posted By Those Observing Law

E. S. Norton, investigator for the Commonwealth, is in this district, making investigations of employers who have failed to provide workman's compensation. Those who are complying with the law by providing compensation must also post a sign to this effect in their place of business, and several violations of this latter clause in the act have been discovered, resulting in their being brought before Alderman, where the costs were assessed against them.

The investigator stated that smaller firms and employers particularly coal dealers and miners are being investigated.

The penalty for failure to observe the Workmen's Compensation Act is a fine or not less than $100 or more than $500 plus the costs of prosecution or a jail sentence not more than six months or both. The Act further states that each day of operation without compensation constitutes a violation and the offender may be fined on each offense.

An application for divorce has been filed at the prothonotary's office by Elizabeth Laurel, of 1604 Wilson avenue against William Laurel of 811½ Lathrop street. The application is made on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers will hold a session of common pleas court next week, beginning on Monday morning. Motions and petitions will also be heard at the opening session. Another session will be held during the week beginning October 15, and one during the week beginning November 12th.

A considerable portion of the taxes now being paid into the county treasurer's office is coming from the Home Owners Loan Corporation. The corporation will not place a mortgage against a property on which taxes are delinquent. In most instances there are two or three years taxes unpaid.

No time has yet been set by the court for the sentencing of Roxie Long and his wife, Virginia Long, who were recently convicted of conspiracy to defraud wholesale merchants. It is possible that the matter may be taken up when court convenes next week. There are several others, who pleaded guilty to similar charges to be sentenced.

Following the last registration of voters in this city which will be on Saturday, October 6th, the registrars have only until October 8th to return their books to the county commissioners office. These books will show the total number registered at the three registration days this fall, together with their sex, nationality, politics and other data.

Acording to attorneys one of the big problems to come before the next session of the Pennsylvania state legislature will be that of raising taxes. The law makers will have to raise relief funds for the next biennium, and adso provide money to reimburse the $20,000,000 tranferred recently to a special session. By the terms of the bill the legislature must return to departments from which it was taken by the end of next year. Many believe that a sales tax will be advocated.

County commissioners have received a number of complaints about the overflow from septic tanks running into the gutters on the newly improved Youngstown hill. However this is a problem for the supervisors of Union township. There is a movement on foot for sanitary sewers which are very badly needed in that section. It is understood that the sewer could be laid as an RWD project, but it would be necessary for property owners or the township to furnish the tile, and arrange for the payment of the expense of connection with the city sewage system.

Must Pay Widow About $3,000 For Husband's Death

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Oct. 5.—Affirming the decision of Judge James A. McLaughry that Mrs. Belle White, widow of T. C. White, former superintendent of the Mercer County Home, was entitled to compensation in his death, the Superior Court at Philadelphia, today returned a judgment for the plaintiff. The amount in question is more than $3,000.

Mr. White was killed November 19, 1932, in an auto accident while on the way from Mercer to the county home. Mrs. White asked the Mercer County Poor Board for compensation, claiming that her husband was on county duty at the time. Taken before the Common Pleas Court, a decision favoring Mrs. White was returned. The poor directors through their solicitor, Attorney Edward C. Moon, appealed the case to the Superior Court where the judgment was affirmed.

President of Republic Steel Places Blame On Present Administration

STEEL ON THRESHHOLD OF GREAT ACTIVITY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Tom M. Girdler, president of the Republic Steel Corporation, today was on record with the statement that absence of the "psychology of confidence and some semblance of economic stability" under the present administration is holding back the steel industry at the threshold of a period of the greatest activity in history. He spoke at a dinner of the American Society for Metals.

"Today, no business is willing to spend a dollar except for immediate requirements," he said. "Those of us who are in the steel business cannot blame our customers for this attitude, for we feel the same way ourselves.

Reasons Outlined

"What are the reasons for this point of view?

"Among many, I believe three are particularly important: failure of the administration to effect monetary stability, the hesitation with respect to long term financing and distribution of investments, and the labor situation."

The industrialist indicated steel wages might be cut, saying the steel business, like many others, had overstepped the bounds of practicability in cutting hours and raising wages to the neglect of stockholders.

Predicts Big Business

Girdler predicted that in the next few years annual steel production will surpass anything in the history of the industry.

Development of specialized alloy steels, each with special properties to fit the job for which it was designed, will lead to an age of "tailor-made" steels he said. The new alloys will make possible construction of freight cars weighing one third less but with greater carrying capacity, new machine tools with higher cutting speeds and able to cut harder materials, and will be used in airplanes, dirigibles, engines requiring high heat resistance, cracking stills in the oil industry, air conditioning plants, steel houses, and in stainless steel for numberless purposes.

The Albert Sauveur achievement medal was presented for the first time, going to Dr. Albert Sauveur, professor of mining and metallurgy at Harvard. John Chipman university of Michigan research engineer, received the Henry Marion Howe medal and to W. B. Coleman of Philadelphia, went the president's medal.

Program Of Recovery May Hinge On Richberg Whom Conservatives Now Consider As Safe And Sane

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Donald R. Richberg, whose post at the head of the national recovery administration (not to mention his numerous posts, as his own subordinate, at the head of most of the main recovery administration's various subsidiary administrations) generally is regarded as the most important in the country, next to the presidency, had many supporters, early in the Roosevelt regime, for the position of attorney general in the present White House tenant's cabinet.

These supporters, be it said, all were of the radical cult; liberals, anyway.

Conservatives shivered at the thought of an individual with Richberg's record in charge of the justice department—a department preeminently equipped with the authority to enable radicalism to make its teeth felt, under the domination of a radically-minded chieftain. It was, of course, for the very reason that conservatives were afraid of him that progressive folk wanted Richberg.

Now he occupies a plexus of jobs of more consequence than any two or three cabinet secretaryships combined; perhaps of more consequence than all ten cabinet secretaryships put together.

And, strange to relate, conservatism is fairly well satisfied, whereas radicalism, to express it rather mildly, is decidedly skeptical.

Conservatives put it that his responsibilities as NRA general counsel during the last year and a half have so modified Richberg's politico-economic philosophy that today they consider him a very "safe and sane" administrator—and one of exceptional ability.

Radicals put it that he has "swung so far to the right" that they no longer accept him as one of them.

Don Richberg, as most folk doubtless know, has been particularly distinguished as a labor lawyer; still more particularly as a lawyer for America's transportation brotherhoods.

A Chicagoan, has was only an occasional Washington visitor before his NRA connection, and my first meeting with him was shortly after last inauguration day, in March or maybe April, 1933, when he was in the capital in company with President Alexander F. Whitney of the railway trainmen's union—and still unmistakably proletarian in his every sympathy.

I talked with him at some length and certainly rated him, from what he said, as distinctly to the leftward in his ideas.

Not only, he observed with absolute accuracy, were conditions deplorable at that especial juncture; he also questioned the possibility of improvement under the then and yet existing economic system. He was far from sure, he was frank to confess, that its continuance must not necessarily mean a decline of industrial labor into semi-serfdom; of agriculture into a mere peasantry.

True, this conversation preceded NRA's creation.

Richberg obviously believes that NRA has changed the situation; that the old order can be preserved under its management. He didn't altogether like it as run by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, but even under Johnson, he maintained that much progress had been made. Now that he himself is at the helm, he naturally is entitled to the opinion that recovery will be rapid.

And perhaps it will.

Conservative business men apparently think so, and apparently welcome the rise of Richberg, of whom they formerly were so apprehensive.

But radicalism—and labor (some of which is not a bit radical)!

A few weeks ago a leading official of one of the rail brotherhoods (not radical at all), of which Richberg formerly was legal adviser, said to me:

"We imagined we'd had a wonderful break when Don was appointed NRA's general counsel. Today we'd rather do business with General Johnson. Don leans so far backward, to be fair to capital, that we prefer the general, equally leaning backward, to be fair to labor."

Following Richberg's appointment to his present post, I asked a real radical for his opinion of the selection.

"Oh," he answered, "when a radical is given a position of authority he generally spends the rest of his life trying to live down his radical reputation."

Another thing I hear remarked on: When the recently-created stock market commission was established, the personnel named to constitute it was, in the main, pretty liberal, but one of its members was the well-known stock market speculator, Joseph P. Kennedy—and Kennedy was chosen as its chairman; and presumably its real dictator.

The new NRA board is mostly very liberal—but its chairman is Samuel Clay Williams, president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, one of the country's biggest corporations. Richberg ranks him, indeed, but, as we have seen, Richberg no longer worries conservatism very seriously. For that matter, Richberg is circumscribed by Secretaries of the Interior and Labor Harold L. Ickes and Frances Perkins, AAA and Relief Administrators Chester C. Davis and Harry L. Hopkins, and Samuel Clay Williams also—but he is more potent than the whole five of them.

In short, recovery, under President Roosevelt, simmers down to Richberg.

Personally I like and trust him. I'm trying simply to point out how estimates of public men change (and how, perhaps, the men themselves change) in these strenuous times.

Americanism: Colleges filled with youngsters hungry for education; Carnegie Institute tests showing that freshmen know more than seniors.

Great coach: One who is given money enough to round up high school stars.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Donald R. Richberg, whose post at the head of the national recovery administration (not to mention his numerous posts, as his own subordinate, at the head of most of the main recovery administration's various subsidiary administrations) generally is regarded as the most important in the country, next to the presidency, had many supporters, early in the Roosevelt regime, for the position of attorney general in the present White House tenant's cabinet.

These supporters, be it said, all were of the radical cult; liberals, anyway.

Conservatives shivered at the thought of an individual with Richberg's record in charge of the justice department—a department preeminently equipped with the authority to enable radicalism to make its teeth felt, under the domination of a radically-minded chieftain. It was, of course, for the very reason that conservatives were afraid of him that progressive folk wanted Richberg.

Now he occupies a plexus of jobs of more consequence than any two or three cabinet secretaryships combined; perhaps of more consequence than all ten cabinet secretaryships put together.

And, strange to relate, conservatism is fairly well satisfied, whereas radicalism, to express it rather mildly, is decidedly skeptical.

Conservatives put it that his responsibilities as NRA general counsel during the last year and a half have so modified Richberg's politico-economic philosophy that today they consider him a very "safe and sane" administrator—and one of exceptional ability.

Radicals put it that he has "swung so far to the right" that they no longer accept him as one of them.

Don Richberg, as most folk doubtless know, has been particularly distinguished as a labor lawyer; still more particularly as a lawyer for America's transportation brotherhoods.

A Chicagoan, has was only an occasional Washington visitor before his NRA connection, and my first meeting with him was shortly after last inauguration day, in March or maybe April, 1933, when he was in the capital in company with President Alexander F. Whitney of the railway trainmen's union—and still unmistakably proletarian in his every sympathy.

I talked with him at some length and certainly rated him, from what he said, as distinctly to the leftward in his ideas.

Not only, he observed with absolute accuracy, were conditions deplorable at that especial juncture; he also questioned the possibility of improvement under the then and yet existing economic system. He was far from sure, he was frank to confess, that its continuance must not necessarily mean a decline of industrial labor into semi-serfdom; of agriculture into a mere peasantry.

True, this conversation preceded NRA's creation.

Richberg obviously believes that NRA has changed the situation; that the old order can be preserved under its management. He didn't altogether like it as run by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, but even under Johnson, he maintained that much progress had been made. Now that he himself is at the helm, he naturally is entitled to the opinion that recovery will be rapid.

And perhaps it will.

Conservative business men apparently think so, and apparently welcome the rise of Richberg, of whom they formerly were so apprehensive.

But radicalism—and labor (some of which is not a bit radical)!

A few weeks ago a leading official of one of the rail brotherhoods (not radical at all), of which Richberg formerly was legal adviser, said to me:

"We imagined we'd had a wonderful break when Don was appointed NRA's general counsel. Today we'd rather do business with General Johnson. Don leans so far backward, to be fair to capital, that we prefer the general, equally leaning backward, to be fair to labor."

Following Richberg's appointment to his present post, I asked a real radical for his opinion of the selection.

"Oh," he answered, "when a radical is given a position of authority he generally spends the rest of his life trying to live down his radical reputation."

Another thing I hear remarked on: When the recently-created stock market commission was established, the personnel named to constitute it was, in the main, pretty liberal, but one of its members was the well-known stock market speculator, Joseph P. Kennedy—and Kennedy was chosen as its chairman, and presumably its real dictator.

The new NRA board is mostly very liberal—but its chairman is Samuel Clay Williams, president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, one of the country's biggest corporations. Richberg ranks him, indeed, but, as we have seen, Richberg no longer worries conservatism very seriously. For that matter, Richberg is circumscribed by Secretaries of the Interior and Labor Harold L. Ickes and Frances Perkins, AAA and Relief Administrators Chester C. Davis and Harry L. Hopkins, and Samuel Clay Williams also—but he is more potent than the whole five of them.

In short, recovery, under President Roosevelt, simmers down to Richberg.

Personally I like and trust him. I'm trying simply to point out how estimates of public men change (and how, perhaps, the men themselves change) in these strenuous times.

Americanism: Colleges filled with youngsters hungry for education; Carnegie Institute tests showing that freshmen know more than seniors.

Great coach: One who is given money enough to round up high school stars.

Confidence Lack Halts Recovery

STEEL ON THRESHHOLD OF GREAT ACTIVITY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Tom M. Girdler, president of the Republic Steel Corporation, today was on record with the statement that absence of the "psychology of confidence and some semblance of economic stability" under the present administration is holding back the steel industry at the threshold of a period of the greatest activity in history. He spoke at a dinner of the American Society for Metals.

"Today, no business is willing to spend a dollar except for immediate requirements," he said. "Those of us who are in the steel business cannot blame our customers for this attitude, for we feel the same way ourselves.

Reasons Outlined

"What are the reasons for this point of view?

"Among many, I believe, three are particularly important: failure of the administration to effect monetary stability, the hesitation with respect to long term financing and distribution of investments, and the labor situation."

The industrialist indicated steel wages might be cut, saying the steel business, like many others, had overstepped the bounds of practicability in cutting hours and raising wages to the neglect of stockholders.

Predicts Big Business

Girdler predicted that in the next few years annual steel production will surpass anything in the history of the industry.

Development of specialized alloy steels, each with special properties to fit the job for which it was designed, will lead to an age of "tailor-made" steels he said. The new alloys will make possible construction of freight cars weighing one third less but with greater carrying capacity, new machine tools with higher cutting speeds and able to cut harder materials, and will be used in airplanes, dirigibles, engines requiring high heat resistance, cracking stills in the oil industry, air conditioning plants, steel houses, and in stainless steel for numberless purposes.

The Albert Sauveur achievement medal was presented for the first time, going to Dr. Albert Sauveur, professor of mining and metallurgy at Harvard. John Chipman university of Michigan research engineer, received the Henry Marion Howe medal and to W. B. Coleman of Philadelphia, went the president's medal.

Unemployment In State Increases

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Unemployment in Pennsylvania increased 2.8 per cent from July to August, according to the monthly department of labor and industry report today.

The report listed 962,029, or 25.8 per cent of the working population, as unemployed at mid-August. This was 75,000 less than at the same period last year, however.

Program Of Recovery May Hinge On Richberg Whom Conservatives Now Consider As Safe And Sane

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S street

Will Keep Order At Bridgeport

Near Martial Law Prevails In Eastern Pennsylvania Town

SHERIFF FORBIDS PUBLIC GATHERINGS

(International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Oct. 5.—This little mill town, seat of bloody industrial conflict, was under virtual martial law today.

Proclamations, signed by Sheriff Haseltine S. Lever, were posted throughout the community and the surrounding area, forbidding public assemblages on the streets and imposing other restrictions characteristic of emergency military rule.

The sheriff's action was taken in an attempt to forestall further sanguinary battles such as the violant outbreak Wednesday during which a youthful bystander was shot and killed, an unidentified woman was seriously wounded by bullets and scores of textile strikers and sympathizers were injured by riot bludgeons and tear gas.

Authorities responsible for maintaining the peace hoped that the giant woolen mill of James Lees and Sons, sorespot of the strike trouble, would remain closed. Should the owners decide to reopen the mill, further clashes are almost certain to eventuate. At a mass meeting the strikers vowed to prevent the plant from resuming operations by any means at their command.

The mill was closed yesterday while a strong undercurrent of bitterness ran through the ranks of the 1800 striking employes.

Charlotte E. Carr, Pennsylvania secretary of labor, visited both the mill owners and union leaders. She said she had been assured the owners will make no attempt to open the mill today.

Meantime, the five special sheriff's deputies, accused of riding in the automobile from which the fatal bullets poured during Wednesday's rioting, were at their homes, released on $5,000 bail each. Charged with suspicion of homicide in connection with the death of the bystander, 23-year-old Ewlood Quirk, the deputies were smuggled across the river to Norristown to evade the violence of an angry mob.

After their bond was posted they were returned to Bridgeport, then escorted by automobile to their homes.

Hunt Third Man In Kidnap Plot

Believe Three Men Were Implicated In Plot To Kidnap West Virginia Girl

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 5.—Unrelenting in their drive to clean up the attempted kidnaping of Miss Betty Bloch, 26-year-old tobacco heiress, department of justice agents today sought a third man said to have been implicated in the plot.

Two men, the agents stated, have already pleaded guilty to plotting a "snatch" of the heir to the fortunes possessed by her father, Jesse A. Bloch, and now await action of a grand jury that will meet in 10 days.

Set High Bail

Unable to furnish $100,000 bail each, the prisoners, Thurman F. Bowen and Harry Thornton, both 31, pleaded guilty when arraigned before a U. S. commissioner that they planned to kidnap Miss Bloch and hold her for $25,000 ransom.

The "snatch," according to authorities, was to have been executed when Miss Bloch attended a party in honor of her marriage Saturday to Wilmot L. Harris, formerly of Washington.

Working on a "tip," police took Bowen and Thornton into custody at Bridgeport, O. The kidnaping plans were delayed by the pair, authorities said, because they got "cold feet."

Cherchez la Femme!

Mrs. Marie McKeever

The sweetheart who was arrested with Robert Mais in Richmond, Va., at the time he was nabbed for murder of a Federal Reserve Bank guard, is being sought by police for questioning in connection with sensational escape of Mais and Walter Legenza from jail while they were awaiting execution.

Says Roosevelt Aided Bank Crisis

Joslin Charges President Refused To Co-operated With Hoover In 1933

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Criticizing President Roosevelt for allegedly failing to co-operate with Herbert Hoover during the last four months of the Hoover administration, Theodore Joslin in the November Red Book accuses the Democrats of deliberately permitting the banking crisis of 1932.

In another of his articles on "Hoover Off the Record," the former president's secretary tells of what went on in the White House just before Mr. Roosevelt's inauguration.

Calling this article "The Two Weeks That Swept the Country," Joslin writes of attempts made by Mr. Hoover to obtain Mr. Roosevelt's aid, but says "despite persistent overtures, the incoming administration was adamant."

Joslin contends that with Mr. Roosevelt helping, the bank holiday could have been averted.

Discussing information he received from a Democrat, Joslin gives this message with names deleted:

"—— had lunch with me. He said they (the Democrats) were fully aware of the banking situation, and that the system undoubtedly would collapse within a few days, which would place the responsibility in the lap of President Hoover.

"'We shouldn't worry,' he said, 'about anything excepting rehabilitation of the country after March 4. Then there will be several moves: No. 1—An embargo on the exportation of yellow chips. No. 2—Suspension of specie payments. No. 3—Reflation, if necessary after No. 1 and No. 2'."

Joslin's conclusion is that "the meaning of the message was that so far as the incoming administration was concerned, the country was to be permitted to sink to the lowest depth so that the new administration could start from the very bottom in making its recovery efforts. That was the purpose all along."

Joslin says the retiring administration considered privately the desirability of resorting to clearing house script.

Cary Grant Takes Poison By Mistake

Movie Actor Is Recovering From Poison Tablet Taken While Intoxicated

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—Cary Grant, 30, movie star, returned to his home today from a hospital where he was given emergency treatment for poison, police detectives said, was self-administered.

His wife, pretty Virginia Cherrill, was reported to have rushed to his side immediately following his return home.

Circumstances of the case remained shrouded in mystery. Neither Grant nor Miss Cherrill would comment following Grant's initial statement to Police Surgeon C. E. Cornell:

"I had been drinking and I took one tablet of those (indicating a bottle marked poison) under a lot of stress and worry."

Darrow Defines NRA As Detriment

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Clarence Darrow had presented his own definition of the NRA today.

The NRA, Darrow said at a Chicago Bar association dinner last night, is an instrument created by "big business" to take away the only defensive weapon of small competitors—lower prices.

Americanism: Spending millions for defense, so the Japs can't kill us; doing nothing about the cars that kill 30,000 a year.

Some High Spots In Address By Pinchot

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 5.—Some of the pungent phrases used by Gov. Gifford Pinchot in his first political address since the primary follow:

"Just about the best fitted man to be governor in all Pennsylvania is running against just about the worst . . . there you have the campaign in a nutshell."

"This is no time to put a greenhorn playboy in charge."

"Today not a leader in either parties dares to say that he is against the Pinchot policies . . . as for the two platforms, with some exceptions, I might almost as well have written them myself."

"I think President Roosevelt is an honest man headed in the right direction . . . I think he is often deceived and hampered and harassed by the Farleys' the Guffeys and the rest of the spoilsmen and little brothers of the rich in his own party."

"You may remember that Farley made public announcement that if I came out for anybody it would be for Guffey . . . I wonder when he thinks about that now?"

"If I can't stand Guffey, I can't stand George the Third. Guffey is the other two-thirds anyhow."

House To House Repair Campaign

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 5.—About 150 canvassers are to be lined up to conduct a house-to-house survey of needs here for home renovating and modernization.

The canvassers will conduct an intensive campaign to persuade home owners to take advantage of the financing now offered, with government aid, to get necessary work done on homes and thereby stimulate employment.

The great need of relief projects is some way to distinguish between worthy unfortunates and the ornery.

Will Keep Order At Bridgeport

Near Martial Law Prevails In Eastern Pennsylvania Town

SHERIFF FORBIDS PUBLIC GATHERINGS

International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Oct. 5.—This little mill town, seat of bloody industrial conflict, was under virtual martial law today.

Proclamations, signed by Sheriff Haseltine S. Lever, were posted throughout the community and the surrounding area, forbidding public assemblages on the streets and imposing other restrictions characteristic of emergency military rule.

The sheriff's action was taken in an attempt to forestall further sanguinary battles such as the violant outbreak Wednesday during which a youthful bystander was shot and killed, an unidentified woman was seriously wounded by bullets and scores of textile strikers and sympathizers were injured by riot bludgeons and tear gas.

Authorities responsible for maintaining the peace hoped that the giant woolen mill of James Lees and Sons, sorespot of the strike trouble, would remain closed. Should the owners decide to reopen the mill, further clashes are almost certain to eventuate. At a mass meeting the strikers vowed to prevent the plant from resuming operations by any means at their command.

The mill was closed yesterday while a strong undercurrent of bitterness ran through the ranks of the 1800 striking employes.

Charlotte E. Carr, Pennsylvania secretary of labor, visited both the mill owners and union leaders. She said she had been assured the owners will make no attempt to open the mill today.

Meantime, the five special sheriff's deputies, accused of riding in the automobile from which the fatal bullets poured during Wednesday's rioting, were at their homes, released on $5,000 bail each. Charged with suspicion of homicide in connection with the death of the bystander, 23-year-old Ewlood Quirk, the deputies were smuggled across the river to Norristown to evade the violence of an angry mob.

After their bond was posted they were returned to Bridgeport, then escorted by automobile to their homes.

Hunt Third Man In Kidnap Plot

International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 5.—Unrelenting in their drive to clean up the attempted kidnaping of Miss Betty Bloch, 26-year-old tobacco heiress, department of justice agents today sought a third man said to have been implicated in the plot.

Two men, the agents stated, have already pleaded guilty to plotting a "snatch" of the heir to the fortunes possessed by her father, Jesse A. Bloch, and now await action of a grand jury that will meet in 10 days.

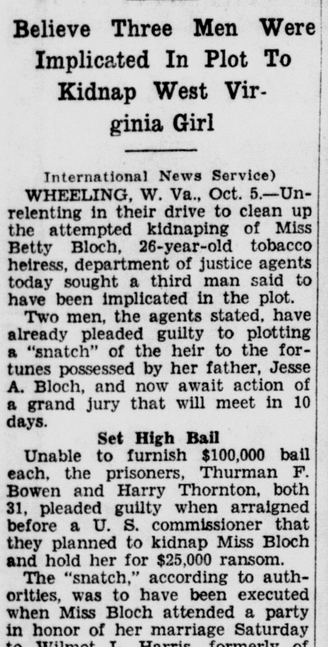

Set High Bail

Unable to furnish $100,000 bail each, the prisoners, Thurman F. Bowen and Harry Thornton, both 31, pleaded guilty when arraigned before a U. S. commissioner that they planned to kidnap Miss Bloch and hold her for $25,000 ransom.

The "snatch," according to authorities, was to have been executed when Miss Bloch attended a party in honor of her marriage Saturday to Wilmot L. Harris, formerly of Washington.

Working on a "tip," police took Bowen and Thornton into custody at Bridgeport, O. The kidnaping plans were delayed by the pair, authorities said, because they got "cold feet."

Cherchez la Femme!

Mrs. Marie McKeever

The sweetheart who was arrested with Robert Mais in Richmond, Va., at the time he was nabbed for murder of a Federal Reserve Bank guard, is being sought by police for questioning in connection with sensational escape of Mais and Walter Legenza from jail while they were awaiting execution.

Says Roosevelt Aided Bank Crisis

Joslin Charges President Refused To Co-operated With Hoover In 1933

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Criticizing President Roosevelt for allegedly failing to co-operate with Herbert Hoover during the last four months of the Hoover administration, Theodore Joslin in the November Red Book accuses the Democrats of deliberately permitting the banking crisis of 1932.

In another of his articles on "Hoover Off the Record," the former president's secretary tells of what went on in the White House just before Mr. Roosevelt's inauguration.

Calling this article "The Two Weeks That Swept the Country," Joslin writes of attempts made by Mr. Hoover to obtain Mr. Roosevelt's aid, but says "despite persistent overtures, the incoming administration was adamant."

Joslin contends that with Mr. Roosevelt helping, the bank holiday could have been averted.

Discussing information he received from a Democrat, Joslin gives this message with names deleted:

"——— had lunch with me. He said they (the Democrats) were fully aware of the banking situation, and that the system undoubtedly would collapse within a few days, which would place the responsibility in the lap of President Hoover.

"'We shouldn't worry,' he said, "about anything excepting rehabilitation of the country after March 4. Then there will be several moves: No. 1—An embargo on the exportation of yellow chips. No. 2—Suspension of specie payments. No. 3—Reflation, if necessary after No. 1 and No. 2'."

Joslin's conclusion is that "the meaning of the message was that so far as the incoming administration was concerned, the country was to be permitted to sink to the lowest depth so that the new administration could start from the very bottom in making its recovery efforts. That was the purpose all along."

Joslin says the retiring administration considered privately the desirability of resorting to clearing house script.

Cary Grant Takes Poison By Mistake

Movie Actor Is Recovering From Poison Tablet Taken While Intoxicated

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—Cary Grant, 30, movie star, returned to his home today from a hospital where he was given emergency treatment for poison, police detectives said, was self-administered.

His wife, pretty Virginia Cherrill, was reported to have rushed to his side immediately following his return home.

Circumstances of the case remained shrouded in mystery. Neither Grant nor Miss Cherrill would comment following Grant's initial statement to Police Surgeon C. E. Cornell:

"I had been drinking and I took one tablet of those (indicating a bottle marked poison) under a lot of stress and worry."

Darrow Defines NRA As Detriment

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Clarence Darrow had presented his own definition of the NRA today.

The NRA, Darrow said at a Chicago Bar association dinner last night, is an instrument created by "big business" to take away the only defensive weapon of small competitors—lower prices.

Some High Spots In Address By Pinchot

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 5.—Some of the pungent phrases used by Gov. Gifford Pinchot in his first political address since the primary follow:

"Just about the best fitted man to be governor in all Pennsylvania is running against just about the worst . . . there you have the campaign in a nutshell."

"This is no time to put a greenhorn playboy in charge."

"Today not a leader in either parties dares to say that he is against the Pinchot policies . . . as for the two platforms, with some exceptions, I might almost as well have written them myself."

"I think President Roosevelt is an honest man headed in the right direction . . . I think he is often deceived and hampered and harassed by the Farleys' the Guffeys and the rest of the spoilsmen and little brothers of the rich in his own party."

"You may remember that Farley made public announcement that if I came out for anybody it would be for Guffey . . . I wonder when he thinks about that now?"

"If I can't stand Guffey, I can't stand George the Third. Guffey is the other two-thirds anyhow."

House To House Repair Campaign

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 5.—About 150 canvassers are to be lined up to conduct a house-to-house survey of needs here for home renovating and modernization.

The canvassers will conduct an intensive campaign to persuade home owners to take advantage of the financing now offered, with government aid, to get necessary work done on homes and thereby stimulate employment.

The great need of relief projects is some way to distinguish between worthy unfortunates and the ornery.

Counter-Attack Against Threat Made By Japan

Seek To Show Japan Folly Of "Lone-Wolf" Naval Policy At Conference

ROOSEVELT HAS GIVEN APPROVAL

United States Would Outbuild Japanese And Maintain Superiority

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—A plan of strategy designed to show Japan the folly of arbitrarily renouncing existing treaties and embarking on any lone-wolf naval policy has been worked out by Secretary of State Hull and Ambassador Norman H. Davis, America's disarmament expert.

The plan has been approved by President Roosevelt and will form the basis of the first counter-attack to be launched by the American delegation at London against any threats by Japan to discard existing treaties and seek outright naval parity with the American and British fleets.

Outbuild Japanese

One of the chief points of the plan is the implication that should Japan adopt a defiant attitude and seek parity by building as she liked, this country would maintain the superiority of existing ratios by outbuilding the Nippon empire.

Ambassador Davis will endeavor to show the Japanese delegates the unwisdom of precipirating a situation in which naval limitation treaties might be discarded altogether.

He will point out that no matter what freedom of action Japan may possess to build any kind of fleet it desires, it will be of little value unless it has relative strength. That is, unless there is some understanding concerning the size of other nations' fleets.

Without an understanding on this relative strength, Davis will cite the danger of an unrestricted naval building race in which it would be almost financially impossible for Japan to keep up with the United States and Great Britain.

Davis also will be ready to call attention to the fact that renunciation of the existing treaties by Japan would leave the United States and Britain free to construct new naval bases and fortifications in the Pacific, which would weaken further the relative strength of the Japanese fleet in its own waters.

Convinced there is little hope of achieving any real naval disarmament in the near future not only because of Japan but Great Britain as well, which considers its defenses "dangerously low," the American delegation will concentrate on seeking limitation.

It may make an opening bid for disarmament in order to keep the record clear concerning this government's stand for all-around proportionate disarmament, but behind the scenes Davis will strive for limitation either on the basis of existing treaties or on some compromise basis that will enable the Japanese to return home without "loss of face," that all-important factor in oriental diplomacy.

Time Extended For Payment Of Fine

Several Appear Before Mayor And At Station Relative To Arrests

When a young man told the mayor during police court that he had no money with which to pay a fine for alleged speeding of an auto the mayor said the police would accept his automobile as a guarantee of payment. Later the young man talked to the chief of police and the time for payment was extended.

Another young man appeared before the mayor in court and questioned the time that the auto he drove failed to obey a stop sign at Jefferson street and Wallace avenue. The time on the tag was right according to the patrolman who was one of two who made the arrest and the fine was paid.

Another young man who had been arrested for alleged speeding of a cat told the police he did not have the money, that he had a family to support and earned only $15.00 a week. He inquired if the fine could not be paid on the installment plan and was informed that was prohibited. However, the time for payment was extended.

HUNT SLAYERS
(International News Service)

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—Detroit police today were searching every known hoodlum hangout in the city for three men named as suspects in the slaying of Jimmy Hayes, wealthy chief of a Toledo gambling ring.

The body of Hayes, riddled with 26 slugs from a sawed-off shotgun, was found yesterday in an alley on the North Side.

The very idea! Senators investigating munitions speak to a millionaire as though he were an ordinary citizen.

Near Martial Law Prevails In Eastern Pennsylvania Town

SHERIFF FORBIDS PUBLIC GATHERINGS

(International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Oct. 5.—This little mill town, seat of bloody industrial conflict, was under virtual martial law today.

Proclamations, signed by Sheriff Haseltine S. Lever, were posted throughout the community and the surrounding area, forbidding public assemblages on the streets and imposing other restrictions characteristic of emergency military rule.

The sheriff's action was taken in an attempt to forestall further sanguinary battles such as the violant outbreak Wednesday during which a youthful bystander was shot and killed, an unidentified woman was seriously wounded by bullets and scores of textile strikers and sympathizers were injured by riot bludgeons and tear gas

Authorities responsible for maintaining the peace hoped that the giant woolen mill of James Lees and Sons, sorespot of the strike trouble, would remain closed. Should the owners decide to reopen the mill, further clashes are almost certain to eventuate. At a mass meeting the strikers vowed to prevent the plant from resuming operations by any means at their command.

The mill was closed yesterday while a strong undercurrent of bitterness ran through the ranks of the 1800 striking employes.

Charlotte E. Carr, Pennsylvania secretary of labor, visited both the mill owners and union leaders. She said she had been assured the owners will make no attempt to open the mill today.

Meantime, the five special sheriff's deputies, accused of riding in the automobile from which the fatal bullets poured during Wednesday's rioting, were at their homes, released on $5,000 bail each. Charged with suspicion of homicide in connection with the death of the bystander, 23-year-old Ewlood Quirk, the deputies were smuggled across the river to Norristown to evade the violence of an angry mob.

After their bond was posted they were returned to Bridgeport, then escorted by automobile to their homes.

Hunt Third Man In Kidnap Plot

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 5.—Unrelenting in their drive to clean up the attempted kidnaping of Miss Betty Bloch, 26-year-old tobacco heiress, department of justice agents today sought a third man said to have been implicated in the plot.

Two men, the agents stated, have already pleaded guilty to plotting a "snatch" of the heir to the fortunes possessed by her father, Jesse A. Bloch, and now await action of a grand jury that will meet in 10 days.

Set High Bail

Unable to furnish $100,000 bail each, the prisoners, Thurman F. Bowen and Harry Thornton, both 31, pleaded guilty when arraigned before a U. S. commissioner that they planned to kidnap Miss Bloch and hold her for $25,000 ransom.

The "snatch," according to authorities, was to have been executed when Miss Bloch attended a party in honor of her marriage Saturday to Wilmot L. Harris, formerly of Washington.

Working on a "tip," police took Bowen and Thornton into custody at Bridgeport, O. The kidnaping plans were delayed by the pair, authorities said, because they got "cold feet."

Cherchez la Femme!

Mrs. Marie McKeever

The sweetheart who was arrested with Robert Mais in Richmond, Va., at the time he was nabbed for murder of a Federal Reserve Bank guard, is being sought by police for questioning in connection with sensational escape of Mais and Walter Legenza from jail while they were awaiting execution.

Says Roosevelt Aided Bank Crisis

Joslin Charges President Refused To Co-operated With Hoover In 1933

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Criticizing President Roosevelt for allegedly failing to co-operate with Herbert Hoover during the last four months of the Hoover administration, Theodore Joslin in the November Red Book accuses the Democrats of deliberately permitting the banking crisis of 1932.

In another of his articles on "Hoover Off the Record," the former president's secretary tells of what went on in the White House just before Mr. Roosevelt's inauguration.

Calling this article "The Two Weeks That Swept the Country," Joslin writes of attempts made by Mr. Hoover to obtain Mr. Roosevelt's aid, but says "despite persistent overtures, the incoming administration was adamant."

Joslin contends that with Mr. Roosevelt helping, the bank holiday could have been averted.

Discussing information he received from a Democrat, Joslin gives this message with names deleted:

"——— had lunch with me. He said they (the Democrats) were fully aware of the banking situation, and that the system undoubtedly would collapse within a few days, which would place the responsibility in the lap of President Hoover.

"'We shouldn't worry,' he said, 'about anything excepting rehabilitation of the country after March 4. Then there will be several moves: No. 1—An embargo on the exportation of yellow chips. No. 2—Suspension of specie payments. No. 3—Reflation, if necessary after No. 1 and No. 2.'"

Joslin's conclusion is that "the meaning of the message was that so far as the incoming administration was concerned, the country was to be permitted to sink to the lowest depth so that the new administration could start from the very bottom in making its recovery efforts. That was the purpose all along."

Joslin says the retiring administration considered privately the desirability of resorting to clearing house script.

Cary Grant Takes Poison By Mistake

Movie Actor Is Recovering From Poison Tablet Taken While Intoxicated

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—Cary Grant, 30, movie star, returned to his home today from a hospital where he was given emergency treatment for poison, police detectives said, was self-administered.

His wife, pretty Virginia Cherrill, was reported to have rushed to his side immediately following his return home.

Circumstances of the case remained shrouded in mystery. Neither Grant nor Miss Cherrill would comment following Grant's initial statement to Police Surgeon C. E. Cornell:

"I had been drinking and I took one tablet of those (indicating a bottle marked poison) under a lot of stress and worry."

Darrow Defines NRA As Detriment

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Clarence Darrow had presented his own definition of the NRA today.

The NRA, Darrow said at a Chicago Bar association dinner last night, is an instrument created by "big business" to take away the only defensive weapon of small competitors—lower prices.

Some High Spots In Address By Pinchot

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 5.—Some of the pungent phrases used by Gov. Gifford Pinchot in his first political address since the primary follow:

"Just about the best fitted man to be governor in all Pennsylvania is running against just about the worst . . . there you have the campaign in a nutshell."

"This is no time to put a greenhorn playboy in charge."

"Today not a leader in either parties dares to say that he is against the Pinchot policies . . . as for the two platforms, with some exceptions, I might almost as well have written them myself."

"I think President Roosevelt is an honest man headed in the right direction . . . I think he is often deceived and hampered and harassed by the Farleys' the Guffeys and the rest of the spoilsmen and little brothers of the rich in his own party."

"You may remember that Farley made public announcement that if I came out for anybody it would be for Guffey . . . I wonder when he thinks about that now?"

"If I can't stand Guffey, I can't stand George the Third. Guffey is the other two-thirds anyhow."

House To House Repair Campaign

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 5.—About 150 canvassers are to be lined up to conduct a house-to-house survey of needs here for home renovating and modernization.

The canvassers will conduct an intensive campaign to persuade home owners to take advantage of the financing now offered, with government aid, to get necessary work done on homes and thereby stimulate employment.

The great need of relief projects is some way to distinguish between worthy unfortunates and the ornery.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

USE LIGHTS ON PULLETS WHEN PRODUCTION DROPS

When to start the use of lights on pullets is a question which bothers many Lawrence County chicken growers. The practice followed by most poultrymen allows the early pullets to reach the peak of production naturally and then when production starts to drop the lights are used.

Lights on early pullets are used only to prevent too great a drop in egg production. Many growers also start to feed a fleshing feed to their early pullets at noon each day after production drops, if their birds are a little thin in flesh.

On pullets that do not start into production until late, say November 1, lights may be used to force production. Either morning or evening lights may be used satisfactorily. Regardless of the system of lights used, be sure to provide water for the birds. Birds under lights should consume more feed both scratch and mash, than birds not getting lights.

SAVE TOMATOES BEFORE FROST FOR LATER USE

Fresh tomatoes, eggplants and peppers from the garden may be kept for a month after frost if nearly ripe fruits are selected and stored.

Tomato vines may be pulled just previous to frost and hung where they will be protected from cold or mature green tomatoes may be picked and stored in a moderately dry cellar, coldframe, or other convenient place to ripen. The best temperature is 55 degrees Fahrenheit for storage and 75 degrees for rapid ripening.

Eggplants and peppers may be stored in much the same way as tomatoes.

PREPARE IN FALL FOR FLOWERING BULBS

One of the out-standing features of the spring garden is the wealth of bloom obtained from flowering bulbs. Beginning with the winter aconite, which blooms about the middle of March in this section of the country, they pass by in gorgeous review of splendor and brilliancy, often carrying on until early summer.

Autumn is the time to prepare for this display. Most of these early blooming flowers prefer planting in September, October or early November, so that the roots may develop before the ground becomes frozen. If the planting is delayed until late November, a mulch of straw manure or leaves should be placed on top of the soil immediately after planting. This prevents the ground from freezing before the roots have developed. The mulch can be left on the ground all winter.

Nearly all of these flowers prefer a covering of strawy manure or leaves placed on the ground after it has frozen. This is especially true of those which are planted near the surface of the soil. Deeply planted bulbs can get along without this mulch, but generally benefit from its use. The main purpose of the mulch is to prevent heaving of the soil caused by alternate freezing and thawing.

In the early spring after all danger of heavy freezing is past, and after the ground has started to thaw this protective covering should be removed.

Since the average flower lover's space is limited the proper location of the various bulbous plants in the garden is often quite a problem. However, it is possible for any person, no matter how small the garden, to enjoy some of the spring flowers. Such bulbs as tulips, and hyacinths are used as bedding plants in groups in regularly laid out flower beds, to be followed later by other plants, generally annuals. Where they are used with other plants, they should be planted in masses of 25 or more of one variety. MAKE LUNCH ATTRACTIVE, APPETIZING, NOURISHING

School time brings lunch packing time again. Once or twice a week presents no problem but five times a week, for week after week, taxes the ingenuity of the mother or big sister whose duty it is to pack Buddy's or Sister's lunch box, says Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative.

Sandwiches usually are considered the staff of the lunch, but to make it attractive as well as nutritious, a lunch may contain a raw vegetable, such as tomato, celery, carrot strips, or crisp lettuce. Milk should be included in some form, such as cocoa, soup, custard or pudding. But the lunch is not complete, without fruit, fresh, canned or dried and a sweet which may be cookies, single cake, candy or stuffed dried fruit, Miss Drury reminds.

Although the food is important a good lunch is sometimes spoiled by poor containers and hasty, careless packing, Miss Drury says. A well-ventilated metal container is easy to keep clean and in good condition. While a tin pail is all right it should have holes punched in the top for ventilation.

Make the lunch box attractive when opened by drapping the sandwiches, raw vegetables, fruit and sweet separately in waxed paper. This not only keeps the food in good condition but adds an element of surprise and interest.

Juicy foods should be placed in containers with tight fitting tops. One hot dish served at the lunch hour on a cold, snappy day makes the rest of the lunch taste better. The hot dish may be prepared in school or a hot food like soup, or cocoa may be carried in a thermos bottle, Miss Drury explains.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

USE LIGHTS ON PULLETS WHEN PRODUCTION DROPS

When to start the use of lights on pullets is a question which bothers many Lawrence County chicken growers. The practice followed by most poultrymen allows the early pullets to reach the peak of production naturally and then when production starts to drop the lights are used.

Lights on early pullets are used only to prevent too great a drop in egg production. Many growers also start to feed a fleshing feed to their early pullets at noon each day after production drops, if their birds are a little thin in flesh.

On pullets that do not start into production until late, say November 1, lights may be used to force production. Either morning or evening lights may be used satisfactorily. Regardless of the system of lights used, be sure to provide water for the birds. Birds under lights should consume more feed both scratch and mash, than birds not getting lights.

SAVE TOMATOES BEFORE FROST FOR LATER USE

Fresh tomatoes, eggplants and peppers from the garden may be kept for a month after frost if nearly ripe fruits are selected and stored.

Tomato vines may be pulled just previous to frost and hung where they will be protected from cold or mature green tomatoes may be picked and stored in a moderately dry cellar, coldframe, or other convenient place to ripen. The best temperature is 55 degrees Fahrenheit for storage and 75 degrees for rapid ripening.

Eggplants and peppers may be stored in much the same way as tomatoes.

PREPARE IN FALL FOR FLOWERING BULBS

One of the out-standing features of the spring garden is the wealth of bloom obtained from flowering bulbs. Beginning with the winter acenite, which blooms about the middle of March in this section of the country, they pass by in gorgeous review of splendor and brilliancy, often carrying on until early summer.

Autumn is the time to prepare for this display. Most of these early blooming flowers prefer planting in September, October or early November, so that the roots may develop before the ground becomes frozen. If the planting is delayed until late November, a mulch of straw manure or leaves should be placed on top of the soil immediately after planting. This prevents the ground from freezing before the roots have developed. The mulch can be left on the ground all winter.

Nearly all of these flowers prefer a covering of strawy manure or leaves placed on the ground after it has frozen. This is especially true of those which are planted near the surface of the soil. Deeply planted bulbs can get along without this mulch, but generally benefit from its use. The main purpose of the mulch is to prevent heaving of the soil caused by alternate freezing and thawing.

In the early spring after all danger of heavy freezing is past, and after the ground has started to thaw this protective covering should be removed.

Since the average flower lover's space is limited the proper location of the various bulbous plants in the garden is often quite a problem. However, it is possible for any person, no matter how small the garden, to enjoy some of the spring flowers. Such bulbs as tulips, and hyacinths are used as bedding plants in groups in regularly laid out flower beds, to be followed later by other plants, generally annuals. Where they are used with other plants, they should be planted in masses of 25 or more of one variety. In fact, this recommendation can be made for nearly all of the bulbous plants when they are used in combination with other plants. Rather than planting 2 or 3 in one place, use a great number of one species, and, if possible, all of one variety.

This method gives a mass effect that is very striking. One of the best of the bulbous plants to use in the lawn is the crocus. It blooms and dies back before the grass cutting begins, and it is not harmed in any way by the lawn mower. Any of the bulbs may be used in the perennial garden. In fact, the perennial garden is greatly improved by clumps of the early bulbs scattered skillfully throughout. Many of these plants are necessary adjuncts to the rock garden. Some that are especially adapted to this use: tulips, hyacinths, snowdrops, squills, grape hyacinths, winter acenities, crocus and Chionodoxes (Glory of the Snow.)

MAKE LUNCH ATTRACTIVE, APPETIZING, NOURISHING

School time brings lunch packing time again. Once or twice a week presents no problem but five times a week, for week after week, taxes the ingenuity of the mother or big sister whose duty it is to pack Buddy's or Sister's lunch box, says Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative.

Sandwiches usually are considered the staff of the lunch, but to make it attractive as well as nutritious, a lunch may contain a raw vegetable, such as tomato, celery, carrot strips, or crisp lettuce. Milk should be included in some form, such as cocoa, soup, custard or pudding. But the lunch is not complete, without fruit, fresh, canned or dried and a sweet which may be cookies, single cake, candy or stuffed dried fruit, Miss Drury reminds.

Although the food is important a good lunch is sometimes spoiled by poor containers and hasty, careless packing, Miss Drury says. A well-ventilated metal container is easy to keep clean and in good condition. While a tin pail is all right it should have holes punched in the top for ventilation.

Make the lunch box attractive when opened by drapping the sandwiches, raw vegetables, fruit and sweet separately in waxed paper. This not only keeps the food in good condition but adds an element of surprise and interest.

Juicy foods should be placed in containers with tight fitting tops. One hot dish served at the lunch hour on a cold, snappy day makes the rest of the lunch taste better. The hot dish may be prepared in school or a hot food like soup, or cocoa may be carried in a thermos bottle, Miss Drury explains.

Counter-Attack Against Threat Made By Japan

United States Would Outbuild Japanese And Maintain Superiority

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—A plan of strategy designed to show Japan the folly of arbitrarily renouncing existing treaties and embarking on any lone-wolf naval policy has been worked out by Secretary of State Hull and Ambassador Norman H. Davis, America's disarmament expert.

The plan has been approved by President Roosevelt and will form the basis of the first counter-attack to be launched by the American delegation at London against any threats by Japan to discard existing treaties and seek outright naval parity with the American and British fleets.

Outbuild Japanese

One of the chief points of the plan is the implication that should Japan adopt a defiant attitude and seek parity by building as she liked, this country would maintain the superiority of existing ratios by outbuilding the Nippon empire.

Ambassador Davis will endeavor to show the Japanese delegates the unwisdom of precipirating a situation in which naval limitation treaties might be discarded altogether.

He will point out that no matter what freedom of action Japan may possess to build any kind of fleet it desires, it will be of little value unless it has relative strength. That is, unless there is some understanding concerning the size of other nations' fleets.

Without an understanding on this relative strength, Davis will cite the danger of an unrestricted naval building race in which it would be almost financially impossible for Japan to keep up with the United States and Great Britain.

Davis also will be ready to call attention to the fact that renunciation of the existing treaties by Japan would leave the United States and Britain free to construct new naval bases and fortifications in the Pacific, which would weaken further the relative strength of the Japanese fleet in its own waters.

Convinced there is little hope of achieving any real naval disarmament in the near future not only because of Japan but Great Britain as well, which considers its defenses "dangerously low," the American delegation will concentrate on seeking limitation.

It may make an opening bid for disarmament in order to keep the record clear concerning this government's stand for all-around proportionate disarmament, but behind the scenes Davis will strive for limitation either on the basis of existing treaties or on some compromise basis that will enable the Japanese to return home without "loss of face," that all-important factor in oriental diplomacy.

Time Extended For Payment Of Fine

Several Appear Before Mayor And At Station Relative To Arrests

When a young man told the mayor during police court that he had no money with which to pay a fine for alleged speeding of an auto the mayor said the police would accept his automobile as a guarantee of payment. Later the young man talked to the chief of police and the time for payment was extended.

Another young man appeared before the mayor in court and questioned the time that the auto he drove failed to obey a stop sign at Jefferson street and Wallace avenue. The time on the tag was right according to the patrolman who was one of two who made the arrest and the fine was paid.

Another young man who had been arrested for alleged speeding of a cat told the police he did not have the money, that he had a family to support and earned only $15.00 a week. He inquired if the fine could not be paid on the installment plan and was informed that was prohibited. However, the time for payment was extended.

Lunchroom Proprietor Alleges He Started Fire; Defendant Denies Charge

After a fire broke out in the lavatory of the Marathon lunch and Cliff Love pulled the fire alarm at 2:30 a. m. today the proprietor, Frank Hernes, requested Patrolman Fleeger to arrest Love. In police court Hernes blamed Love for starting the fire. The mayor discharged Love after informing the proprietor of the lunch room that if he desired to prosecute Love he should swear to the alleged offense before an alderman. The proprietor said he would be satisfied if Love remained out of his way. Love denied the allegation.

Demonstration Day Planned At Slippery Rock

State Authority On Primary Work Will Head Group Of Speakers

MANY VISITORS ARE EXPECTED

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 5.—Miss Tressie Yeager, authority on primary and kindergarten work from the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg, will head a group of notable speakers at the first annual demonstration day to be sponsored by the training school of the local Teachers' college, October 13.

The demonstration day, with a complete program and several conferences, will be held in the morning in conjunction with the homecoming day and alumni rally which will feature the date Grove City and Slippery Rock play football here. Plans were being made by Dr. L. H. Wagenhorst of the training school to care for five hundred teachers as visitors to the elementary and high school buildings on that morning. This number is looked for in addition to the fifteen hundred alumni expected to gather from all points of the district for the homecoming festivities.

The program as outlined by the committee includes reunions and class luncheons at noon, the ball game at 2 o'clock, and a roast ox dinner on the campus for all, following the football game. A dance in both gymnasiums will get under way at 8:30 in the evening, a movie in the chapel with bowling and a complete program at the men's hut will round out the program.

Student leaders have announced that they will begin activities on the Friday evening preceding with a giant rally on the campus. Several old alumni as well as two noted coaches of the district will be on hand for a "pep" talk, while the parade will be featured by the college band and the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps.

Dr. Charles S. Miller announced today that a special seating arrangement at the college athletic field would find 2,000 temporary bleachers being built for the game.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., 20 arrests on charges as follows: Failure to obey stop signs 2, exceeding speed limit 4, violation of parking limit 5, violation of traffic regulations 6, drunkenness and disorderly conduct 1 and disorderly conduct 2.

One colored man is happy because there is such a thing as a fingerprint system. Otherwise he might have been held on a charge of murder. The chap was taken into custody here on suspicion of being a man wanted for the killing of his wife. In everything but two particulars he compared almost exactly to the actual slayer. His fingerprints differed and there was another tell-tale. His upper lip turned upward while the killer's turned downward. "Ise glad yuh done finger-printed me," he told Chief of Detectives, Willis McMullen.

During the past few days there have been quite a few unemployed men to be found at the corner of the City building at East street. They have been intent on finding employment. It was expected that the city projects would get under way yesterday. Such did not occur.

During the past week there has been an increase in the number of permits granted for building construction. Practically all of the permits granted were for remodeling.

Mayor Mayne remarked yesterday that this is the only city in the United States as far as he knows where the banks cashed city negotiable paper at face value which is very complimentary to the local banks.

Voters will name a mayor and two councilmen next year. Terms of Mayor Mayne and Councilman Davies and Hoyland expire. The holdovers will be Councilmen Alexander and Butler.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

USE LIGHTS ON PULLETS WHEN PRODUCTION DROPS

When to start the use of lights on pullets is a question which bothers many Lawrence County chicken growers. The practice followed by most poultrymen allows the early pullets to reach the peak of production naturally and then when production starts to drop the lights are used.

Lights on early pullets are used only to prevent too great a drop in egg production. Many growers also start to feed a fleshing feed to their early pullets at noon each day after production drops, if their birds are a little thin in flesh.

On pullets that do not start into production until late, say November 1, lights may be used to force production. Either morning or evening lights may be used satisfactorily. Regardless of the system of lights used, be sure to provide water for the birds. Birds under lights should consume more feed both scratch and mash, than birds not getting lights.

SAVE TOMATOES BEFORE FROST FOR LATER USE

Fresh tomatoes, eggplants and peppers from the garden may be kept for a month after frost if nearly ripe fruits are selected and stored.

Tomato vines may be pulled just previous to frost and hung where they will be protected from cold or mature green tomatoes may be picked and stored in a moderately dry cellar, coldframe, or other convenient place to ripen. The best temperature is 55 degrees Fahrenheit for storage and 75 degrees for rapid ripening.

Eggplants and peppers may be stored in much the same way as tomatoes.

PREPARE IN FALL FOR FLOWERING BULBS

One of the out-standing features of the spring garden is the wealth of bloom obtained from flowering bulbs. Beginning with the winter aconite, which blooms about the middle of March in this section of the country, they pass by in gorgeous review of splendor and brilliancy, often carrying on until early summer.

Autumn is the time to prepare for this display. Most of these early blooming flowers prefer planting in September, October or early November, so that the roots may develop before the ground becomes frozen. If the planting is delayed until late November, a mulch of straw manure or leaves should be placed on top of the soil immediately after planting. This prevents the ground from freezing before the roots have developed. The mulch can be left on the ground all winter.

Nearly all of these flowers prefer a covering of strawy manure or leaves placed on the ground after it has frozen. This is especially true of those which are planted near the surface of the soil. Deeply planted bulbs can get along without this mulch, but generally benefit from its use. The main purpose of the mulch is to prevent heaving of the soil caused by alternate freezing and thawing.

In the early spring after all danger of heavy freezing is past, and after the ground has started to thaw this protective covering should be removed.

Since the average flower lover's space is limited the proper location of the various bulbous plants in the garden is often quite a problem. However, it is possible for any person, no matter how small the garden, to enjoy some of the spring flowers. Such bulbs as tulips, and hyacinths are used as bedding plants in groups in regularly laid out flower beds, to be followed later by other plants, generally annuals. Where they are used with other plants, they should be planted in masses of 25 or more of one variety. In fact, this recommendation can be made for nearly all of the bulbous plants when they are used in combination with other plants. Rather than planting 2 or 3 in one place, use a great number of one species, and, if possible, all of one variety.

This method gives a mass effect that is very striking. One of the best of the bulbous plants to use in the lawn is the crocus. It blooms and dies back before the grass cutting begins, and it is not harmed in any way by the lawn mower. Any of the bulbs may be used in the perennial garden. In fact, the perennial garden is greatly improved by clumps of the early bulbs scattered skillfully throughout. Many of these plants are necessary adjuncts to the rock garden. Some that are especially adapted to this use: tulips, hyacinths, snowdrops, squills, grape hyacinths, winter acenitles, crocus and Chionodoxes (Glory of the Snow.)

MAKE LUNCH ATTRACTIVE, APPETIZING, NOURISHING

School time brings lunch packing time again. Once or twice a week presents no problem but five times a week, for week after week, taxes the ingenuity of the mother or big sister whose duty it is to pack Buddy's or Sister's lunch box, says Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative.

Sandwiches usually are considered the staff of the lunch, but to make it attractive as well as nutritious, a lunch may contain a raw vegetable, such as tomato, celery, carrot strips, or crisp lettuce. Milk should be included in some form, such as cocoa, soup, custard or pudding. But the lunch is not complete, without fruit, fresh, canned or dried and a sweet which may be cookies, single cake, candy or stuffed dried fruit, Miss Drury reminds.

Although the food is important a good lunch is sometimes spoiled by poor containers and hasty, careless packing, Miss Drury says. A well-ventilated metal container is easy to keep clean and in good condition. While a tin pail is all right it should have holes punched in the top for ventilation.

Make the lunch box attractive when opened by drapping the sandwiches, raw vegetables, fruit and sweet separately in waxed paper. This not only keeps the food in good condition but adds an element of surprise and interest.

Juicy foods should be placed in containers with tight fitting tops. One hot dish served at the lunch hour on a cold, snappy day makes the rest of the lunch taste better. The hot dish may be prepared in school or a hot food like soup, or cocoa may be carried in a thermos bottle, Miss Drury explains.

Would Make Change In Jury System

Major Adams Thinks If Nine Agree A Verdict Should Be Rendered

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Conviction or acquittal of criminals on agreement of nine jurors instead of by a unanimous verdict of 12 is the suggestion of Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police, for speeding up court trials.

"Such a procedure would eliminate many of the hung juries," Major Adams believes, "and would thus eliminate the necessity of a retrial. Ordinarily, the verdict of nine members would be no different from that of 12 members but it could be reached in less time."

Major Adams also pointed out that appellate courts are available for reviewing criminal cases and that it is their duty to remand cases in which a verdict has been reached that cannot be supported by evidence.

Capital cases, in which a death penalty is a potential verdict, should not be included in the changed procedure he advocates, Major Adams said. In those cases, the police head is convinced the jury should come to an unanimous verdict.

Concluding his argument for a nine-vote majority verdict, Major Adams pointed out:

"In almost any group of 12 persons there is one with prejudices who is hard to win over to any verdict."

Verdict Secured By Rose Point People Sustained

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 5.—Refusal to set aside a $2,500 verdict in a damage suit growing out of an automobile collision near the Campbell farm on the Butler-Slippery Rock road, was contained in a decision handed down Thursday by Judge John H. Wilson in the case of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson, of Rose Point against A. J. Diebold, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

Johnson, accompanied by his wife, was driving northward last October 27, when the machine driven in the same direction by Diebold collided with the rear of the Johnson car, overturning it and causing both occupants to be seriously injured. The Johnson machine also was demolished.

The jury awarded Johnson $1,350 for personal injuries and damages to his machine and Mrs. Johnson $1,150 for injuries sustained by her. Neither was a new trial granted by the court.

Judge In Favor Of The Whipping Post

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 5.—If Judge Albert Dutton McDade of the Delaware county court was given his way, the whipping post would be restored.

In sentencing two confessed bandits, the juror advocated the whipping post as a better deterrant of crime than prison. He said:

"I hope to see that form of punishment authorized by the next legislature. I'd like to see it applied in the Eastern penitentiary, as well as in the county jails."

The failure has one good point. He isn't so eager to have you realize how smart he is.

"My housework is easier since I've used Chipso"

SAYS MOTHER OF SIX YOUNG CHILDREN

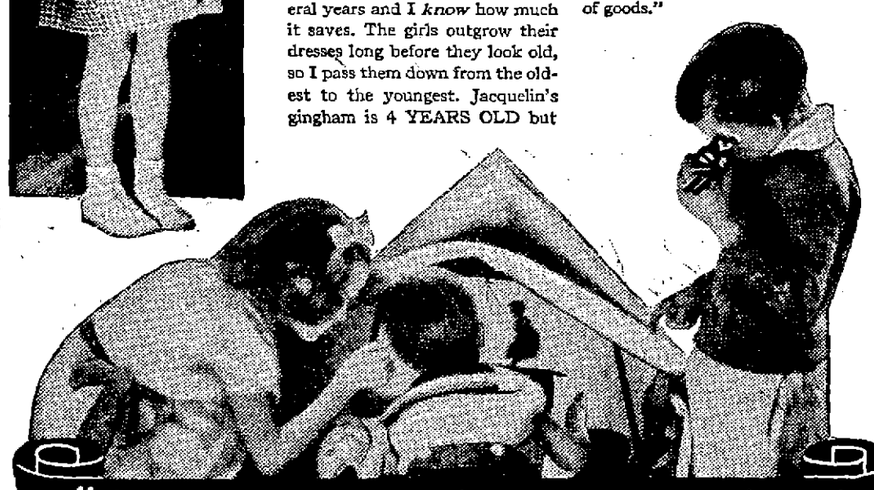

"Not worn out on washday"

"Chipso SOAKS my clothes clean," says Mrs. Thomas W. O'Connell of Cincinnati, Ohio, whom you see here with her gifted children, Patricia, Geraldine, Jacquelin, Tom Junior, Jimmie and Ed. Three boys and three girls all under thirteen years old! "You can imagine how many pieces we have in the wash every week," Mrs. O'Connell says, "and you can be sure a good many of them are very dirty. But really, with Chipso, my washdays aren't hard. Chipso makes wonderful suds for loosening dirt. I don't have hard rubbing to do even on the boys' roughest play-clothes."

"Not worried about clothes fading"

"Chipso is safe for everything. I've used it now for several years and I know how much it saves. The girls outgrow their dresses long before they look old, so I pass them down from the oldest to the youngest. Jacquelin's gingham is 4 YEARS OLD but the colors are still so bright and clear that it looks like a new piece of goods."

"Not swamped with mending"

"My children's clothes wear wonderfully well. Rubless Chipso washdays not only save my strength; they save the clothes. They keep materials strong longer. For instance, I don't have to scrub the knees of the boys' pants threadbare. Buttons stay on. Sheer dresses like Geraldine's aren't pulled and frayed. Her dress has been washed once a week for TWO SUMMERS and still looks new. I wash the boys' sweaters with Chipso, too, and they never shrink, but stay nice and soft."

NOTE: Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" substances which cause inferior soaps to weaken fabrics and gradually dull their color. Chipso loosens dirt harmlessly with RICHER SUDS. IT IS SOAPIER. That is why your Chipso-washed clothes stay bright and new-looking for years of wear.

"Dishwashing easier"

"My hands are smooth. They don't look as if I washed dozens and dozens of dishes every day . . . Chipso is so rich and sudsy that it makes grease disappear like magic, but it doesn't dry out my hands."

Your big box of Chipso at its low price does a lot of work because Chipso makes rich suds that don't flatten out Get Chipso from your grocer.

Would Make Change In Jury System

Major Adams Thinks If Nine Agree A Verdict Should Be Rendered

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Conviction or acquittal of criminals on agreement of nine jurors instead of by a unanimous verdict of 12 is the suggestion of Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police, for speeding up court trials.

"Such a procedure would eliminate many of the hung juries," Major Adams believes, "and would thus eliminate the necessity of a retrial. Ordinarily, the verdict of nine members would be no different from that of 12 members but it could be reached in less time."

Major Adams also pointed out that appellate courts are available for reviewing criminal cases and that it is their duty to remand cases in which a verdict has been reached that cannot be supported by evidence.

Capital cases, in which a death penalty is a potential verdict, should not be included in the changed procedure he advocates, Major Adams said. In those cases, the police head is convinced the jury should come to an unanimous verdict.

Concluding his argument for a nine-vote majority verdict, Major Adams pointed out:

"In almost any group of 12 persons there is one with prejudices who is hard to win over to any verdict."

Verdict Secured By Rose Point People Sustained

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 5.—Refusal to set aside a $2,500 verdict in a damage suit growing out of an automobile collision near the Campbell farm on the Butler-Slippery Rock road, was contained in a decision handed down Thursday by Judge John H. Wilson in the case of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson, of Rose Point against A. J. Diebold, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

Johnson, accompanied by his wife, was driving northward last October 27, when the machine driven in the same direction by Diebold collided with the rear of the Johnson car, overturning it and causing both occupants to be seriously injured. The Johnson machine also was demolished.

The jury awarded Johnson $1,350 for personal injuries and damages to his machine and Mrs. Johnson $1,150 for injuries sustained by her. Neither was a new trial granted by the court.

Judge In Favor Of The Whipping Post

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 5.—If Judge Albert Dutton McDade of the Delaware county court was given his way, the whipping post would be restored.

In sentencing two confessed bandits, the juror advocated the whipping post as a better deterrant of crime than prison. He said:

"I hope to see that form of punishment authorized by the next legislature. I'd like to see it applied in the Eastern penitentiary, as well as in the county jails."

The failure has one good point. He isn't so eager to have you realize how smart he is.

Home Coming At Church Is Planned

"My housework is easier since I've used Chipso"

SAYS MOTHER OF SIX YOUNG CHILDREN

"Not worn out on washday"

"Chipso SOAKS my clothes clean," says Mrs. Thomas W. O'Connell of Cincinnati, Ohio, whom you see here with her gifted children, Patricia, Geraldine, Jacquelin, Tom Junior, Jimmie and Ed. Three boys and three girls all under thirteen years old! "You can imagine how many pieces we have in the wash every week," Mrs. O'Connell says, "and you can be sure a good many of them are very dirty. But really, with Chipso, my washdays aren't hard. Chipso makes wonderful suds for loosening dirt. I don't have hard rubbing to do even on the boys' roughest play-clothes."

"Not worried about clothes fading"

"Chipso is safe for everything. I've used it now for several years and I know how much it saves. The girls outgrow their dresses long before they look old, so I pass them down from the oldest to the youngest. Jacquelin's gingham is 4 YEARS OLD but the colors are still so bright and clear that it looks like a new piece of goods."

"Not swamped with mending"

"My children's clothes wear wonderfully well. Rubless Chipso washdays not only save my strength; they save the clothes. They keep materials strong longer. For instance, I don't have to scrub the knees of the boys' pants threadbare. Buttons stay on. Sheer dresses like Geraldine's aren't pulled and frayed. Her dress has been washed once a week for TWO SUMMERS and still looks new. I wash the boys' sweaters with Chipso, too, and they never shrink, but stay nice and soft."

NOTE: Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" substances which cause inferior soaps to weaken fabrics and gradually dull their color. Chipso loosens dirt harmlessly with RICHER SUDS. IT IS SOAPIER. That is why your Chipso-washed clothes stay bright and new-looking for years of wear.

"Dishwashing easier"

"My hands are smooth. They don't look as if I washed dozens and dozens of dishes every day . . . Chipso is so rich and sudsy that it makes grease disappear like magic, but it doesn't dry out my hands."

Your big box of Chipso at its low price does a lot of work because Chipso makes rich suds that don't flatten out Get Chipso from your grocer.

Demonstration Day Planned At Slippery Rock

State Authority On Primary Work Will Head Group Of Speakers

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 5.—Miss Tressie Yeager, authority on primary and kindergarten work from the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg, will head a group of notable speakers at the first annual demonstration day to be sponsored by the training school of the local Teachers' college, October 13.

The demonstration day, with a complete program and several conferences, will be held in the morning in conjunction with the homecoming day and alumni rally which will feature the date Grove City and Slippery Rock play football here. Plans were being made by Dr. L. H. Wagenhorst of the training school to care for five hundred teachers as visitors to the elementary and high school buildings on that morning. This number is looked for in addition to the fifteen hundred alumni expected to gather from all points of the district for the homecoming festivities.

The program as outlined by the committee includes reunions and class luncheons at noon, the ball game at 2 o'clock, and a roast ox dinner on the campus for all, following the football game. A dance in both gymnasiums will get under way at 8:30 in the evening, a movie in the chapel with bowling and a complete program at the men's hut will round out the program.

Student leaders have announced that they will begin activities on the Friday evening preceding with a giant rally on the campus. Several old alumni as well as two noted coaches of the district will be on hand for a "pep" talk, while the parade will be featured by the college band and the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps.

Dr. Charles S. Miller announced today that a special seating arrangement at the college athletic field would find 2,000 temporary bleachers being built for the game.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., 20 arrests on charges as follows: Failure to obey stop signs 2, exceeding speed limit 4, violation of parking limit 5, violation of traffic regulations 6, drunkenness and disorderly conduct 1 and disorderly conduct 2.

One colored man is happy because there is such a thing as a finger-print system. Otherwise he might have been held on a charge of murder. The chap was taken into custody here on suspicion of being a man wanted for the killing of his wife. In everything but two particulars he compared almost exactly to the actual slayer. His fingerprints differed and there was another tell-tale. His upper lip turned upward while the killer's turned downward. "Ise glad yuh done finger-printed me," he told Chief of Detectives, Willis McMullen.

During the past few days there have been quite a few unemployed men to be found at the corner of the City building at East street. They have been intent on finding employment. It was expected that the city projects would get under way yesterday. Such did not occur.

During the past week there has been an increase in the number of permits granted for building construction. Practically all of the permits granted were for remodeling.

Mayor Mayne remarked yesterday that this is the only city in the United States as far as he knows where the banks cashed city negotiable paper at face value which is very complimentary to the local banks.

Voters will name a mayor and two councilmen next year. Terms of Mayor Mayne and Councilman Davies and Hoyland expire. The holdovers will be Councilmen Alexander and Butler.

Searched For Buddy's Mother 19 Years To Return Watch

(International News Service)

ALLENSTEIN, Germany—A little old widow rocks to and fro as she gazes upon a battered silver watch upon the table.

Going into the shadows the ticking comforts her.

It is the watch of her son who fell May 12, 1915, in battle. A buddy searched for her 19 years and delivered it.

Josephine Kochanek is the widow's name. Her boy's name was Josef. The buddy's name is Wilhelm Denstedt from Niederrossla in Thuringia.

Wilhelm and Josef joined up shortly after the declaration of war and were hurled first against the Russians in the East, then whirled back to the western front. Back to carnage. Back to death for one of them.

Josef's number went up in mid-May and he died in his buddy's arms. Throughout the remainder of the losing struggle against the western powers Wilhelm was shuttled from one front to the other, but with him went his buddy's big watch and it's ticking. Engraved on the watch case was the name of a pal engraved in Wilhelm's heart.

The war over, Wilhelm started the weary searching for Josef's parents. Thousands of letters were written to various police departments in Germany where all Germans must register their addresses.

It was not until this year that Wilhelm located the family, solely represented by the little old widow.

He journeyed here and wound up a trust of 19 years' standing, delivering the watch and the message entrusted to him by Josef in his death rattle.

So a little old widow rocks to and fro gazing alternately at the big silver watch then out the window toward a sunset.

Wife Is Fined For Using Her Husband's Car

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Charged with taking her husband's automobile without his consent, Mrs. Ena May Henderson, wife of a Cambridge lawyer, pleaded guilty. She was fined $10. Her driving license was suspended for 12 months, and in addition a $25 fine was imposed for not having an insurance policy.

Magnus Charles Henderson, her husband, told the magistrate that he had parked his automobile outside of a restaurant while he lunched. When he returned the car was missing.

"I immediately informed the police," Henderson said, "and later I was informed that a woman driving a car had been detained by them. That woman was my wife.

"I did not give her any authority to take the car. Even if she had asked me I would have refused her. I have repeatedly asked her not to drive my car.

"I should, however, like to say this—that if I had known it was my wife I should not have been so anxious about the car. I acted rather in the heat of the moment."

"It helps out," Smith declared, "the customers like the music and it helps to pass the time. We play both popular and classical selections.

SCORPION BABES EAT MOTHER FOR FOOD

(International News Service)

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 5.—A mother who allows her babies to eat her, and apparently enjoys the slow death, has been found by University of Arizona scientists.

Believed to have been the first time that one has ever been taken alive with her offspring only a few hours old, a female scorpion is demonstrating in a campus laboratory here just how the cannibalism process works.

The babies, numbering about three dozen, cling tightly to the mother's back. Whenever it's nursing time, they simply nibble at her flesh. Occasionally, a youngster falls off and, unable to climb back, dies.

The mother is virtually a skeleton. Although noticeably weak, she holds her tail-like stinger erect ready to pierce the poisonous needle into anything that might disturb her infants.

Searched For Buddy's Mother 19 Years To Return Watch

(International News Service)

ALLENSTEIN, Germany—A little old widow rocks to and fro as she gazes upon a battered silver watch upon the table.

Going into the shadows the ticking comforts her.

It is the watch of her son who fell May 12, 1915, in battle. A buddy searched for her 19 years and delivered it.

Josephine Kochanek is the widow's name. Her boy's name was Josef. The buddy's name is Wilhelm Denstedt from Niederrossla in Thuringia.

Wilhelm and Josef joined up shortly after the declaration of war and were hurled first against the Russians in the East, then whirled back to the western front. Back to carnage. Back to death for one of them.

Josef's number went up in mid-May and he died in his buddy's arms. Throughout the remainder of the losing struggle against the western powers Wilhelm was shuttled from one front to the other, but with him went his buddy's big watch and it's ticking. Engraved on the watch case was the name of a pal engraved in Wilhelm's heart.

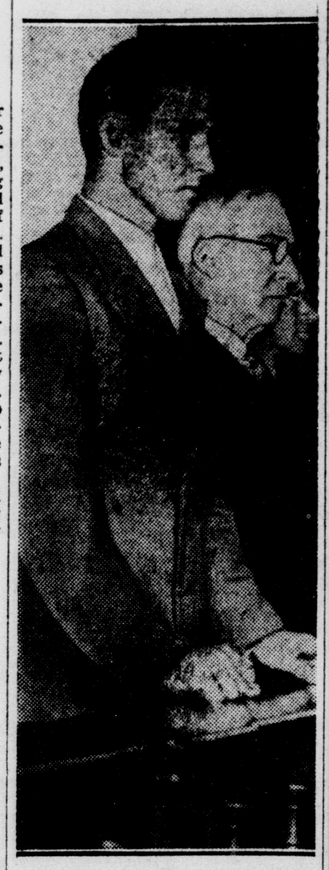

The war over, Wilhelm started the weary searching for Josef's parents. Thousands of letters were written to various police departments in Germany where all Germans must register their addresses.

It was not until this year that Wilhelm located the family, solely represented by the little old widow.

He journeyed here and wound up a trust of 19 years' standing, delivering the watch and the message entrusted to him by Josef in his death rattle.

So a little old widow rocks to and fro gazing alternately at the big silver watch then out the window toward a sunset.

Would Make Change In Jury System

Major Adams Thinks If Nine Agree A Verdict Should Be Rendered

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Conviction or acquittal of criminals on agreement of nine jurors instead of by a unanimous verdict of 12 is the suggestion of Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police, for speeding up court trials.

"Such a procedure would eliminate many of the hung juries," Major Adams believes, "and would thus eliminate the necessity of a retrial. Ordinarily, the verdict of nine members would be no different from that of 12 members but it could be reached in less time."

Major Adams also pointed out that appellate courts are available for reviewing criminal cases and that it is their duty to remand cases in which a verdict has been reached that cannot be supported by evidence.

Capital cases, in which a death penalty is a potential verdict, should not be included in the changed procedure he advocates, Major Adams said. In those cases, the police head is convinced the jury should come to an unanimous verdict.

Concluding his argument for a nine-vote majority verdict, Major Adams pointed out:

"In almost any group of 12 persons there is one with prejudices who is hard to win over to any verdict."

Verdict Secured By Rose Point People Sustained

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 5.—Refusal to set aside a $2,500 verdict in a damage suit growing out of an automobile collision near the Campbell farm on the Butler-Slippery Rock road, was contained in a decision handed down Thursday by Judge John H. Wilson in the case of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson, of Rose Point against A. J. Diebold, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

Johnson, accompanied by his wife, was driving northward last October 27, when the machine driven in the same direction by Diebold collided with the rear of the Johnson car, overturning it and causing both occupants to be seriously injured. The Johnson machine also was demolished.

The jury awarded Johnson $1,350 for personal injuries and damages to his machine and Mrs. Johnson $1,150 for injuries sustained by her. Neither was a new trial granted by the court.

DR. DAMBROSCH AT FOUNDERS DAY AT W. & J. NOVEMBER 10

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Dr. Walter J. Damrosch, distinguished leader of music in America, will be the speaker at the annual Founders' Day exercises to be held at Washington and Jefferson college here on November tenth. Preceding the address Dr. Damrosch will be awarded an honorary degree by the college.

Dr. Damrosch has a deep interest in Washington and Jefferson college in that Mrs. Damrosch was Margaret Blaine, daughter of James G. Blaine, famous alumnus of the college. Members of the Blaine family are expected to be present at the exercises, which in all probability will be a special Blaine memorial day.

Messiah To Be Sung By Choir

The Messiah will be given by the chorus choir of the First Methodist church during the Christmas season. It has been the custom of this choir to produce the Messiah every three years. The director will welcome any singers who might wish to join the choir members in singing this famous oratorio. The rehearsals are held each Friday evening in the auditorium of the church.

Judge In Favor Of The Whipping Post

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 5.—If Judge Albert Dutton McDade of the Delaware county court was given his way, the whipping post would be restored.

In sentencing two confessed bandits, the juror advocated the whipping post as a better deterrant of crime than prison. He said:

"I hope to see that form of punishment authorized by the next legislature. I'd like to see it applied in the Eastern penitentiary, as well as in the county jails."

The failure has one good point. He isn't so eager to have you realize how smart he is.

New national motto: In unions there is strength.

Home Coming At Church Is Planned

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 5.—Rev. J. H. McCormick today announced plans for the annual homecoming day of the First United Presbyterian church on October 14. The date follows that of the alumni homecoming at the local college on October 13.

"My housework is easier since I've used Chipso"

SAYS MOTHER OF SIX YOUNG CHILDREN

"Not worn out on washday"

"Chipso SOAKS my clothes clean," says Mrs. Thomas W. O'Connell of Cincinnati, Ohio, whom you see here with her gifted children, Patricia, Geraldine, Jacquelin, Tom Junior, Jimmie and Ed. Three boys and three girls all under thirteen years old! "You can imagine how many pieces we have in the wash every week," Mrs. O'Connell says, "and you can be sure a good many of them are very dirty. But really, with Chipso, my washdays aren't hard. Chipso makes wonderful suds for loosening dirt. I don't have hard rubbing to do even on the boys' roughest play-clothes."

"Not worried about clothes fading"

"Chipso is safe for everything. I've used it now for several years and I know how much it saves. The girls outgrow their dresses long before they look old, so I pass them down from the oldest to the youngest. Jacquelin's gingham is 4 YEARS OLD but the colors are still so bright and clear that it looks like a new piece of goods."

"Not swamped with mending"

"My children's clothes wear wonderfully well. Rubless Chipso washdays not only save my strength; they save the clothes. They keep materials strong longer. For instance, I don't have to scrub the knees of the boys' pants threadbare. Buttons stay on. Sheer dresses like Geraldine's aren't pulled and frayed. Her dress has been washed once a week for TWO SUMMERS and still looks new. I wash the boys' sweaters with Chipso, too, and they never shrink, but stay nice and soft."

NOTE: Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" substances which cause inferior soaps to weaken fabrics and gradually dull their color. Chipso loosens dirt harmlessly with RICHER SUDS. IT IS SOAPIER. That is why your Chipso-washed clothes stay bright and new-looking for years of wear.

"Dishwashing easier"

"My hands are smooth. They don't look as if I washed dozens and dozens of dishes every day . . . Chipso is so rich and sudsy that it makes grease disappear like magic, but it doesn't dry out my hands."

Your big box of Chipso at its low price does a lot of work because Chipso makes rich suds that don't flatten out Get Chipso from your grocer.

Upon the order of Attorney General David T. Wilentz, of New Jersey, the Hunterdon county, (N. J.) grand jury was called to meet on Monday to consider the Lindbergh case.

It is regarded as likely that the grand jury will indict Hauptmann for kidnaping and murder. Hauptmann, now in the Bronx county jail, New York, is already under indictment in New York on the charge of extortion. In Hauptmann's garage $14,590 of the $50,000 ransom money was found.

Why Canadian Fathers Worry!

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—With the Dionne quintuplets still thriving in their Ontario home, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has produced figures showing Canada today enjoys the distinction of a remarkable record for multiple births.

In the period from 1926 to 1932—seven years—20,497 twins were born in a total of 1,690,032 confinements in a country with a population of but 10,500,000 persons. The proportion of twins was one in 82.5. Two hundred and three triplets were born in the same period.

There was one quadruplet birth in 1931, but all four little girls died within a few hours. In 1923, however, quadruplets were born in New Brunswick and all are still alive.

Has 26,562 Sq. Mi. To Cover In Race For Congress Seat

(International News Service)

DODGE CITY, Kan., Oct. 5.—When a candidate for congress starts out on a campaign tour in this section of the country he kisses his family goodbye and prepares for a lengthy absence.

Whereas in Brooklyn, N. Y., a congressional candidate can drive around his district in 20 minutes, L. E. Webb, Democratic nominee for congress from the seventh Kansas district, is canvassing a territory of 32 counties with an area of 26,562 square miles into which the states of Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland would almost fit.

From the western to the eastern edge of the territory Webb must travel 257 miles, and the journey north and south is 121 miles, or nearly a third of the state.

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5—Assailing the National Economy Act as unjust to veterans, United States Senator Patrick A. McCarran, of Nevada, today assured the Veterans of Foreign Wars he will continue to fight for restoration of "rightful" compensation to ex-service men.

McCarran's address preceded virtually certain re-election of James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, Pa., as national commander of the V. F. W. Van Zandt was renominated without opposition yesterday.

Fights impended over other offices.

VANDERBILT JUDGE BARS PUBLIC

LADY MILFORD-HAVEN MARIA CAILLOT

Sensational testimony by Maria Caillot, right, former Vanderbilt maid, concerning Lady Milford-Haven, left, titled Englishwoman, and Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, resulted in an order for private hearings by Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew in New York City. The public and press was barred from the courtroom where Mrs. Vanderbilt sought to regain custody of her 10-year-old daughter, Gloria, heiress, as witnesses alleged neglect of the child who now is in care of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, her aunt.

AIR MAIL LAW IS DENOUNCED

Airplane Company Heads Denounce Black-McKellar Law

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Black-McKellar air mail law was denounced by two airline company heads before President Roosevelt's aviation commission today.

"There is little question in our minds that the present airmail act is unfair, contradictory and discriminatory in its provisions," said C. B. Monro, president of the Pennsylvania Airlines and Transport company. "Its effect is purely destructive. Consequently we believe that new legislation must be enacted if the present demoralization of the air transport industry is to give way to stabilization and permanency."

Doubt that the nation's commercial airlines will continue to operate unless the present law is changed was expressed by Lester D. Seymour, president of American Airlines, Inc.

Punch To Chin Broke His Leg

(International News Service)

EDMONTON, Alberta—Here is one for your note book. Joseph Andrew Clarke, former mayor of Edmonton, took a punch to the chin once, but it broke his leg.

Back in 1898, Clarke, noted gold prospector, lawyer and sportsman, was matched with "Kid" Owens, a member of the old North West Mounted police in the Yukon. Said Clarke:

"I had my feet crossed in the first round when Owens connected with my jaw. He didn't hurt my jaw, but my ankle snapped when I went down."

LIKED JAIL SO WELL HE REFUSED T OLEAVE

(International News Service)

BARNSTABLE, Mass., Oct. 5.—An incident without precedent in the records of the Barnstable house of correction occurred when Lawrence Butler, 46, who was working out a fifty dollar fine for drunken driving, refused to leave the jail after his aged father offered to pay his fine.

The younger Butler said that he didn't want to leave the gang and that he enjoyed the work assigned to him.

"I'll go home when I'm ready. I'm not taking orders from my family," said the younger Butler.

CARRY ICE CREAM FROM U. S. TO EUROPE

(International News Service)

GLASGOW Oct. 5—It was a tough job a few years ago to carry a box of ice cream around the block, but Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor brought five gallons of it to Glasgow from their home in Lowell, Mass.

When they arrived at their destination the delicacy was just as firm as when packed.

The ice cream was a gift to Miss Janat Taylor, who was impressed by ice cream which is a rarity in Scotland while on a trip there last summer.

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School Of Agriculture

Cattle testing starts—Testing of cattle for Bang's disease under the Federal emergency appropriation has been started in 22 states including Pennsylvania. Bang's disease also is known as contagious abortion. It may be detected by the agglutination test in which a special test fluid, or antigen, is added to a small quantity of blood serum from the animal under test.

Control orchard pests—One of the best ways of controlling rodents in the orchard is through use of poison baits. Starch-coated wheat is treated with strychnine and then is placed in the runways or burrows of the mice. One quart of poisoned wheat is sufficient to provide two applications of one teaspoonful each for 50 trees.

Thresh timothy seed—With timothy seed selling at a high price and a shortage in prospect by the time of spring seeding, it may be profitable to thresh a mow of late-cut timothy for seed. Only timothy crops free from other grasses and weeds should be threshed, although most other seeds are easily screened and blown from timothy seed with proper seed-cleaning equipment.

Barley is satisfactory—Barley can be used to make up from one-quarter to one-third of the scratch grain ration for chickens. When barley is used oats should be omitted. It is best to add the barley to the scratch mixture while the birds still are on range.

Store honey carefully—The standard shipping case for 24 sections makes an ideal container for storing comb honey. The honey should be stored in a dry place with as uniform temperature as possible. Honey stored in a dry place may improve in quality.

Pease and his dog, who arrived here recently with 30 tons of equipment will probably spend about three years north of the Arctic circle. Pease has undertaken the project because he is seeking adventure.

C. M. Sullivan, of Lock Haven, was re-elected secretary-treasurer for the twelfth consecutive term.

Ignores Summons To Jury Duty On Religious Ground

(International News Service)

LEHIGHTON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Religious views were advanced by Howard Deppe, of Lehighton, as justification of his refusal to serve as a juror for the October term of court.

Deppe, in returning his notification card to the sheriff, wrote in part:

"Any man who has anything to do with the law in the present days defiles himself.

"I never condemn individuals, but to condemn systems. I will not serve as a juror neither will I make my appearance at the courthouse, regardless of any consequence. I will absolutely not defile myself nor get my hands dirty by assisting the law in any way.

"I will not exalt nor put down nor judge according to the flesh, and absolutely will not appear even if hell should boil over tomorrow."

DODGE CITY, Kan., Oct. 5.—When a candidate for congress starts out on a campaign tour in this section of the country he kisses his family goodbye and prepares for a lengthy absence.

Whereas in Brooklyn, N. Y., a congressional candidate can drive around his district in 20 minutes, L. E. Webb, Democratic nominee for congress from the seventh Kansas district, is canvassing a territory of 32 counties with an area of 26,562 square miles into which the states of Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland would almost fit.

From the western to the eastern edge of the territory Webb must travel 257 miles, and the journey north and south is 121 miles, or nearly a third of the state.

Fights impended over other offices.

AIR MAIL LAW IS DENOUNCED

Airplane Company Heads Denounce Black-McKellar Law

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Black-McKellar air mail law was denounced by two airline company heads before President Roosevelt's aviation commission today.

"There is little question in our minds that the present airmail act is unfair, contradictory and discriminatory in its provisions," said C. B. Monro, president of the Pennsylvania Airlines and Transport company. "Its effect is purely destructive. Consequently we believe that new legislation must be enacted if the present demoralization of the air transport industry is to give way to stabilization and permanency."

Doubt that the nation's commercial airlines will continue to operate unless the present law is changed was expressed by Lester D. Seymour, president of American Airlines, Inc.

Punch To Chin Broke His Leg

(International News Service)

EDMONTON, Alberta—Here is one for your note book. Joseph Andrew Clarke, former mayor of Edmonton, took a punch to the chin once, but it broke his leg.

Back in 1898, Clarke, noted gold prospector, lawyer and sportsman, was matched with "Kid" Owens, a member of the old North West Mounted police in the Yukon. Said Clarke:

"I had my feet crossed in the first round when Owens connected with my jaw. He didn't hurt my jaw, but my ankle snapped when I went down."

LIKED JAIL SO WELL HE REFUSED T OLEAVE

(International News Service)

BARNSTABLE, Mass., Oct. 5.—An incident without precedent in the records of the Barnstable house of correction occurred when Lawrence Butler, 46, who was working out a fifty dollar fine for drunken driving, refused to leave the jail after his aged father offered to pay his fine.

The younger Butler said that he didn't want to leave the gang and that he enjoyed the work assigned to him.

"I'll go home when I'm ready. I'm not taking orders from my family," said the younger Butler.

CARRY ICE CREAM FROM U. S. TO EUROPE

(International News Service)

GLASGOW Oct. 5—It was a tough job a few years ago to carry a box of ice cream around the block, but Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor brought five gallons of it to Glasgow from their home in Lowell, Mass.

When they arrived at their destination the delicacy was just as firm as when packed.

The ice cream was a gift to Miss Janat Taylor, who was impressed by ice cream which is a rarity in Scotland while on a trip there last summer.

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School Of Agriculture

Cattle testing starts—Testing of cattle for Bang's disease under the Federal emergency appropriation has been started in 22 states including Pennsylvania. Bang's disease also is known as contagious abortion. It may be detected by the agglutination test in which a special test fluid, or antigen, is added to a small quantity of blood serum from the animal under test.

Control orchard pests—One of the best ways of controliling rodents in the orchard is through use of poison baits. Starch-coated wheat is treated with strychnine and then is placed in the runways or burrows of the mice. One quart of poisoned wheat is sufficient to provide two applications of one teaspoonful each for 50 trees.

Thresh timothy seed—With timothy seed selling at a high price and a shortage in prospect by the time of spring seeding, it may be profitable to thresh a mow of late-cut timothy for seed. Only timothy crops free from other grasses and weeds should be threshed, although most other seeds are easily screened and blown from timothy seed with proper seed-cleaning equipment.

Barley is satisfactory—Barley can be used to make up from one-quarter to one-third of the scratch grain ration for chickens. When barley is used oats should be omitted. It is best to add the barley to the scratch mixture while the birds still are on range.

Store honey carefully—The standard shipping case for 24 sections makes an ideal container for storing comb honey. The honey should be stored in a dry place with as uniform temperature as possible. Honey stored in a dry place may improve in quality.

Ignores Summons To Jury Duty On Religious Ground

(International News Service)

LEHIGHTON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Religious views were advanced by Howard Deppe, of Lehighton, as justification of his refusal to serve as a juror for the October term of court.

Deppe, in returning his notification card to the sheriff, wrote in part:

"Any man who has anything to do with the law in the present days defiles himself.

"I never condemn individuals, but to condemn systems. I will not serve as a juror neither will I make my appearance at the courthouse, regardless of any consequence. I will absolutely not defile myself nor get my hands dirty by assisting the law in any way.

"I will not exalt nor put down nor judge according to the flesh, and absolutely will not appear even if hell should boil over tomorrow."

Searched For Buddy's Mother 19 Years To Return Watch

(International News Service)

ALLENSTEIN, Germany—A little old widow rocks to and fro as she gazes upon a battered silver watch upon the table.

Going into the shadows the ticking comforts her.

It is the watch of her son who fell May 12, 1915, in battle. A buddy searched for her 19 years and delivered it.

Josephine Kochanek is the widow's name. Her boy's name was Josef. The buddy's name is Wilhelm Denstedt from Niederrossla in Thuringia.

Wilhelm and Josef joined up shortly after the declaration of war and were hurled first against the Russians in the East, then whirled back to the western front. Back to carnage. Back to death for one of them.

Josef's number went up in mid-May and he died in his buddy's arms. Throughout the remainder of the losing struggle against the western powers Wilhelm was shuttled from one front to the other, but with him went his buddy's big watch and it's ticking. Engraved on the watch case was the name of a pal engraved in Wilhelm's heart.

The war over, Wilhelm started the weary searching for Josef's parents. Thousands of letters were written to various police departments in Germany where all Germans must register their addresses.

It was not until this year that Wilhelm located the family, solely represented by the little old widow.

He journeyed here and wound up a trust of 19 years' standing, delivering the watch and the message entrusted to him by Josef in his death rattle.

So a little old widow rocks to and fro gazing alternately at the big silver watch then out the window toward a sunset.

Wife Is Fined For Using Her Husband's Car

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Charged with taking her husband's automobile without his consent, Mrs. Ena May Henderson, wife of a Cambridge lawyer, pleaded guilty. She was fined $10. Her driving license was suspended for 12 months, and in addition a $25 fine was imposed for not having an insurance policy.

Magnus Charles Henderson, her husband, told the magistrate that he had parked his automobile outside of a restaurant while he lunched. When he returned the car was missing.

"I immediately informed the police," Henderson said, "and later I was informed that a woman driving a car had been detained by them. That woman was my wife.

"I did not give her any authority to take the car. Even if she had asked me I would have refused her. I have repeatedly asked her not to drive my car.

"I should, however, like to say this—that if I had known it was my wife I should not have been so anxious about the car. I acted rather in the heat of the moment."

HAVE SOME MUSIC WITH YOUR HAIRCUT

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 5.—When a customer visits the barber shop of George Frey and D. J. Smith he is accorded a musical accompaniment with his haircut.

If the customer isn't in a hurry and the proper urge happens to seize the two partners, Smith seats himself at the piano between strokes of the razor or hair clipper while his partner, Frey, fiddles away on the violin. Incidentally, Smith renders a little solo along with his piano music.

"It helps out," Smith declared, "the customers like the music and it helps to pass the time. We play both popular and classical selections.

Sister, Brother Meet For First Time Since Birth

(International News Service)

TURLOCK, Cal., Oct. 5.—An 18-year-old Turlock youth today had met his sister, Muriel Evelyn Chrisman, 17, of Stockton for the first time since birth.

The boy, Harold Bennett, and his sister were re-united in a Turlock hospital, where he was taken when he fell from a haystack and suffered head injuries.

Muriel, who since infancy has been cared for by Mrs. A. M. Chrisman of Stockton, read an account of Harold's accident in a newspaper and came to Turlock to check their relationship. Harold and his other sister, Dorothy, 14, have been reared by their grandmother, Mrs. Eva L. Bailey, who resides on a farm near Turlock.

According to Mrs. Bailey, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bennett, have been living apart since the children were infants. Until the meeting Mrs. Bailey was unaware of Muriel's whereabouts.

SCORPION BABES EAT MOTHER FOR FOOD

(International News Service)

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 5.—A mother who allows her babies to eat her, and apparently enjoys the slow death, has been found by University of Arizona scientists.

Believed to have been the first time that one has ever been taken alive with her offspring only a few hours old, a female scorpion is demonstrating in a campus laboratory here just how the cannibalism process works.

The babies, numbering about three dozen, cling tightly to the mother's back. Whenever it's nursing time, they simply nibble at her flesh. Occasionally, a youngster falls off and, unable to climb back, dies.

The mother is virtually a skeleton. Although noticeably weak, she holds her tail-like stinger erect ready to pierce the poisonous needle into anything that might disturb her infants.

For the offices of secretary-treasurer and counsel, both George W. Cliffe and Joseph H. Sundheim, of Philadelphia, retain their respective offices.

Hauptmann's Claim Of Receiving Money From Fisch Is Upset

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's alibi that the Lindbergh ransom money found in his possession had been left in his safekeeping by Isidore Fisch—now dead—was given another jolt today.

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police, declared that an investigation of letters written by Fisch to Hauptmann exploded Hauptmann's contention he received the ransom money from Fisch in a shoe box and did not learn there was money in the box until after Fisch's death in Germany last March.

Schwarzkopf refrained from going into detail concerning Fisch's letters, or where they were located, but he did say:

"The letters seem to put Fisch more and more out of the picture as far as his friend, Hauptmann, is concerned."

Asked about the New Jersey maps found in Hauptmann's trunk, Schwarzkopf said he did not think they had any special significance. Yesterday, however, District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx attached considerable significance to the maps, asserting Hauptmann showed considerable knowledge of road conditions in the region of the former home of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N. J.

Schwarzkopf said today that Hauptmann evidently used the maps to determine road conditions in New Jersey on projected motor trips. He gave the impression that in his opinion the maps did not definitely link Hauptmann with the case.

Schwarzkopf also denied that Hauptmann had drawn sketch maps of the section around Hopewell and the Lindbergh home for New Jersey investigators, as District Attorney Foley had specifically stated yesterday. Schwarzkopf's remarks were made after a telephone conversation with Captain John J. Lamb of the New Jersey state police, who is in New York City on the case.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Lady Diana Cooper, famed society actress, has taken her butler into partnership in a private company.

It was the butler's idea that started the Aldwick Gravel Company. Edward Holbrook, the butler, looked at the shingle on the beach in front of Lady Cooper's house at Bognor Regis, fashionable seashore resort. It occurred to him that builders would buy it.

So the Aldwich Gravel Company was born and is doing a thriving business.

Green To Speak In San Francisco

To Address Commonwealth Club With Plea For Co-operation

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today was to appear before the Commonwealth club, composed of San Francisco professional and business leaders, with a plea for a combination of labor, employers and the government "along lines of equity and justice" to end unemployment.

In the speech which he had prepared, Green blamed employers who violate the rights of workers to organize and bargain collectively for the various strikes of the last few years.

"The labor movement is a folk movement," Green set forth, "that may be thwarted and diverted but never destroyed or stamped out.

"To the masses of wage earners the labor movement is their defense against wrong and their spokesman in establishing rights."

He explained the principles of labor as the right to contract with employers, the right to act collectively through an independent representative and the right to jointly determine with employers hours of work, rates of pay and the machinery for handling problems.

Court Saves Barber, Ruling He's Mechanic

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 5.—Barbers are mechanics.

In a far-reaching decision, Superior Judge Chester A. Batchelor ruled that barbers are mechanics, and thus are entitled to the mechanic's exemption of his tools from a landlord's lien.

The decision, the first of its kind in Washington, allowed Val B. Harper to get back his scissors, clippers, barber chair, and other tonsorial equipment, that had been taken for nonpayment of rent.

"Once barbers were surgeons and dentists," Judge Batchelor remarked. "Civilization has done away with these duties, beauty parlors are taking away their trade, and now they want to take his tools away!"

SOCIETY ACTRESS AND BUTLER FORM COMPANY

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Lady Diana Cooper, famed society actress, has taken her butler into partnership in a private company.

It was the butler's idea that started the Aldwick Gravel Company. Edward Holbrook, the butler, looked at the shingle on the beach in front of Lady Cooper's house at Bognor Regis, fashionable seashore resort. It occurred to him that builders would buy it.

So the Aldwich Gravel Company was born and is doing a thriving business.

Green To Speak In San Francisco

To Address Commonwealth Club With Plea For Co-operation

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today was to appear before the Commonwealth club, composed of San Francisco professional and business leaders, with a plea for a combination of labor, employers and the government "along lines of equity and justice" to end unemployment.

In the speech which he had prepared, Green blamed employers who violate the rights of workers to organize and bargain collectively for the various strikes of the last few years.

"The labor movement is a folk movement," Green set forth, "that may be thwarted and diverted but never destroyed or stamped out.

"To the masses of wage earners the labor movement is their defense against wrong and their spokesman in establishing rights."

He explained the principles of labor as the right to contract with employers, the right to act collectively through an independent representative and the right to jointly determine with employers hours of work, rates of pay and the machinery for handling problems.

MAYOR CUTS SELF OFF PAYROLL ON TOUR OF EUROPE

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Mayor William N. McNair's autumn interlude in Europe has been disclosed as one of those "vacation-without-pay" affairs—the mayor's own idea.

Clerks in the city controller's office said His Honor had ordered his name dropped from the city payroll while he is absent from the city on tour of southern European capitals.

In terms of salary unreceived, the mayor's vacation will cost him just $288.46 a week!

INVALID'S DEVICE TO SAVE LIVES OF OHIO SCHOOL TOTS

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—A novel means of slowing up automobile traffic near school zones, perfected by John Carpenter, 25-year-old invalid, is in use here.

Carpenter proposed the laying of sections of a two-inch rubber hose, partially filled with sand, upon streets near schools.

The hose jolts the driver sufficiently to cause him to slow down before he encounters another section.

The hose is removed after school hours.

Hauptmann Case To Grand Jury By Next Monday

New Jersey Officials Move To Place Lindbergh Suspect Before Grand Jurors

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—New Jersey, scene of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and murder, moved today in the direction of bringing Bruno Richard Hauptmann to trial.

Upon the order of Attorney General David T. Wilentz, of New Jersey, the Hunterdon county, (N. J.) grand jury was called to meet on Monday to consider the Lindbergh case.

It is regarded as likely that the grand jury will indict Hauptmann for kidnaping and murder. Hauptmann, now in the Bronx county jail, New York, is already under indictment in New York on the charge of extortion. In Hauptmann's garage $14,590 of the $50,000 ransom money was found.

Why Canadian Fathers Worry!

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—With the Dionne quintuplets still thriving in their Ontario home, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has produced figures showing Canada today enjoys the distinction of a remarkable record for multiple births.

In the period from 1926 to 1932—seven years—20,497 twins were born in a total of 1,690,032 confinements in a country with a population of but 10,500,000 persons. The proportion of twins was one in 82.5. Two hundred and three triplets were born in the same period.

There was one quadruplet birth in 1931, but all four little girls died within a few hours. In 1923, however, quadruplets were born in New Brunswick and all are still alive.

Has 26,562 Sq. Mi. To Cover In Race For Congress Seat

(International News Service)

DODGE CITY, Kan., Oct. 5.—When a candidate for congress starts out on a campaign tour in this section of the country he kisses his family goodbye and prepares for a lengthy absence.

Whereas in Brooklyn, N. Y., a congressional candidate can drive around his district in 20 minutes, L. E. Webb, Democratic nominee for congress from the seventh Kansas district, is canvassing a territory of 32 counties with an area of 26,562 square miles into which the states of Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland would almost fit.

From the western to the eastern edge of the territory Webb must travel 257 miles, and the journey north and south is 121 miles, or nearly a third of the state.

Senator McCarran Fights For Vets

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5—Assailing the National Economy Act as unjust to veterans, United States Senator Patrick A. McCarran, of Nevada, today assured the Veterans of Foreign Wars he will continue to fight for restoration of "rightful" compensation to ex-service men.

McCarran's address preceded virtually certain re-election of James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, Pa., as national commander of the V. F. W. Van Zandt was renominated without opposition yesterday.

Fights impended over other offices.

VANDERBILT JUDGE BARS PUBLIC

LADY MILFORD-HAVEN MARIA CAILLOT

Sensational testimony by Maria Caillot, right, former Vanderbilt maid, concerning Lady Milford-Haven, left, titled Englishwoman, and Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, resulted in an order for private hearings by Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew in New York City. The public and press was barred from the courtroom where Mrs. Vanderbilt sought to regain custody of her 10-year-old daughter, Gloria, heiress, as witnesses alleged neglect of the child who now is in care of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, her aunt.

AIR MAIL LAW IS DENOUNCED

Airplane Company Heads Denounce Black-McKellar Law

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Black-McKellar air mail law was denounced by two airline company heads before President Roosevelt's aviation commission today.

"There is little question in our minds that the present airmail act is unfair, contradictory and discriminatory in its provisions," said C. B. Monro, president of the Pennsylvania Airlines and Transport company. "Its effect is purely destructive. Consequently we believe that new legislation must be enacted if the present demoralization of the air transport industry is to give way to stabilization and permanency."

Doubt that the nation's commercial airlines will continue to operate unless the present law is changed was expressed by Lester D. Seymour, president of American Airlines, Inc.

Punch To Chin Broke His Leg

(International News Service)

EDMONTON, Alberta—Here is one for your note book. Joseph Andrew Clarke, former mayor of Edmonton, took a punch to the chin once, but it broke his leg.

Back in 1898, Clarke, noted gold prospector, lawyer and sportsman, was matched with "Kid" Owens, a member of the old North West Mounted police in the Yukon. Said Clarke:

"I had my feet crossed in the first round when Owens connected with my jaw. He didn't hurt my jaw, but my ankle snapped when I went down."

LIKED JAIL SO WELL HE REFUSED T OLEAVE

(International News Service)

BARNSTABLE, Mass., Oct. 5.—An incident without precedent in the records of the Barnstable house of correction occurred when Lawrence Butler, 46, who was working out a fifty dollar fine for drunken driving, refused to leave the jail after his aged father offered to pay his fine.

The younger Butler said that he didn't want to leave the gang and that he enjoyed the work assigned to him.

"I'll go home when I'm ready. I'm not taking orders from my family," said the younger Butler.

CARRY ICE CREAM FROM U. S. TO EUROPE

(International News Service)

GLASGOW Oct. 5—It was a tough job a few years ago to carry a box of ice cream around the block, but Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor brought five gallons of it to Glasgow from their home in Lowell, Mass.

When they arrived at their destination the delicacy was just as firm as when packed.

The ice cream was a gift to Miss Janat Taylor, who was impressed by ice cream which is a rarity in Scotland while on a trip there last summer.

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School Of Agriculture

Cattle testing starts—Testing of cattle for Bang's disease under the Federal emergency appropriation has been started in 22 states including Pennsylvania. Bang's disease also is known as contagious abortion. It may be detected by the agglutination test in which a special test fluid, or antigen, is added to a small quantity of blood serum from the animal under test.

Control orchard pests—One of the best ways of controlling rodents in the orchard is through use of poison baits. Starch-coated wheat is treated with strychnine and then is placed in the runways or burrows of the mice. One quart of poisoned wheat is sufficient to provide two applications of one teaspoonful each for 50 trees.

Thresh timothy seed—With timothy seed selling at a high price and a shortage in prospect by the time of spring seeding, it may be profitable to thresh a mow of late-cut timothy for seed. Only timothy crops free from other grasses and weeds should be threshed, although most other seeds are easily screened and blown from timothy seed with proper seed-cleaning equipment.

Barley is satisfactory—Barley can be used to make up from one-quarter to one-third of the scratch grain ration for chickens. When barley is used oats should be omitted. It is best to add the barley to the scratch mixture while the birds still are on range.

Store honey carefully—The standard shipping case for 24 sections makes an ideal container for storing comb honey. The honey should be stored in a dry place with as uniform temperature as possible. Honey stored in a dry place may improve in quality.

Pease and his dog, who arrived here recently with 30 tons of equipment will probably spend about three years north of the Arctic circle. Pease has undertaken the project because he is seeking adventure.

C. M. Sullivan, of Lock Haven, was re-elected secretary-treasurer for the twelfth consecutive term.

Ignores Summons To Jury Duty On Religious Ground

(International News Service)

LEHIGHTON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Religious views were advanced by Howard Deppe, of Lehighton, as justification of his refusal to serve as a juror for the October term of court.

Deppe, in returning his notification card to the sheriff, wrote in part:

"Any man who has anything to do with the law in the present days defiles himself.

"I never condemn individuals, but to condemn systems. I will not serve as a juror neither will I make my appearance at the courthouse, regardless of any consequence. I will absolutely not defile myself nor get my hands dirty by assisting the law in any way.

"I will not exalt nor put down nor judge according to the flesh, and absolutely will not appear even if hell should boil over tomorrow."

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's alibi that the Lindbergh ransom money found in his possession had been left in his safekeeping by Isidore Fisch—now dead—was given another jolt today.

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police, declared that an investigation of letters written by Fisch to Hauptmann exploded Hauptmann's contention he received the ransom money from Fisch in a shoe box and did not learn there was money in the box until after Fisch's death in Germany last March.

Schwarzkopf refrained from going into detail concerning Fisch's letters, or where they were located, but he did say:

"The letters seem to put Fisch more and more out of the picture as far as his friend, Hauptmann, is concerned."

Asked about the New Jersey maps found in Hauptmann's trunk, Schwarzkopf said he did not think they had any special significance. Yesterday, however, District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx attached considerable significance to the maps, asserting Hauptmann showed considerable knowledge of road conditions in the region of the former home of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N. J.

Schwarzkopf said today that Hauptmann evidently used the maps to determine road conditions in New Jersey on projected motor trips. He gave the impression that in his opinion the maps did not definitely link Hauptmann with the case.

Schwarzkopf also denied that Hauptmann had drawn sketch maps of the section around Hopewell and the Lindbergh home for New Jersey investigators, as District Attorney Foley had specifically stated yesterday. Schwarzkopf's remarks were made after a telephone conversation with Captain John J. Lamb of the New Jersey state police, who is in New York City on the case.

Court Saves Barber, Ruling He's Mechanic

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 5.—Barbers are mechanics.

In a far-reaching decision, Superior Judge Chester A. Batchelor ruled that barbers are mechanics, and thus are entitled to the mechanic's exemption of his tools from a landlord's lien.

The decision, the first of its kind in Washington, allowed Val B. Harper to get back his scissors, clippers, barber chair, and other tonsorial equipment, that had been taken for nonpayment of rent.

"Once barbers were surgeons and dentists," Judge Batchelor remarked. "Civilization has done away with these duties, beauty parlors are taking away their trade, and now they want to take his tools away!"

UTILIZES WINDMILL TO EARN LIVELIHOOD

(International News Service)

GREAT BEND, Kan., Oct. 5.—"The North wind doth blow"—and Golden Smith of Rozel makes $2.10 a day as a result.

The ingenious Mr. Smith contrived the idea of attaching salvaged electric generators to self-constructed windmills, using the juice derived therefrom to charge storage batteries.

The generators are 12 and 6 volt affairs, sufficient to charge three batteries every 24 hours, at 70 cents a battery. The cost of constructing the device was practically nil, consisting mostly of salvage material.

Green To Speak In San Francisco

To Address Commonwealth Club With Plea For Co-operation

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today was to appear before the Commonwealth club, composed of San Francisco professional and business leaders, with a plea for a combination of labor, employers and the government "along lines of equity and justice" to end unemployment.

In the speech which he had prepared, Green blamed employers who violate the rights of workers to organize and bargain collectively for the various strikes of the last few years.

"The labor movement is a folk movement," Green set forth, "that may be thwarted and diverted but never destroyed or stamped out.

"To the masses of wage earners the labor movement is their defense against wrong and their spokesman in establishing rights."

He explained the principles of labor as the right to contract with employers, the right to act collectively through an independent representative and the right to jointly determine with employers hours of work, rates of pay and the machinery for handling problems.

MAYOR CUTS SELF OFF PAYROLL ON TOUR OF EUROPE

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Mayor William N. McNair's autumn interlude in Europe has been disclosed as one of those "vacation-without-pay" affairs—the mayor's own idea.

Clerks in the city controller's office said His Honor had ordered his name dropped from the city payroll while he is absent from the city on tour of southern European capitals.

In terms of salary unreceived, the mayor's vacation will cost him just $288.46 a week!

INVALID'S DEVICE TO SAVE LIVES OF OHIO SCHOOL TOTS

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—A novel means of slowing up automobile traffic near school zones, perfected by John Carpenter, 25-year-old invalid, is in use here.

Carpenter proposed the laying of sections of a two-inch rubber hose, partially filled with sand, upon streets near schools.

The hose jolts the driver sufficiently to cause him to slow down before he encounters another section.

SOCIETY ACTRESS AND BUTLER FORM COMPANY

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Lady Diana Cooper, famed society actress, has taken her butler into partnership in a private company.

It was the butler's idea that started the Aldwick Gravel Company. Edward Holbrook, the butler, looked at the shingle on the beach in front of Lady Cooper's house at Bognor Regis, fashionable seashore resort. It occurred to him that builders would buy it.

So the Aldwich Gravel Company was born and is doing a thriving business.

McKinley's Home May Be Torn Down

Effort To Save Historic Dwelling At Canton, Ohio, Is Failure

BUILDING NOW FALLING TO RUIN

CANTON, O., Oct. 5—Unless some group comes forward in the next few days with a proposal to save the structure President William Mc Kinley's old home here, scene of his "front porch" campaign will be razed.

This was indicated tonight by Councilman George W. Branscombe, who has blocked City Council's repeated efforts to carry out the city park boards proposal to tear the building down.

The dilapidated building moved to Meyer's Park from its original site on N. Market avenue four years ago, to make room for a wing to Mercy Hospital, has never been renovated. Its windows boarded, its roof sagging and the entire building slowly falling to pieces the house has been condemned by the board of health as an eye-sore and a disgrace to the memory of Canton's most distinguished son.

Since its removal to Meyers Park, near the McKinley Memorial, several attempts have been made to raise funds to rehabilitate the building and provide for its permanent upkeep. They were doomed to failure.

Several years ago, the United Spanish American War Veteran submitted an endowment proposal to its national convention but no action was taken.

City Council has in its hands a letter from Canton veterans asking that the building be razed.

The City Park Board in a letter to Council pointed out that a trust fund of at least $75,000 would be necessary to maintain the structure if it were reconditioned.

Councilman Branscombe in tabling Council's resolution to tear the building down, expressed hope that some solution would be reached before the next meeting Monday night Oct. 15. Thus far no plans have been presented.

Mysterious Bells Tinkle In Atlanta

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga.—Bells, bells, and more bells. Soon, it is anticipated, every residence in Atlanta will possess at least one small silver bell, the gift of a mysterious donor.

"The bells will soon be ringing."

This strange prohecy has been the only mark of identification thus far given by the mysterious sender of the diminutive tinklers. Numerous citizens are recipents of the bells, each of which has borne the same cryptic inscription.

Some of the prominent residents who have been favored by deliveries which continue seven days a week, include: Gov. Eugene R. Black, of the Federal Reserve Bank; Charles G. Candler, of Asa G. Candler, Inc.; Dr. Frank Boland, and Cator Woolford, retail credit executive.

McKinley's Home May Be Torn Down

BUILDING NOW FALLING TO RUIN

CANTON, O., Oct. 5—Unless some group comes forward in the next few days with a proposal to save the structure President William Mc Kinley's old home here, scene of his "front porch" campaign will be razed.

This was indicated tonight by Councilman George W. Branscombe, who has blocked City Council's repeated efforts to carry out the city park boards proposal to tear the building down.

The dilapidated building moved to Meyer's Park from its original site on N. Market avenue four years ago, to make room for a wing to Mercy Hospital, has never been renovated. Its windows boarded, its roof sagging and the entire building slowly falling to pieces the house has been condemned by the board of health as an eye-sore and a disgrace to the memory of Canton's most distinguished son.

Since its removal to Meyers Park, near the McKinley Memorial, several attempts have been made to raise funds to rehabilitate the building and provide for its permanent upkeep. They were doomed to failure.

Several years ago, the United Spanish American War Veteran submitted an endowment proposal to its national convention but no action was taken.

City Council has in its hands a letter from Canton veterans asking that the building be razed.

The City Park Board in a letter to Council pointed out that a trust fund of at least $75,000 would be necessary to maintain the structure if it were reconditioned.

Councilman Branscombe in tabling Council's resolution to tear the building down, expressed hope that some solution would be reached before the next meeting Monday night Oct. 15. Thus far no plans have been presented.

Mysterious Bells Tinkle In Atlanta

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga.—Bells, bells, and more bells. Soon, it is anticipated, every residence in Atlanta will possess at least one small silver bell, the gift of a mysterious donor.

"The bells will soon be ringing."

This strange prohecy has been the only mark of identification thus far given by the mysterious sender of the diminutive tinklers. Numerous citizens are recipents of the bells, each of which has borne the same cryptic inscription.

Some of the prominent residents who have been favored by deliveries which continue seven days a week, include: Gov. Eugene R. Black, of the Federal Reserve Bank; Charles G. Candler, of Asa G. Candler, Inc.; Dr. Frank Boland, and Cator Woolford, retail credit executive.

Rare Operation Is Performed On Coast

Baby Girl Born Ten Minutes After Mother Died, Will Be Normal Healthy Child

(International News Service)

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 5.—Little Ellen Marie Lewis, 7 pounds, 13 ounces, born ten minutes after her mother died, will grow into a "strapping, healthy girl," nurses at providence hospital reported today.

The mother, Mrs. Ellen Lewis, suffered a stroke while awaiting transfer into the surgery department, and died.

Dr. Robert J. McIvor performed the rare caesarian and successful operation to save the baby after the mother's death.

It was at first feared the baby had died too. For twenty minutes, artificial respiration and other restorative measures were applied after which the baby girl uttered a faint cry and began to breathe normally.

FIVE ARE KILLED

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 5.—Cavalry patrolled the streets of Puebla today as five lay dead and 25 nursed wounds received in a riot. Police opened fire on paraders who were demonstrating against the government's plan to teach Socialism in schools.

TO BAN PARKING ON STADIUM SIDE

Parking of automobiles along the Taggart stadium side of DuShane street, between Lutton and Division streets, will be forbidden by police during the Johnstown-New Castle game tomorrow, Chief of Police John F. Haven has announced. The Athletic council asked for the ban.

It is hoped that the no-parking regulation will make more convenient the handling of the crowd expected.

True, other workers get more cash pay than a school teacher. But they have nobody to tell them how to behave.

Lawrence Makes Reply To Pinchot

Democratic Chairman Accuses Governor As Being Betrayer

PINCHOT BECOMES POLITICAL TARGET

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—Condemned by the Democrats as a "political Judas" who committed the crime of betrayal by throwing his support to the Republican party, Gov. Pinchot today was the principal target in Pennsylvania's bristling political campaign.

Shortly after the governor, breaking a silence many months, came out in glowing support of Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican gubernatorial nominee, at Wilkes-Barre, Democrats discharged their campaign ammunition.

Speaking here, David L. Lawrence, state Democratic chairman, lashed at the governor, Schnader and leaders of the Republican party in general.

Referring to Governor Pinchot's swing to the regular Republicans, Lawrence declared:

"Governor Pinchot, professed disciple of Theodore and Franklin Roosevelt, following the example of another disciple named Judas, committed the basest, the meanest, the unpardonable and unspeakable crime of betrayal.

"Gifford Pinchot paid off his obligation to Grundy, to Mellon, to Atterbury, to Reed, to Schnader and to the utility racketeers of this commonwealth, by an attempt, as brazen as it was pitiable, as hypocritical as it was tragic, to remove from the hand of Schnader and the brow of Reed the mark of their millionaire masters."

Officers Question Supposed Pal Of Bruno Hauptmann

Skeptical Of Any New Information In Case From This Source

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 5.—Admittedly skeptical that their quiz would produce any new clues, federal agents today questioned James Bruce Russell, 35, a man with a long criminal record and alleged pal of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Russell was quoted as saying that "there are a lot of angles in this Lindbergh case," and "if I talk about Hauptmann, it won't help him any, it would hurt him."

According to a story told police by another prisoner, George W. Belhumeur, paroled Atlantic penitentiary prisoner, Russell, a native of Nebraska, confided to him that Hauptmann aided Russell in escaping from the Westchester county penitentiary at Eastview, N. Y., in August, 1930. Both are carpenters.

National Erosion Control Program For Pennsylvania

State Will Get $200,000 For Erosion Control Demonstration

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Approximately 115,000 acres of Central Pennsylvania farm land will be used for an erosion control demonstration at a cost of $200,000, the Interior Department announced today.

The money was allotted from a fund of $10,000,000 recently set aside for a national erosion control program, by Secretary of Interior Ickes.

The area to be developed is about 90 miles east of Pittsburgh and is said to be representative of about 1,728,000 acres of surrounding farm land. Dr. Austin L. Patrick, State College, Pa., and an authority in this field, is expected to head the project.

Strike Trouble To Be Smoothed Out

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—Confidence that the differences leading up to the bloody strike rioting in Bridgeport, Pa., will be satisfactorily settled was expressed here today by Major Stanley W. Root, Philadelphia regional director of the national labor relations board.

Root expressed his attitude just before he convened a special meeting of the board for a hearing on the formal complaint filed by the United Textile Workers of America, charging anti-union discrimination against the James Lees and Sons Woolen Mill of Bridgeport, hot-bed of the rioting which was culminated Wednesday by the fatal shooting of a young bystander and scores of injuries to strikers.

POLICE ARREST 282 AUTOISTS

Mayor Reports September Activities; Arrests Made In Last Two Weeks

Two hundred and eighty-two persons were arrested during September charged with violating automobile laws, according to the report of Mayor Mayne and which was presented to city council at the meeting in city hall today.

The campaign against erring autoists was started about September 15.

The arrests were as follows: 123 for violating the parking law, 106 for violating traffic regulations and 53 for exceeding the speed limit.

In the campaign, not yet finished, it is said that probably 200 additional persons have been arrested. Some are listed as having been arrested in September but docketed on the police books in October and others have not yet received notice of their arrest.

In all 435 arrests were made during September and the fines from police activities amounted to $1,382, practically all of which was paid by the motorists.

Two hundred and ninety-eight of the 435 paid fines, 102 were discharged, 12 jailed and the other cases were disposed of by ordering the prisoners out of the city or turning them over to other authorities.

Railroad Pension Act Is Approved By Senator Reed

Success Of Act Depends On Sound Currency, Senator Reed Tells Railroaders

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Success of the National Railroad Pension Act depends on sound currency, just as does the value of every savings account and every life insurance policy Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, wrote Ray Hibbs, of Freeport, Pa., today.

Hibbs attended the recent Chicago convention of the Railroad Employes' National Pension Association.

"We must avoid inflation at all hazards and in order to do this we simply must bring a halt to the spending of money by the federal government far in excess of its revenues," Reed wrote.

He lauded the pension act as "a constructive step" toward a solution of labor's problems.

Lawrence Makes Reply To Pinchot

PINCHOT BECOMES POLITICAL TARGET

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—Condemned by the Democrats as a "political Judas" who committed the crime of betrayal by throwing his support to the Republican party, Gov. Pinchot today was the principal target in Pennsylvania's bristling political campaign.

Short ly after the governor, breaking a silence many months, came out in glowing support of Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican gubernatorial nominee, at Wilkes-Barre, Democrats discharged their campaign ammunition.

Speaking here, David L. Lawrence, state Democratic chairman, lashed at the governor, Schnader and leaders of the Republican party in general.

Referring to Governor Pinchot's swing to the regular Republicans, Lawrence declared:

"Governor Pinchot, professed disciple of Theodore and Franklin Roosevelt, following the example of another disciple named Judas, committed the basest, the meanest, the unpardonable and unspeakable crime of betrayal.

"Gifford Pinchot paid off his obligation to Grundy, to Mellon, to Atterbury, to Reed, to Schnader and to the utility racketeers of this commonwealth, by an attempt, as brazen as it was pitiable, as hypocritical as it was tragic, to remove from the hand of Schnader and the brow of Reed the mark of their millionaire masters."

Officers Question Supposed Pal Of Bruno Hauptmann

Skeptical Of Any New Information In Case From This Source

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 5.—Admittedly skeptical that their quiz would produce any new clues, federal agents today questioned James Bruce Russell, 35, a man with a long criminal record and alleged pal of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Russell was quoted as saying that "there are a lot of angles in this Lindbergh case," and "if I talk about Hauptmann, it won't help him any, it would hurt him."

According to a story told police by another prisoner, George W. Belhumeur, paroled Atlantic penitentiary prisoner, Russell, a native of Nebraska, confided to him that Hauptmann aided Russell in escaping from the Westchester county penitentiary at Eastview, N. Y., in August, 1930. Both are carpenters.

National Erosion Control Program For Pennsylvania

State Will Get $200,000 For Erosion Control Demonstration

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Approximately 115,000 acres of Central Pennsylvania farm land will be used for an erosion control demonstration at a cost of $200,000, the Interior Department announced today.

The money was allotted from a fund of $10,000,000 recently set aside for a national erosion control program, by Secretary of Interior Ickes.

The area to be developed is about 90 miles east of Pittsburgh and is said to be representative of about 1,728,000 acres of surrounding farm land. Dr. Austin L. Patrick, State College, Pa., and an authority in this field, is expected to head the project.

Strike Trouble To Be Smoothed Out

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—Confidence that the differences leading up to the bloody strike rioting in Bridgeport, Pa., will be satisfactorily settled was expressed here today by Major Stanley W. Root, Philadelphia regional director of the national labor relations board.

Root expressed his attitude just before he convened a special meeting of the board for a hearing on the formal complaint filed by the United Textile Workers of America, charging anti-union discrimination against the James Lees and Sons Woolen Mill of Bridgeport, hot-bed of the rioting which was culminated Wednesday by the fatal shooting of a young bystander and scores of injuries to strikers.

POLICE ARREST 282 AUTOISTS

Mayor Reports September Activities; Arrests Made In Last Two Weeks

Two hundred and eighty-two persons were arrested during September charged with violating automobile laws, according to the report of Mayor Mayne and which was presented to city council at the meeting in city hall todav.

The campaign against erring autoists was started about September 15.

The arrests were as follows: 123 for violating the parking law, 106 for violating traffic regulations and 53 for exceeding the speed limit.

In the campaign, not yet finished, it is said that probably 200 additional persons have been arrested. Some are listed as having been arrested in September but docketed on the police books in October and others have not yet received notice of their arrest.

In all 435 arrests were made during September and the fines from police activities amounted to $1,382, practically all of which was paid by the motorists.

Two hundred and ninety-eight of the 435 paid fines, 102 were discharged, 12 jailed and the other cases were disposed of by ordering the prisoners out of the city or turning them over to other authorities.

Railroad Pension Act Is Approved By Senator Reed

Success Of Act Depends On Sound Currency, Senator Reed Tells Railroaders

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Success of the National Railroad Pension Act depends on sound currency, just as does the value of every savings account and every life insurance policy Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, wrote Ray Hibbs, of Freeport, Pa., today.

Hibbs attended the recent Chicago convention of the Railroad Employes' National Pension Association.

"We must avoid inflation at all hazards and in order to do this we simply must bring a halt to the spending of money by the federal government far in excess of its revenues," Reed wrote.

He lauded the pension act as "a constructive step" toward a solution of labor's problems.

Rare Operation Is Performed On Coast

Baby Girl Born Ten Minutes After Mother Died, Will Be Normal Healthy Child

(International News Service)

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 5.—Little Ellen Marie Lewis, 7 pounds, 13 ounces, born ten minutes after her mother died, will grow into a "strapping, healthy girl," nurses at providence hospital reported today.

The mother, Mrs. Ellen Lewis, suffered a stroke while awaiting transfer into the surgery department, and died.

Dr. Robert J. McIvor performed the rare caesarian and successful operation to save the baby after the mother's death.

It was at first feared the baby had died too. For twenty minutes, artificial respiration and other restorative measures were applied after which the baby girl uttered a faint cry and began to breathe normally.

FIVE ARE KILLED

TO BAN PARKING ON STADIUM SIDE

Parking of automobiles along the Taggart stadium side of DuShane street, between Lutton and Division streets, will be forbidden by police during the Johnstown-New Castle game tomorrow, Chief of Police John F. Haven has announced. The Athletic council asked for the ban.

It is hoped that the no-parking regulation will make more convenient the handling of the crowd expected.

True, other workers get more cash pay than a school teacher. But they have nobody to tell them how to behave.

Dr. Galbraith Is Heard Thursday

Makes Chief Address At Convention In Moravia Presbyterian Church

DISTRICT NAMES COULTER PRESIDENT

Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, gave an inspiring address at the evening session of the Wampum District Convention, which was held at the Moravia Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon and evening. Dr. Galbraith was born in the vicinity of Wampum and a number of those present remembered him as a boy.

At the afternoon session Rev. T. C. Henderson, pastor of the Convention church, conducted the devotionals, and Mrs. Howard F. Magill gave a most interesting and enlightening address on her mission work in the mountainous region of the south, and Rev. William Hammond brought a splendid message on the Convention theme; "Thou Art the Christ".

The Lawrence County Sabbath School Association held their executive committee meeting at the Convention church, with the following members present: Robert M. Strickler, Jr., president; D. M. Marshall and P. W. Griffin, vice presidents; Mrs. M. E. Vaughn, secretary; Miss Anna Perry, administrative superintendent; Mrs. A. B. Street, children's division superintendent; Mrs. Howard F. Magill, mission superintendent; H. L. Marvin, president of New Castle District; Paul Coulter, president of Wampum District; A. W. Leslie, president of Mt. Jackson District; and additional members, John W. Owens and D. S. Williams.

The place chosen for the next Wampum Convention was the Wampum M. E. church. The newly elected officers of the said district are: President, Paul Coulter; vice president, Ernest Benson; secretary, Mrs. Ford Aiken; treasurer, Mrs. Estella Hennon, and the following department superintendents: Children's division, Miss Nellie Grinnen; Young People's division, Miss Mary E. Wagner; Adult division, Rev. Norman E. Allen; Home department, Miss Olive Davis; Religious Education, Miss Emma Ford; Missions, Mrs. Josie Tillia; Temperance, Mrs. Earl Mills; Parent Training, Mrs. E. L. Hennon; Administrative, Rev. T. C. Henderson.

A chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the Moravia Presbyterian church. A hearty vote of appreciation was extended to them for the splendid meal, and to the many who took part in the program.

Altoona Man On Trial For Murder

Kenneth Burley, 39, Faces Charges Of Killing Sweetheart In Altoona Cafe

(International News Service)

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—Blair county's fourth murder trial in eight years and the second in two weeks, today went into its second session as Kenneth Burley, 39, Altoona, faced charges of the commonwealth that he shot and killed Mrs. Catherine Forrest, 21, in an Altoona cafe, August 23.

Burley, a widower, shot himself through the head after allegedly shooting the woman, who had been the object of his affections.

While physicians were uncertain as to whether Burley could stand the trial ordeal, Judge Marion D. Patterson ruled it should go on. Two doctors submitted certificates stating Burley had recovered.

LATERAL WILL BE COMPLETED AT STONEBORO

Contract Let For Completion On Road From Greenville-Sandy Lake Highway

GREENVILLE, Oct. 5.—Years of effort on the part of public spirited citizens of Stoneboro to obtain a completion of the lateral from the Greenville-Sandy Lake road into Stoneboro were crowned Thursday by the official announcement at Harrisburg that the Koski Construction company of Ashtabula, O., had been awarded the contract.

The contract calls for the construction of 1.15 miles of 16-foot reinforced concrete and one reinforced concrete structure on rural route 43043. Bids are also to be opened at Harrisburg on October 19 for 3.38 miles, 20-foot reinforced concrete, route 58, Mercer borough and Findley township.

The Stoneboro lateral completion, a county-aid project, will extend the present lateral from the borough line around the west end of the lake, up the full length of Linden street and extending approximately 250 feet up Franklin street, connecting with the spur from the Mercer-Sandy Lake road. Another pavement project, started under the CWA and scheduled for completion with the LWD, ties in with the completion of the lateral.

The contractor's equipment has been delivered to the site and practically everything is in readiness to take up the work.

First Baptists Plan Rally Day

Visitations Result In An Expected Attendance Of 1100 At Service Sunday

At the First Baptist church school Sunday morning there will be a rally day program presented, when a goal of 1100 has been set for the attendance mark. The visitation of last Sunday and the calls made during the week show that the goal has been reached.

The men's class, according to "Red" Williams, president, will reach an attendance of 250; the D. S. Williams class expects to have 100 per cent of the members present as does the Intermediate department, according to James McCallion, superintendent.

There will be a new attendance plan announced at the opening of the Sunday school session, which is one of the most attractive plans for regular attendance. Workers in other Sunday schools will be welcomed at this time to hear of the plan and adopt it, if it pleases them. The plan will be presented at 9:30 a. m., according to Paul D. Weller, superintendent.

DISTRICT NAMES COULTER PRESIDENT

Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, gave an inspiring address at the evening session of the Wampum District Convention, which was held at the Moravia Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon and evening. Dr. Galbraith was born in the vicinity of Wampum and a number of those present remembered him as a boy.

At the afternoon session Rev. T. C. Henderson, pastor of the Convention church, conducted the devotionals, and Mrs. Howard F. Magill gave a most interesting and enlightening address on her mission work in the mountainous region of the south, and Rev. William Hammond brought a splendid message on the Convention theme; "Thou Art the Christ".

The Lawrence County Sabbath School Association held their executive committee meeting at the Convention church, with the following members present: Robert M. Strickler, Jr., president; D. M. Marshall and P. W. Griffin, vice presidents; Mrs. M. E. Vaughn, secretary; Miss Anna Perry, administrative superintendent; Mrs. A. B. Street, children's division superintendent; Mrs. Howard F. Magill, mission superintendent; H. L. Marvin, president of New Castle District; Paul Coulter, president of Wampum District; A. W. Leslie, president of Mt. Jackson District; and additional members, John W. Owens and D. S. Williams.

The place chosen for the next Wampum Convention was the Wampum M. E. church. The newly elected officers of the said district are: President, Paul Coulter; vice president, Ernest Benson; secretary, Mrs. Ford Aiken; treasurer, Mrs. Estella Hennon, and the following department superintendents: Children's division, Miss Nellie Grinnen; Young People's division, Miss Mary E. Wagner; Adult division, Rev. Norman E. Allen; Home department, Miss Olive Davis; Religious Education, Miss Emma Ford; Missions, Mrs. Josie Tillia; Temperance, Mrs. Earl Mills; Parent Training, Mrs. E. L. Hennon; Administrative, Rev. T. C. Henderson.

A chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the Moravia Presbyterian church. A hearty vote of appreciation was extended to them for the splendid meal, and to the many who took part in the program.

Altoona Man On Trial For Murder

Kenneth Burley, 39, Faces Charges Of Killing Sweetheart In Altoona Cafe

(International News Service)

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—Blair county's fourth murder trial in eight years and the second in two weeks, today went into its second session as Kenneth Burley, 39, Altoona, faced charges of the commonwealth that he shot and killed Mrs. Catherine Forrest, 21, in an Altoona cafe, August 23.

Burley, a widower, shot himself through the head after allegedly shooting the woman, who had been the object of his affections.

While physicians were uncertain as to whether Burley could stand the trial ordeal, Judge Marion D. Patterson ruled it should go on. Two doctors submitted certificates stating Burley had recovered.

LATERAL WILL BE COMPLETED AT STONEBORO

Contract Let For Completion On Road From Greenville-Sandy Lake Highway

GREENVILLE, Oct. 5.—Years of effort on the part of public spirited citizens of Stoneboro to obtain a completion of the lateral from the Greenville-Sandy Lake road into Stoneboro were crowned Thursday by the official announcement at Harrisburg that the Koski Construction company of Ashtabula, O., had been awarded the contract.

The contract calls for the construction of 1.15 miles of 16-foot reinforced concrete and one reinforced concrete structure on rural route 43043. Bids are also to be opened at Harrisburg on October 19 for 3.38 miles, 20-foot reinforced concrete, route 58, Mercer borough and Findley township.

The Stoneboro lateral completion, a county-aid project, will extend the present lateral from the borough line around the west end of the lake, up the full length of Linden street and extending approximately 250 feet up Franklin street, connecting with the spur from the Mercer-Sandy Lake road. Another pavement project, started under the CWA and scheduled for completion with the LWD, ties in with the completion of the lateral.

The contractor's equipment has been delivered to the site and practically everything is in readiness to take up the work.

McKinley's Home May Be Torn Down

Effort To Save Historic Dwelling At Canton, Ohio, Is Failure

BUILDING NOW FALLING TO RUIN

CANTON, O., Oct. 5—Unless some group comes forward in the next few days with a proposal to save the structure President William Mc Kinley's old home here, scene of his "front porch" campaign will be razed.

This was indicated tonight by Councilman George W. Branscombe, who has blocked City Council's repeated efforts to carry out the city park boards proposal to tear the building down.

The dilapidated building moved to Meyer's Park from its original site on N. Market avenue four years ago, to make room for a wing to Mercy Hospital, has never been renovated. Its windows boarded, its roof sagging and the entire building slowly falling to pieces the house has been condemned by the board of health as an eye-sore and a disgrace to the memory of Canton's most distinguished son.

Since its removal to Meyers Park, near the McKinley Memorial, several attempts have been made to raise funds to rehabilitate the building and provide for its permanent upkeep. They were doomed to failure.

Several years ago, the United Spanish American War Veteran submitted an endowment proposal to its national convention but no action was taken.

City Council has in its hands a letter from Canton veterans asking that the building be razed.

The City Park Board in a letter to Council pointed out that a trust fund of at least $75,000 would be necessary to maintain the structure if it were reconditioned.

Councilman Branscombe in tabling Council's resolution to tear the building down, expressed hope that some solution would be reached before the next meeting Monday night Oct. 15. Thus far no plans have been presented.

Mysterious Bells Tinkle In Atlanta

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga.—Bells, bells, and more bells. Soon, it is anticipated, every residence in Atlanta will possess at least one small silver bell, the gift of a mysterious donor.

"The bells will soon be ringing." This strange prohecy has been the only mark of identification thus far given by the mysterious sender of the diminutive tinklers. Numerous citizens are recipents of the bells, each of which has borne the same cryptic inscription.

Some of the prominent residents who have been favored by deliveries which continue seven days a week, include: Gov. Eugene R. Black, of the Federal Reserve Bank; Charles G. Candler, of Asa G. Candler, Inc.; Dr. Frank Boland, and Cator Woolford, retail credit executive.

NEW CASTLE AND JOHNSTOWN PLAY HERE SATURDAY

BIGGEST CROWD OF YEAR LOOMS

Colorful Football Battle Will Be Played At Taggart Stadium

Both Teams Undefeated To Date, Johnstown Will Bring Big Crowd

UNDEFEATED so far this year, New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will play Johnstown's undefeated powerful high school football team at Taggart stadium Saturday afternoon in what looms as one of the best of the games on the 1934 program. The contest will start at 3 o'clock. The doors will open at 1 o'clock. The biggest crowd to witness a grid battle here in recent years is expected. The two schoolboy teams are eagerly awaiting the whistle that sends them into action.

Lots Of Enthusiasm

There is considerable enthusiasm for this grid game. It marks the first time that Johnstown and New Castle have ever met in athletics and each will strive hard to make an impression. The fans of both towns have warmed up the game in fine fashion.

In event that the weatherman sends a lot of nice warm sunshine, the turnstiles at Taggart stadium will get the first real workout of the year. It is estimated that at least 10,000 fans will view the game. Johnstown plans to send about 2,500 or 3,000 fans here. Over 1,500 will come by special train, many will come by automobiles.

Show Visitors Courtesy

New Castle fans are urged to show every courtesy to the Johnstown guests. New Castle will be going to Johnstown next year and will expect similar courtesy, so it is up to New Castle fans and citizens to set the example. Give the Flood City boys and girls a big welcome.

It would be wise for the New Castle fans to get to the game early, on at least buy their tickets early. When the Johnstown special arrives the crowd will cause a lot of confusion at Taggart field.

Thousands Will Come

Johnstown will bring a fine 99-piece band and will vie with the great New Castle high band for honors during the game. The band parade between halves should be an inspiring sight.

Meanwhile as the fans of Johnstown and New Castle work themselves into a frenzy over this football game, the grid squads of both schools have been hard at work all week. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will give his red and black clad wearers a final few instructions tonight. Coach Joe Harrick will give the blue and black team final polishing today.

Crisci, Palkovitch Tackles

Coach Bridenbaugh is more than pleased with the work of Frank Crisci and Walter "Gob" Palkovitch in the Charleroi game, both boys playing tackle posts and will surely start them again tomorrow. Adamo who is playing a fine game, will be back at center, and Raskowski and Cardella will take care of the guard jobs. Wisosky and Tuscano will be at the ends.

There is some doubt about the backfield starting the game, with indications pointing to Mumford getting the call for quarterback, with Fleming and Ostrosky taking care of the halfback posts and Cox or Copple at the fullback post. Mumford is needed in the game due to his punting and passing.

Watch Fleming, Zakula

Fleming will no doubt be a "marked" man in the game, as Johnstown knows what this light-haired boy did to Charleroi with three touchdowns all by himself. The same holds good for Zakula of Johnstown who scored four touchdowns against Mount Union high last week. Watch both Fleming and Zakula in the game tomorrow.

Johnstown high will bring a team here that averages about 160 pounds. The New Castle team will average about the same. New Castle has defeated Braddock, Ellwood City and Charleroi. Johnstown has defeated Mount Union and Bedford, which team will win tomorrow? One of the teams will probably go down to defeat, one of the winning streaks will be snapped, which will it be?

This is bound to be one of the highlights of the year for the locals at Taggart field and you had better plan to be in the stands to see it.

GENEVA-THIEL BATTLE TONIGHT

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—Shrill whistles crack the silence of night. Sturdy collegiates dressed in moleskins tonight usher in the second week-end of gridiron battles in the preliminaries throughout this state for football recognition. The big question is:

What teams will be eliminated?

All are meeting tougher opposition. Some teams that played last week will have to correct mistakes and open up with more tricks and punch if they want to reap glory from the gridiron. Perhaps some new stars will light up the football firmament this week since some elevens haven't pried open their schedule as yet.

Dukes Vs Ashland

Being defeated by a score of 7 to 0 last Friday because some player failed to properly protect his teammate punter, Duquesne University will send a team on the field with fire in its eyes. I question whether Ashland will stop Coach Joe Bach

Boyd Switches Union Lineup

Drastic Shakeup In Union Lineup For Game At Rochester Saturday

Head Coach Davey Boyd dug deep into the Union high football bag yesterday afternoon and came up with several changes in the Union lineup for the impending game Saturday at Rochester. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

Boyd placed Schaas at a tackle post, and has Rudesill, Caiazza and Taylor fighting it out for the guard jobs. Pattison has been shifted to center, and there will be many changes in the backfield.

Jaskolka and Mateja are retained at the end posts, with Denny at halfback and Wallace calling signals. Thompson, Annerella and Huling are fighting it out for the other backfield posts.

Hope For Victory

Rochester and Union have both been defeated in three starts this year. The Unionites would like to bring back a victory. The Blue and White boys clicked very nicely in the practice session last evening and are rarin' for the Rochester game. Rochester and Union have never met on the gridiron before and each will be anxious to make an impression.

James, a freshman, has been added to the squad and is playing a guard job. He looks like a comer.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Veteran drivers stole the show in the Burgettstown fair harness races yesterday. Reynolds Emerick drove Morley Scott to win in the free-for-all in 2:15. The bay gelding took third place in the thirst heat but finished first in the last two heats. In the free-for-all trot, McMillan drove John Drew to win in three straight heats in 2:14 3-4. Lindy Sout with Reynolds in the sulky captured the 2:22 pace in straight heats.

Jimmy Callahan, former manager of the Pirates passed away suddenly in Boston yesterday according to news received in Pittsburgh. He was born March 18, 1784 in Fitchburg, Mass. and when 20 years old signed with the Philadelphia Nationals. In December, 1915 he was signed to manage the Pirates. He served until the middle of the 1917 season.

Babe Amos fought and lost to Tiger Joe Randall in a 10 round bout last night at McKeesport.

Mrs. Opal Hill, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. Leona Cheney, Can Gabriel, Ca., on the twenty fourth green in a thrilling climax to the quarter final round of the thirty-eighth national golf tourney under way at Philadelphia. Glenna Collett Vare beat Mrs. Burt Weil, 6 and 5 and Virginia Van Wie from Frances Williams 5 to 4.

Springer Spaniel Owners Get Chance

Permission Granted For Holding Of Springer Spaniel Trials At Fair Grounds

J. E. Blaine, chairman of the Springer Spaniel committee of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association announced today that special permission has been received by the association for the holding of Springer Spaniel trials at the Sportsman's field day at the New Castle Fair grounds, Saturday.

The Lawrence County men are jubilant over the permission given by the AKC through H. L. Ferguson, of Fisher's Island, New York, secretary of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trials association, as this is the only known sanctioned Spring Spaniel trials outside of Fisher's Island, in this part of the country.

Mr. Ferguson in his letter stated that the rules and standards must be lived up to in regard to the trials. The trials are under the supervision of the American Kennel club and the meet tomorrow is a sanctioned AKC event.

Lawrence County Schools Playing Away From Home

New Castle-Johnstown Game Only Grid Encounter For Local Fans Saturday

WESTMINSTER AT NEW YORK CITY

All of the Lawrence county high school football teams will be in action Saturday, but not one of the games with the exception of the New Castle-Johnstown game will be played in the county.

Union high goes to Rochester, Pa., for a game with Rochester high at 2:30 p. m. Bessemer high will journey to Scienceville, O., for a football battle. Shenango high will travel to Mars, Pa., for their fourth game of the current season.

Ellwood City will go to Beaver Falls for their fourth game on the 1934 card and hope to upset the Tigers under Ellwood Kammerer. Coach Benedict has the Ellwoods on edge for this important tilt.

Coach Finds Many Have Flat Feet

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 5.—Like the London bridge of the old-time song, the arches in the feet of Williamsport school children are "falling down."

When Coach Harold Rock made an examination of boys who reported for practice with the Williamsport high school football squad, he made the startling discovery that 40 per cent of them had flat feet.

A move for better arches was inaugurated and school physicians examined the feet of all children. Those found with flat arches will be examined again this fall by a specialist who will recommend corrective treatments.

Ability should be rewarded, but what of those who would be washing dishes if old dad hadn't built up a fortune?

Grovers To Open With Holbrook

Coach Bill Amos Believes Grove City College Eleven Is Strong One

GROVE CITY, Oct. 5—Coach Bill Amos will present his third Grove City College varsity eleven in his coaching career here, on Saturday when the Crimson opens its fall campaign with Alfred Holbrook College, or Lebanon, Ohio, as the opponent. With lettermen in six positions, a starting line averaging 178 pounds and backs scarcely averaging 156 pounds, the opening game is expected to supply many of the answers which is puzzling the Grover coach.

Seldom has Grove City presented such a heavy line, and never has the local school used such small ball carriers. Only one of the three starting backs, Verne Smith, is heavier than 154 pounds. Bernard Orris weighs in at 145, and the other halfback, Bobby Gross, plays at 154 pounds. "Red" Bestwick, a junior who played parts of several games last year at end, is stationed at quarterback. His weight is 150.

The success of the 1934 Crimson team will depend largely on the work of the tackles. Lockwood, 196 pounds, and Ashwood, 202, may get the call Saturday, and between them they provide much of the poundage in the forward wall. The other linemen, Binder, Beres, Glasgow, Tomko and Seich range between 170 and 175 pounds.

You'll buy them together because we did.

That's the proper way to buy shirts and neckwear . . . at the same time . . . for it's awfully hard to match a shirt that's home in a drawer with a tie that's here in the window.

Men who look best above the vest never leave a store with a shirt without first having it synchronized with a scarf at the next case.

We bought these Fall shirts and ties together and now, to buy them separately would be like splitting up Amos and Andy.

Here they are!

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—Shrill whistles crack the silence of night. Sturdy collegiates dressed in moleskins tonight usher in the second week-end of gridiron battles in the preliminaries throughout this state for football recognition. The big question is:

What teams will be eliminated?

All are meeting tougher opposition. Some teams that played last week will have to correct mistakes and open up with more tricks and punch if they want to reap glory from the gridiron. Perhaps some new stars will light up the football firmament this week since some elevens haven't pried open their schedule as yet.

Dukes Vs Ashland

Being defeated by a score of 7 to 0 last Friday because some player failed to properly protect his teammate punter, Duquesne University will send a team on the field with fire in its eyes. I question whether Ashland will stop Coach Joe Bach

Boyd Switches Union Lineup

Drastic Shakeup In Union Lineup For Game At Rochester Saturday

Head Coach Davey Boyd dug deep into the Union high football bag yesterday afternoon and came up with several changes in the Union lineup for the impending game Saturday at Rochester. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

Boyd placed Schaas at a tackle post, and has Rudesill, Caiazza and Taylor fighting it out for the guard jobs. Pattison has been shifted to center, and there will be many changes in the backfield.

Jaskolka and Mateja are retained at the end posts, with Denny at halfback and Wallace calling signals. Thompson, Annerella and Huling are fighting it out for the other backfield posts.

Hope For Victory

Rochester and Union have both been defeated in three starts this year. The Unionites would like to bring back a victory. The Blue and White boys clicked very nicely in the practice session last evening and are rarin' for the Rochester game. Rochester and Union have never met on the gridiron before and each will be anxious to make an impression.

James, a freshman, has been added to the squad and is playing a guard job. He looks like a comer.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Veteran drivers stole the show in the Burgettstown fair harness races yesterday. Reynolds Emerick drove Morley Scott to win in the free-for-all in 2:15. The bay gelding took third place in the thirst heat but finished first in the last two heats. In the free-for-all trot, McMillan drove John Drew to win in three straight heats in 2:14 3-4. Lindy Sout with Reynolds in the sulky captured the 2:22 pace in straight heats.

Jimmy Callahan, former manager of the Pirates passed away suddenly in Boston yesterday according to news received in Pittsburgh. He was born March 18, 1784 in Fitchburg, Mass. and when 20 years old signed with the Philadelphia Nationals. In December, 1915 he was signed to manage the Pirates. He served until the middle of the 1917 season.

Babe Amos fought and lost to Tiger Joe Randall in a 10 round bout last night at McKeesport.

Mrs. Opal Hill, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. Leona Cheney, Can Gabriel, Ca,. on the twenty fourth green in a thrilling climax to the quarter final round of the thirty-eighth national golf tourney under way at Philadelphia. Glenna Collett Vare beat Mrs. Burt Weil, 6 and 5 and Virginia Van Wie from Frances Williams 5 to 4.

Springer Spaniel Owners Get Chance

Permission Granted For Holding Of Springer Spaniel Trials At Fair Grounds

J. E. Blaine, chairman of the Springer Spaniel committee of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association announced today that special permission has been received by the association for the holding of Springer Spaniel trials at the Sportsman's field day at the New Castle Fair grounds, Saturday.

The Lawrence County men are jubilant over the permission given by the AKC through H. L. Ferguson, of Fisher's Island, New York, secretary of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trials association, as this is the only known sanctioned Spring Spaniel trials outside of Fisher's Island, in this part of the country.

Mr. Ferguson in his letter stated that the rules and standards must be lived up to in regard to the trials. The trials are under the supervision of the American Kennel club and the meet tomorrow is a sanctioned AKC event.

Lawrence County Schools Playing Away From Home

New Castle-Johnstown Game Only Grid Encounter For Local Fans Saturday

WESTMINSTER AT NEW YORK CITY

All of the Lawrence county high school football teams will be in action Saturday, but not one of the games with the exception of the New Castle-Johnstown game will be played in the county.

Union high goes to Rochester, Pa., for a game with Rochester high at 2:30 p. m. Bessemer high will journey to Scienceville, O., for a football battle. Shenango high will travel to Mars, Pa., for their fourth game of the current season.

Ellwood City will go to Beaver Falls for their fourth game on the 1934 card and hope to upset the Tigers under Ellwood Kammerer. Coach Benedict has the Ellwoods on edge for this important tilt.

Coach Finds Many Have Flat Feet

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 5.—Like the London bridge of the old-time song, the arches in the feet of Williamsport school children are "failing down."

When Coach Harold Rock made an examination of boys who reported for practice with the Williamsport high school football squad, he made the startling discovery that 40 per cent of them had flat feet.

A move for better arches was inaugurated and school physicians examined the feet of all children. Those found with flat arches will be examined again this fall by a specialist who will recommend corrective treatments.

Ability should be rewarded, but what of those who would be washing dishes if old dad hadn't built up a fortune?

Grovers To Open With Holbrook

Coach Bill Amos Believes Grove City College Eleven Is Strong One

GROVE CITY, Oct. 5—Coach Bill Amos will present his third Grove City College varsity eleven in his coaching career here, on Saturday when the Crimson opens its fall campaign with Alfred Holbrook College, or Lebanon, Ohio, as the opponent. With lettermen in six positions, a starting line averaging 178 pounds and backs scarcely averaging 156 pounds, the opening game is expected to supply many of the answers which is puzzling the Grover coach.

Seldom has Grove City presented such a heavy line, and never has the local school used such small ball carriers. Only one of the three starting backs, Verne Smith, is heavier than 154 pounds. Bernard Orris weighs in at 145, and the other halfback, Bobby Gross, plays at 154 pounds. "Red" Bestwick, a junior who played parts of several games last year at end, is stationed at quarterback. His weight is 150.

The success of the 1934 Crimson team will depend largely on the work of the tackles. Lockwood, 196 pounds, and Ashwood, 202, may get the call Saturday, and between them they provide much of the poundage in the forward wall. The other linemen, Binder, Beres, Glasgow, Tomko and Seich range between 170 and 175 pounds.

You'll buy them together because we did.

That's the proper way to buy shirts and neckwear . . . at the same time . . . for it's awfully hard to match a shirt that's home in a drawer with a tie that's here in the window.

Men who look best above the vest never leave a store with a shirt without first having it synchronized with a scarf at the next case.

We bought these Fall shirts and ties together and now, to buy them separately would be like splitting up Amos and Andy.

Here they are!

Lawrence Makes Reply To Pinchot

Democratic Chairman Accuses Governor As Being Betrayer

PINCHOT BECOMES POLITICAL TARGET

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—Condemned by the Democrats as a "political Judas" who committed the crime of betrayal by throwing his support to the Republican party, Gov. Pinchot today was the principal target in Pennsylvania's bristling political campaign.

Shortly after the governor, breaking a silence many months, came out in glowing support of Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican gubernatorial nominee, at Wilkes-Barre, Democrats discharged their campaign ammunition.

Speaking here, David L. Lawrence, state Democratic chairman, lashed at the governor, Schnader and leaders of the Republican party in general.

Referring to Governor Pinchot's swing to the regular Republicans, Lawrence declared:

"Governor Pinchot, professed disciple of Theodore and Franklin Roosevelt, following the example of another disciple named Judas, committed the basest, the meanest, the unpardonable and unspeakable crime of betrayal.

"Gifford Pinchot paid off his obligation to Grundy, to Mellon, to Atterbury, to Reed, to Schnader and to the utility racketeers of this commonwealth, by an attempt, as brazen as it was pitiable, as hypocritical as it was tragic, to remove from the hand of Schnader and the brow of Reed the mark of their millionaire masters."

Officers Question Supposed Pal Of Bruno Hauptmann

Skeptical Of Any New Information In Case From This Source

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 5.—Admittedly skeptical that their quiz would produce any new clues, federal agents today questioned James Bruce Russell, 35, a man with a long criminal record and alleged pal of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Russell was quoted as saying that "there are a lot of angles in this Lindbergh case," and "if I talk about Hauptmann, it won't help him any, it would hurt him."

According to a story told police by another prisoner, George W. Belhumeur, paroled Atlantic penitentiary prisoner, Russell, a native of Nebraska, confided to him that Hauptmann aided Russell in escaping from the Westchester county penitentiary at Eastview, N. Y., in August, 1930. Both are carpenters.

National Erosion Control Program For Pennsylvania

State Will Get $200,000 For Erosion Control Demonstration

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Approximately 115,000 acres of Central Pennsylvania farm land will be used for an erosion control demonstration at a cost of $200,000, the Interior Department announced today.

The money was allotted from a fund of $10,000,000 recently set aside for a national erosion control program, by Secretary of Interior Ickes.

The area to be developed is about 90 miles east of Pittsburgh and is said to be representative of about 1,728,000 acres of surrounding farm land. Dr. Austin L. Patrick, State College, Pa., and an authority in this field, is expected to head the project.

Strike Trouble To Be Smoothed Out

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—Confidence that the differences leading up to the bloody strike rioting in Bridgeport, Pa., will be satisfactorily settled was expressed here today by Major Stanley W. Root, Philadelphia regional director of the national labor relations board.

Root expressed his attitude just before he convened a special meeting of the board for a hearing on the formal complaint filed by the United Textile Workers of America, charging anti-union discrimination against the James Lees and Sons Woolen Mill of Bridgeport, hot-bed of the rioting which was culminated Wednesday by the fatal shooting of a young bystander and scores of injuries to strikers.

Mayor Reports September Activities; Arrests Made In Last Two Weeks

Two hundred and eighty-two persons were arrested during September charged with violating automobile laws, according to the report of Mayor Mayne and which was presented to city council at the meeting in city hall today.

The campaign against erring autoists was started about September 15.

The arrests were as follows: 123 for violating the parking law, 106 for violating traffic regulations and 53 for exceeding the speed limit.

In the campaign, not yet finished, it is said that probably 200 additional persons have been arrested. Some are listed as having been arrested in September but docketed on the police books in October and others have not yet received notice of their arrest.

In all 435 arrests were made during September and the fines from police activities amounted to $1,382, practically all of which was paid by the motorists.

Two hundred and ninety-eight of the 435 paid fines, 102 were discharged, 12 jailed and the other cases were disposed of by ordering the prisoners out of the city or turning them over to other authorities.

Railroad Pension Act Is Approved By Senator Reed

Success Of Act Depends On Sound Currency, Senator Reed Tells Railroaders

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Success of the National Railroad Pension Act depends on sound currency, just as does the value of every savings account and every life insurance policy Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, wrote Ray Hibbs, of Freeport, Pa., today.

Hibbs attended the recent Chicago convention of the Railroad Employes' National Pension Association.

"We must avoid inflation at all hazards and in order to do this we simply must bring a halt to the spending of money by the federal government far in excess of its revenues," Reed wrote.

He lauded the pension act as "a constructive step" toward a solution of labor's problems.

(International News Service)

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 5.—Little Ellen Marie Lewis, 7 pounds, 13 ounces, born ten minutes after her mother died, will grow into a "strapping, healthy girl," nurses at providence hospital reported today.

The mother, Mrs. Ellen Lewis, suffered a stroke while awaiting transfer into the surgery department, and died.

Dr. Robert J. McIvor performed the rare caesarian and successful operation to save the baby after the mother's death.

It was at first feared the baby had died too. For twenty minutes, artificial respiration and other restorative measures were applied after which the baby girl uttered a faint cry and began to breathe normally.

Parking of automobiles along the Taggart stadium side of DuShane street, between Lutton and Division streets, will be forbidden by police during the Johnstown-New Castle game tomorrow, Chief of Police John F. Haven has announced. The Athletic council asked for the ban.

It is hoped that the no-parking regulation will make more convenient the handling of the crowd expected.

Rowe Stops Mad Rush Of Cards, Final Score 3-2

Tigers Win In 12th Inning When Goose Goslin Bangs Out Single

Rowe Gives But One Hit In Nine Innings After Getting Bad Start

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer.

NAVIN FIELD, DETROIT, Oct. 5.—Well, while a great crowd of 40,000 rabidly partisan fans went wild, the Detroit Tigers declared themselves back in the fight for the world series championship Thursday afternoon by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 2, in the second game in 12 innings.

Goose Goslin produced the climax hit, a single to center, off Walker to drive in Gehringer with the winning run in the 12th.

Rowe Wins Game.

Before this happened Schoolboy Rowe and Bill Hallahan had engaged in an epic battle of pitchers with Rowe giving a most marvelous performance by holding the Cardinals to one hit in the last nine innings. Previously, too, the Tigers had to come from behind to even the score in the ninth at a time when all seemed to be lost.

Starting that inning, Fox singled cleanly to center and was sacrificed to second. Then came the big break of a ball game. G. Walker, nominated to bat in place of White, popped up a puny fly between home and first base. Anyone of three men might have handled it with ease. As it was, Collins and Delancey were equally late in starting for the ball which landed in fair territory and then bounced foul, repeating a famous incident from the 1912 world series.

Walker Singles.

Thus given a new reason for existence, Walker singled solidly to center to score Fox with the tying run and send a home crowd into delirium and a great ball game into extra innings. Hallahan was promptly lifted in favor of Walker who did very well but not well enough. When Gehringer opened the tenth by being safe on Frisch's fumble, Walker snuffed out Greenberg, Goslin and Owen. He also breezed through the 11th with three straight, but the 12th was the end.

Goslin Wins Game.

With one out, he lost Gehringer who walked, thus bringing Greenberg up for the sixth time with a man on base. For the sixth time Greenberg failed to deliver a hit and this time he at least kept the rally alive with a walk. This moved the winning run up to second base and Goslin, gallant veteran, promptly punched it home with a clean single to center.

The victory tied the series at one all and sent the teams to St. Louis on absolutely even terms.

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES

Having gone through the two tune-up week-ends with 48 out of 51 of the selections predicted correctly (tie games thrown out), the Patrol now embarks on the first major endeavor of the current football season. There are many games this week which would have even a Houdini biting his finger nails.

Three intersectional games of major importance are on the grid menu and should create additional interest. The Temple-Texas Aggies, Rice-Purdue and Texas-Notre Dame games not only have intersectional color but also appear to be games between evenly matched teams.

Temple plays host to the Texas outfit tonight under the lights. Pop Warner's outfit showed a scoring punch against V. P. I., a team of plenty of strength itself. Texas has hung up two victories but is heading for a defeat against Temple whom Warner is steering into the major football ranks.

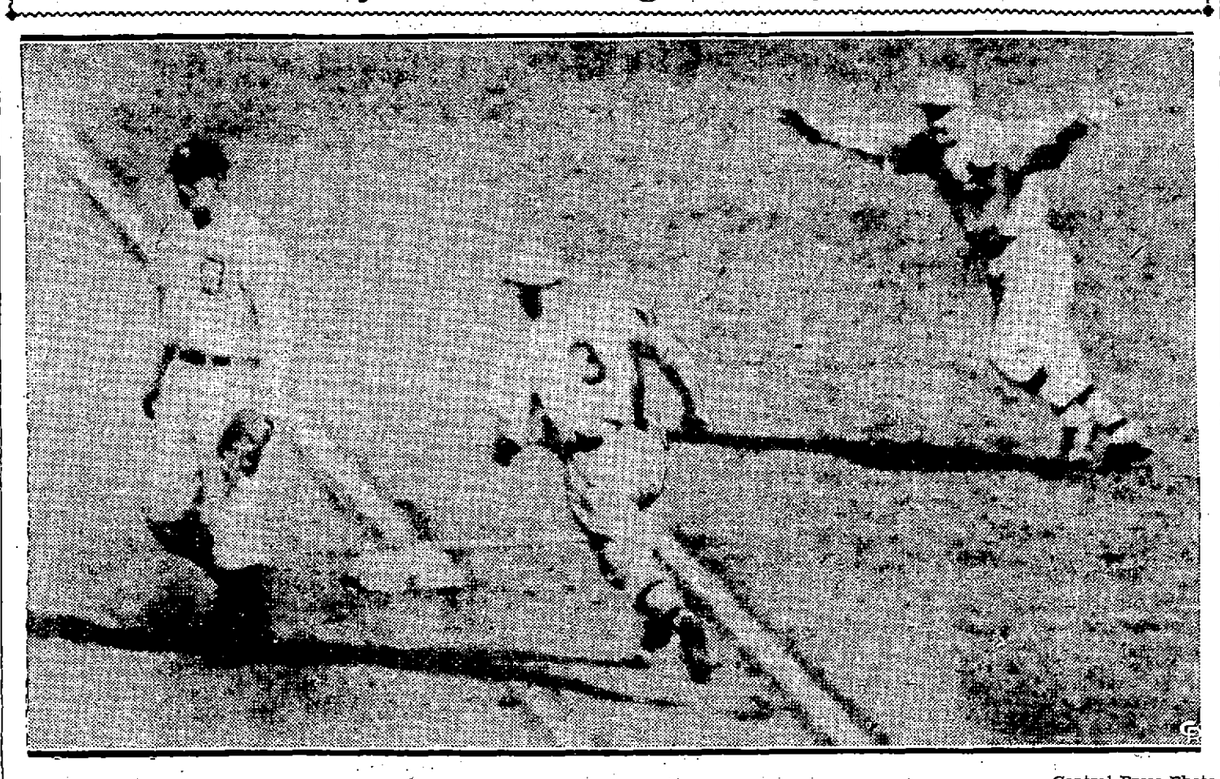

Purdue is an unknown quantity but considering the coaching ability of Kizer, the past records of Purdue teams, and the material on hand, the Boilermakers should have the edge on Rice, even though the Owls have played two games this year.

Unusual interest will be centered on the Notre Dame game where the new coaching regime gets under way. If the Irish are successful this season, the credit should go to Elmer Layden. Last spring when Layden started practice he had no seasoned line material available, so if the forward wall proves strong enough to give the Ramblers a good year, then it is because Elmer has created a line from almost nothing in the short time he has been at South Bend.

POLO GAME SUNDAY

Old Furnace Polo team of Zelienople will play the strong Charleroi polo team at the Zelienople Field at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon, it was announced by Louis Passavant today. The Charleroi team holds the only victory of the West Penn league over the Old Furnace riders, and the Zelienople boys are anxious to atone for this setback.

Cards Gain Early Lead But Tigers Rally And Win Second

Looking a winner until the fatal ninth inning when the Tigers tied the score and opened the way for the drive which gave the Bengals victory, 3 to 2, in the twelfth, the St. Louis Cardinals gained an early lead in the second game of the world series in Detroit. This graphic photo shows Frankie Frisch, St. Louis second baseman-manager, reaching first in the opening inning on a single.

Paul Dean Will Oppose Bridges In Third Game

Cards Bank On Youngest Of Deans, And Detroit Selects Tommy Bridges

GOSLIN-ROWE SERIES HEROES

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—The first suggestion of bad blood between these all too polite principals of the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers in the 1934 World's series was spilled this morning when reports became rampant that Joe Medwick had purposely slid with his spikes high and bristling into Mickey Cochrane at the plate in yesterday's third inning at Detroit.

Cochrane's legs were cut up like a beef stew in the collision and it was intimated that Medwick had been far from careful in making a very important slide into the plate. Had he been safe, "School-Boy" Rowe's magnificent effort in this second game of the World's series might have been in vain.

Great Throw

As it was Goslin's throwing out of Medwick at the plate sent this game into extra innings and killed off a victory to which the Cards felt all too richly entitled. The claim of non-partisan, unbiased spectators was that Medwick might have finished on the ground and left Cochrane's shins to their own devices.

The point is that there is nothing like a little random unpleasantness to create something that a World's series doesn't come honestly by.

It all means that when the Cards and Tigers meet in the third game of this crazy World's series this afternoon at Sportsman's park that the natural rivalry will be heightened by something bigger and finer, like a swell, outstanding, punch upon the nose. Speaking of that, Paul Dean, brother of "Dizzy", will be pouring it in for the Cards.

Dean and Bridges

On behalf of the Tigers a gent by the name of Tom Bridges, probably the best curve-ball pitcher in the American league is to be the Detroit nominee. Bridges is quite a man. If he wasn't he couldn't possibly have won 22 ball games in the American league.

Beyond that, we have the very interesting equasion of a curve ball artist who has been close to a no-hit game and the No. 2 brother of the all too perfect Dean. The trouble with Dean is that he stands out there on the pavement and promises to do something which nobody believes is possible. Then he does it. You can no more go behind a man like that than you can go behind the back of your own neck.

With the Tigers winning yesterday's game in the twelfth, we suddenly had a ball series again. If they had fallen before Hallahan, which they might very well have done, the series would be over. As it is it's a new start all over again. The Tigers are reborn and we are all going back to first principles.

THE MAN DEATH FORGOT

(International News Service)

PUEBLO, Colo.—Pueblo authorities are beginning to wonder whether Morgan Gavin, 37, an auto mechanic, has nine lives. His fifth attempt at suicide failed when a bullet was extracted from his right temple. Previously, he had attempted suicide by hanging three times and once by carbon monoxide gas.

The traveler can tell when he reaches a backward country. He doesn't see any padlocks.

Geneva To Use Freshmen Friday

Many New Players Will Be Given Acid Test In Game Against Thiel

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 5—Coach Dike Beede will be forced to use his freshman material in the inital starlight encounter against the Thiel Lutherans here Friday night. The loss of Clyde Johnson, hard-hitting full-back and Joe Paris, dependable guard, because of injuries makes the determining of a starting lineup a particularly hard job. Begolly and Bache have earned a right to their terminal positions but the situation at tackle is a different story. Beede will shift Fleck to a guard and will replace him with Marvin Jones, 192-pound freshman while Nave will be the choice for the other position. Jack Weichel will pair with Feick at the guard spots. Hlista will again start at center. In the backfield Garda is the selection at quarter. The halfbacks have as yet to perform under fire. Joe Perricelli, former Ambridge flash, will start at the running back and Howard Molter, husky sophmore, will handle the blocking assignment. Molter, a converted end has been showing up well of late in his new position but has yet to see service in a game. Dick Jones has been shifted to the fullback post replacing Johnson.

FOOTBALL CARD SATURDAY WILL BE ATTRACTIVE

and his cohorts under the lights at Forbes Field tonight.

"Hooks", Mylin seems to be going places this fall at Bucknell, defeating the veteran Davis-Elkins squad last week for an opener. Although Pennsylvania military college did itself proud by tying Rutgers, I think Bucknell will not find the military boys so tough and will take another slice of the undefeated pork they hope to possess.

Temple tackles Texas A. and M. and "Pop" Warner will use the night to further prepare Temple for Indiana University the following week.

Geneva Vs Thiel

Coach Dyke Beede and his eleven iron men at Geneva, displaying unexpected strength on their own field last week should defeat Thiel at Beaver Falls. The Waynesburg Yellow Jackets ought to do a lot of buzzing in Greensburg and I am betting their string will be worse than their buzz.

Thrills galore ought to be in store for football fans in every section of the state when Saturday opens its football program.

Pitt will invade Morgantown with a train load of ferocious Panthers. West Virginia University with two tough games under its belt should be prepared to give Pitt one of its toughest games since 1928 when the Mountaineers defeated Pitt 9 to 6. I pick Pitt to win because of the offensive power they displayed against W. and J.

Tech Vs Miami

Carnegie Tech opens its home season and supporters are anxious to see what the Tartans have. Those who expect great things of Howard Harpster's men can hardly believe the Skibos are as weak as they appeared against Geneva and look for them to open up and take Miami University from the Buckeye state by a wide margin.

An interesting contest will be staged between Villanova and Western Maryland at Philadelphia and I think it will be a Villanova day. Albright will make up for a beating by F. and M. when it battles Dickinson at Reading.

Harvey Harman at the University of Pennsylvania, making his opening plunge, should clear the first hurdle-Ursinus-and further prepare his proteges for Yale. Gettysburg, also in its initial appearance, should down Juniata easily.

State Vs Lebanon Valley

Lebanon Valley walks into trouble in meeting Penn State which should win on its own field without difficulty. Wooster is going to have a headache when those gridirons travel back to Ohio after playing W. & J. at Washington.

Westminster, journeying to New York to play Fordham, is a push-over for the Rams. Defeat can't be attributed to the dazzling lights of the great white way. Fordham is too powerful.

In its battle against Clarion teachers, at Meadville, Allegheny College hopes to break its record—a scoreless one hung up last season. The edge is with Allegheny.

LaSalle invades the turf of Catholic University but I am afraid their invasion will have no affect on Catholic U. My money's on Catholic Grove City should have a good day against Holbrook: West Chester is a favorite over Drexel: Delaware should take St. Joseph's College: and Lock Haven awaits success at Indiana Teachers.

Japan produces things cheaply, but her workers are forced to live far below the American standard of wasting.

Westminster Takes 30 Men To New York

Titans To Play Fordham In Metropolis Saturday Afternoon

Determined to give a good account of themselves, but hardly expecting victory, Westminster's football squad left New Castle Thursday night for New York City, there to engage Fordham University in the Yankee Stadium Saturday afternoon, October 6.

Including coaches and officials there were thirty men in the squad that left the Pennsylvania station Thursday night at 10:21. Coaches William and Thomas Gilbane were confident of a showing against Fordham but would make no predictions as to the score. For Westminster it is an opportunity to play against one of the East's fast teams. For Fordham the game will be a polisher for the tough games to come.

The squad arrived in New York at 9:41 Friday morning and will make their headquarters in the Pennsylvania Hotel. A light practice will probably be held Friday afternoon and at 2:30 Saturday afternoon the fray is on. The list of men in the squad that left for New York follows:

Coaches — William J. Gilbane, Thomas Gilbane.

Tackles—Merrill Straw, Wm. DeArment, Robt. Scarbrough, Robt. Harder, John Suscko.

Guards—Walter Young, Anthony Krulatz, Harold Burry, Richard Reniers.

Centers—Irving Franklin, Donald Helmick.

GRADE SCHOOL GAME

The Grade Six-A football team of Rose Avenue school defeated the Thaddeus Stevens Six-A team yesterday afternoon at the Rose Avenue field, 27 to 6.

You can tell an amateur philanthropist. He is astonished when those he has benefited knock him.

Rowe Stops Mad Rush Of Cards, Final Score 3-2

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer.

NAVIN FIELD, DETROIT, Oct. 5.—Well, while a great crowd of 40,000 rabidly partisan fans went wild, the Detroit Tigers declared themselves back in the fight for the world series championship Thursday afternoon by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 2, in the second game in 12 innings.

Goose Goslin produced the climax hit, a single to center, off Walker to drive in Gehringer with the winning run in the 12th.

Rowe Wins Game.

Before this happened Schoolboy Rowe and Bill Hallahan had engaged in an epic battle of pitchers with Rowe giving a most marvelous performance by holding the Cardinals to one hit in the last nine innings. Previously, too, the Tigers had to come from behind to even the score in the ninth at a time when all seemed to be lost.

Starting that inning, Fox singled cleanly to center and was sacrificed to second. Then came the big break of a ball game. G. Walker, nominated to bat in place of White, popped up a puny fly between home and first base. Anyone of three men might have handled it with ease. As it was, Collins and Delancey were equally late in starting for the ball which landed in fair territory and then bounced foul, repeating a famous incident from the 1912 world series.

Walker Singles.

Thus given a new reason for existence, Walker singled solidly to center to score Fox with the tying run and send a home crowd into delerium and a great ball game into extra innings. Hallahan was promptly lifted in favor of Walker who did very well but not well enough. When Gehringer opened the tenth by being safe on Frisch's fumble, Walker snuffed out Greenberg, Goslin and Owen. He also breezed through the 11th with three straight, but the 12th was the end.

Goslin Wins Game.

With one out, he lost Gehringer who walked, thus bringing Greenberg up for the sixth time with a man on base. For the sixth time Greenberg failed to deliver a hit and this time he at least kept the rally alive with a walk. This moved the winning run up to second base and Goslin, gallant veteran, promptly punched it home with a clean single to center.

The victory tied the series at one all and sent the teams to St. Louis on absolutely even terms.

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES

Having gone through the two tune-up week-ends with 48 out of 51 of the selections predicted correctly (tie games thrown out), the Patrol now embarks on the first major endeavor of the current football season. There are many games this week which would have even a Houdini biting his finger nails.

Three intersectional games of major importance are on the grid menu and should create additional interest. The Temple-Texas Aggies, Rice-Purdue and Texas-Notre Dame games not only have intersectional color but also appear to be games between evenly matched teams.

Temple plays host to the Texas outfit tonight under the lights. Pop Warner's outfit showed a scoring punch against V. P. I., a team of plenty of strength itself. Texas has hung up two victories but is heading for a defeat against Temple whom Warner is steering into the major football ranks.

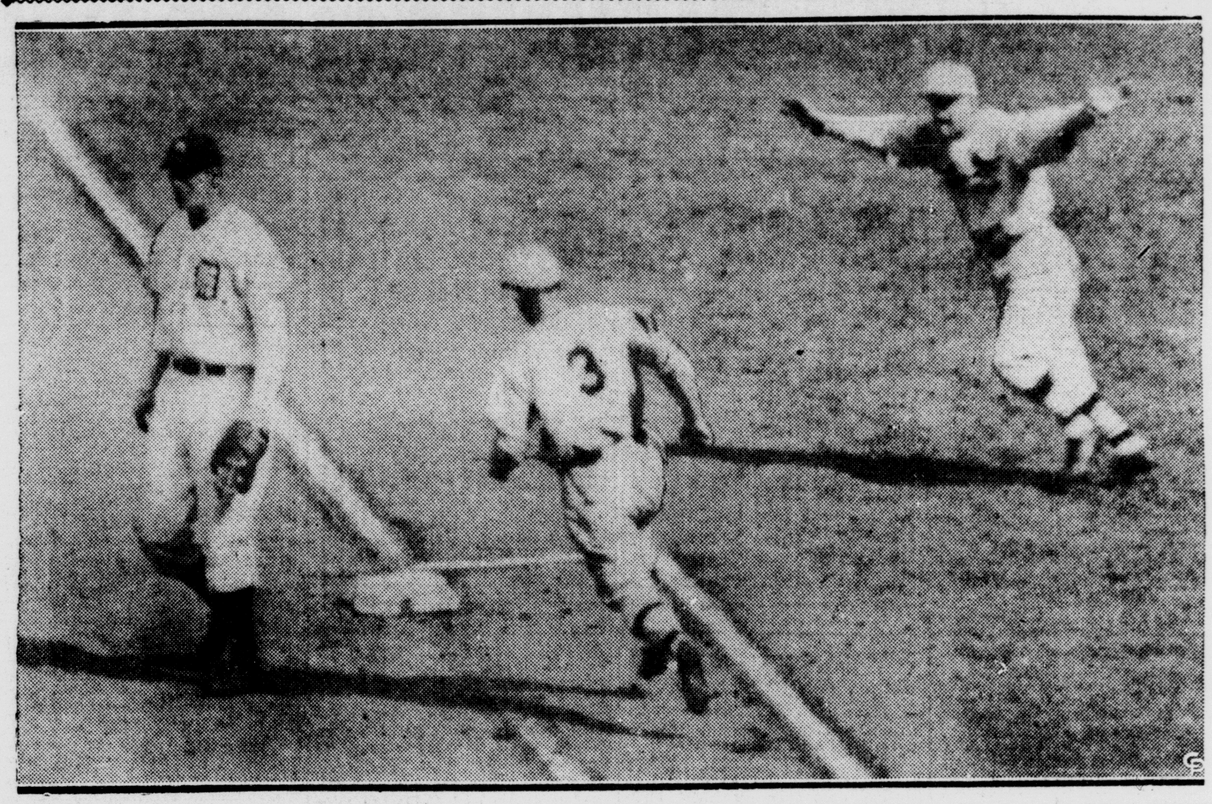

Purdue is an unknown quantity but considering the coaching ability of Kizer, the past records of Purdue teams, and the material on hand, the Boilermakers should have the edge on Rice, even though the Owls have played two games this year.

Unusual interest will be centered on the Notre Dame game where the new coaching regime gets under way. If the Irish are successful this season, the credit should go to Elmer Layden. Last spring when Layden started practice he had no seasoned line material available, so if the forward wall proves strong enough to give the Ramblers a good year, then it is because Elmer has created a line from almost nothing in the short time he has been at South Bend.

POLO GAME SUNDAY

Old Furnace Polo team of Zelienople will play the strong Charleroi polo team at the Zelienople Field at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon, it was announced by Louis Passavant today. The Charleroi team holds the only victory of the West Penn league over the Old Furnace riders, and the Zelienople boys are anxious to atone for this setback.

Looking a winner until the fatal ninth inning when the Tigers tied the score and opened the way for the drive which gave the Bengals victory, 3 to 2, in the twelfth, the St. Louis Cardinals gained an early lead in the second game of the world series in Detroit. This graphic photo shows Frankie Frisch, St. Louis second baseman-manager, reaching first in the opening inning on a single.

Paul Dean Will Oppose Bridges In Third Game

GOSLIN-ROWE SERIES HEROES

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—The first suggestion of bad blood between these all too polite principals of the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers in the 1934 World's series was spilled this morning when reports became rampant that Joe Medwick had purposely slid with his spikes high and bristling into Mickey Cochrane at the plate in yesterday's third inning at Detroit.

Cochrane's legs were cut up like a beef stew in the collision and it was intimated that Medwick had been far from careful in making a very important slide into the plate. Had he been safe, "School-Boy" Rowe's magnificent effort in this second game of the World's series might have been in vain.

Great Throw

As it was Goslin's throwing out of Medwick at the plate sent this game into extra innings and killed off a victory to which the Cards felt all too richly entitled. The claim of non-partisan, unbiased spectators was that Medwick might have finished on the ground and left Cochrane's shins to their own devices. The point is that there is nothing like a little random unpleasantness to create something that a World's series doesn't come honestly by.

It all means that when the Cards and Tigers meet in the third game of this crazy World's series this afternoon at Sportsman's park that the natural rivalry will be heightened by something bigger and finer, like a swell, outstanding, punch upon the nose. Speaking of that, Paul Dean, brother of "Dizzy", will be pouring it in for the Cards.

Dean and Bridges

On behalf of the Tigers a gent by the name of Tom Bridges, probably the best curve-ball pitcher in the American league is to be the Detroit nominee. Bridges is quite a man. If he wasn't he couldn't possibly have won 22 ball games in the American league.

Beyond that, we have the very interesting equasion of a curve ball artist who has been close to a no-hit game and the No. 2 brother of the all too perfect Dean. The trouble with Dean is that he stands out there on the pavement and promises to do something which nobody believes is possible. Then he does it. You can no more go behind a man like that than you can go behind the back of your own neck.

With the Tigers winning yesterday's game in the twelfth, we suddenly had a ball series again. If they had fallen before Hallahan, which they might very well have done, the series would be over. As it is it's a new start all over again. The Tigers are reborn and we are all going back to first principles.

THE MAN DEATH FORGOT

(International News Service)

PUEBLO, Colo.—Pueblo authorities are beginning to wonder whether Morgan Gavin, 37, an auto mechanic, has nine lives. His fifth attempt at suicide failed when a bullet was extracted from his right temple. Previously, he had attempted suicide by hanging three times and once by carbon monoxide gas.

The traveler can tell when he reaches a backward country. He doesn't see any padlocks.

Many New Players Will Be Given Acid Test In Game Against Thiel

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 5—Coach Dike Beede will be forced to use his freshman material in the inital starlight encounter against the Thiel Lutherans here Friday night. The loss of Clyde Johnson, hard-hitting full-back and Joe Paris, dependable guard, because of injuries makes the determining of a starting lineup a particularly hard job. Begolly and Bache have earned a right to their terminal positions but the situation at tackle is a different story. Beede will shift Fieck to a guard and will replace him with Marvin Jones, 192-pound freshman while Nave will be the choice for the other position. Jack Weichel will pair with Feick at the guard spots. Hlista will again start at center. In the backfield Garda is the selection at quarter. The halfbacks have as yet to perform under fire. Joe Perricelli, former Ambridge flash, will start at the running back and Howard Molter, husky sophmore, will handle the blocking assignment. Molter, a converted end has been showing up well of late in his new position but has yet to see service in a game. Dick Jones has been shifted to the fullback post replacing Johnson.

and his cohorts under the lights at Forbes Field tonight.

"Hooks" Mylin seems to be going places this fall at Bucknell, defeating the veteran Davis-Elkins squad last week for an opener. Although Pennsylvania military college did itself proud by tying Rutgers, I think Bucknell will not find the military boys so tough and will take another slice of the undefeated pork they hope to possess.

Temple tackles Texas A. and M. and "Pop" Warner will use the night to further prepare Temple for Indiana University the following week.

Geneva Vs Thiel

Coach Dyke Beede and his eleven iron men at Geneva, displaying unexpected strength on their own field last week should defeat Thiel at Beaver Falls. The Waynesburg Yellow Jackets ought to do a lot of buzzing in Greensburg and I am betting their string will be worse than their buzz.

Thrills galore ought to be in store for football fans in every section of the state when Saturday opens its football program.

Pitt will invade Morgantown with a train load of ferocious Panthers. West Virginia University with two tough games under its belt should be prepared to give Pitt one of its toughest games since 1928 when the Mountaineers defeated Pitt 9 to 6. I pick Pitt to win because of the offensive power they displayed against W. and J.

Tech Vs Miami

Carnegie Tech opens its home season and supporters are anxious to see what the Tartans have. Those who expect great things of Howard Harpster's men can hardly believe the Skibos are as weak as they appeared against Geneva and look for them to open up and take Miami University from the Buckeye state by a wide margin.

An interesting contest will be staged between Villanova and Western Maryland at Philadelphia and I think it will be a Villanova day. Albright will make up for a beating by F. and M. when it battles Dickinson at Reading.

Harvey Harman at the University of Pennsylvania, making his opening plunge, should clear the first hurdle-Ursinus-and further prepare his proteges for Yale. Gettysburg, also in its initial appearance, should down Juniata easily.

State Vs Lebanon Valley

Lebanon Valley walks into trouble in meeting Penn State which should win on its own field without difficulty. Wooster is going to have a headache when those gridirons travel back to Ohio after playing W. & J. at Washington.

Westminster, journeying to New York to play Fordham, is a push-over for the Rams. Defeat can't be attributed to the dazzling lights of the great white way. Fordham is too powerful.

In its battle against Clarion teachers, at Meadville, Allegheny College hopes to break its record—a scoreless one hung up last season. The edge is with Allegheny.

LaSalle invades the turf of Catholic University but I am afraid their invasion will have no affect on Catholic U. My money's on Catholic Grove City should have a good day against Holbrook: West Chester is a favorite over Drexel: Delaware should take St. Joseph's College: and Lock Haven awaits success at Indiana Teachers.

Japan produces things cheaply, but her workers are forced to live far below the American standard of wasting.

Westminster Takes 30 Men To New York

Titans To Play Fordham In Metropolis Saturday Afternoon

Determined to give a good account of themselves, but hardly expecting victory, Westminster's football squad left New Castle Thursday night for New York City, there to engage Fordham University in the Yankee Stadium Saturday afternoon, October 6.

Including coaches and officials there were thirty men in the squad that left the Pennsylvania station Thursday night at 10:21. Coaches William and Thomas Gilbane were confident of a showing against Fordham but would make no predictions as to the score. For Westminster it is an apportunity to play against one of the East's fast teams. For Fordham the game will be a polisher for the tough games to come.

The squad arrived in New York at 9:41 Friday morning and will make their headquarters in the Pennsylvania Hotel. A light practice will probably be held Friday afternoon and at 2:30 Saturday afternoon the fray is on. The list of men in the squad that left for New York follows:

Coaches — William J. Gilbane, Thomas Gilbane.

Tackles—Merrill Straw, Wm. DeArment, Robt. Scarbrough, Robt. Harder, John Suscko.

Guards—Walter Young, Anthony Krulatz, Harold Burry, Richard Reniers.

Centers—Irving Franklin, Donald Helmick.

GRADE SCHOOL GAME

The Grade Six-A football team of Rose Avenue school defeated the Thaddeus Stevens Six-A team yesterday afternoon at the Rose Avenue field, 27 to 6.

You can tell an amateur philanthropist. He is astonished when those he has benefited knock him.

Dr. Galbraith Is Heard Thursday

DISTRICT NAMES COULTER PRESIDENT

Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, gave an inspiring address at the evening session of the Wampum District Convention, which was held at the Moravia Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon and evening. Dr. Galbraith was born in the vicinity of Wampum and a number of those present remembered him as a boy.

At the afternoon session Rev. T. C. Henderson, pastor of the Convention church, conducted the devotionals, and Mrs. Howard F. Magill gave a most interesting and enlightening address on her mission work in the mountainous region of the south, and Rev. William Hammond brought a splendid message on the Convention theme; "Thou Art the Christ".

The Lawrence County Sabbath School Association held their executive committee meeting at the Convention church, with the following members present: Robert M. Strickler, Jr., president; D. M. Marshall and P. W. Griffin, vice presidents; Mrs. M. E. Vaughn, secretary; Miss Anna Perry, administrative superintendent; Mrs. A. B. Street, children's division superintendent; Mrs. Howard F. Magill, mission superintendent; H. L. Marvin, president of New Castle District; Paul Coulter, president of Wampum District; A. W. Leslie, president of Mt. Jackson District; and additional members, John W. Owens and D. S. Williams.

The place chosen for the next Wampum Convention was the Wampum M. E. church. The newly elected officers of the said district are: President, Paul Coulter; vice president, Ernest Benson; secretary, Mrs. Ford Aiken; treasurer, Mrs. Estella Hennon, and the following department superintendents: Children's division, Miss Nellie Grinnen; Young People's division, Miss Mary E. Wagner; Adult division, Rev. Norman E. Allen; Home department, Miss Olive Davis; Religious Education, Miss Emma Ford; Missions, Mrs. Josie Tillia; Temperance, Mrs. Earl Mills; Parent Training, Mrs. E. L. Hennon; Administrative, Rev. T. C. Henderson.

A chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the Moravia Presbyterian church. A hearty vote of appreciation was extended to them for the splendid meal, and to the many who took part in the program.

Altoona Man On Trial For Murder

Kenneth Burley, 39, Faces Charges Of Killing Sweetheart In Altoona Cafe

(International News Service)

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—Blair county's fourth murder trial in eight years and the second in two weeks, today went into its second session as Kenneth Burley, 39, Altoona, faced charges of the commonwealth that he shot and killed Mrs. Catherine Forrest, 21, in an Altoona cafe, August 23.

Burley, a widower, shot himself through the head after allegedly shooting the woman, who had been the object of his affections.

While physicians were uncertain as to whether Burley could stand the trial ordeal, Judge Marion D. Patterson ruled it should go on. Two doctors submitted certificates stating Burley had recovered.

LATERAL WILL BE COMPLETED AT STONEBORO

Contract Let For Completion On Road From Greenville-Sandy Lake Highway

GREENVILLE, Oct. 5.—Years of effort on the part of public spirited citizens of Stoneboro to obtain a completion of the lateral from the Greenville-Sandy Lake road into Stoneboro were crowned Thursday by the official announcement at Harrisburg that the Koski Construction company of Ashtabula, O., had been awarded the contract.

The contract calls for the construction of 1.15 miles of 16-foot reinforced concrete and one reinforced concrete structure on rural route 43043. Bids are also to be opened at Harrisburg on October 19 for 3.38 miles, 20-foot reinforced concrete, route 58, Mercer borough and Findley township.

The Stoneboro lateral completion, a county-aid project, will extend the present lateral from the borough line around the west end of the lake, up the full length of Linden street and extending approximately 250 feet up Franklin street, connecting with the spur from the Mercer-Sandy Lake road. Another pavement project, started under the CWA and scheduled for completion with the LWD, ties in with the completion of the lateral.

The contractor's equipment has been delivered to the site and practically everything is in readiness to take up the work.

Visitations Result In An Expected Attendance Of 1100 At Service Sunday

At the First Baptist church school Sunday morning there will be a rally day program presented, when a goal of 1100 has been set for the attendance mark. The visitation of last Sunday and the calls made during the week show that the goal has been reached.

The men's class, according to "Red" Williams, president, will reach an attendance of 250; the D. S. Williams class expects to have 100 per cent of the members present as does the Intermediate department, according to James McCallion, superintendent.

There will be a new attendance plan announced at the opening of the Sunday school session, which is one of the most attractive plans for regular attendance. Workers in other Sunday schools will be welcomed at this time to hear of the plan and adopt it, if it pleases them. The plan will be presented at 9:30 a. m., according to Paul D. Weller, superintendent.

Raid Show Near Greensburg, Pa.

Operation Of Immoral Show Is Charged—Thirty Four Visitors Taken

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—Anna Sutton, 21, Pittsburgh; Harry Richard, 49, and Fay Zeiders, 30, of Clearfield, alleged proprietors of the Red Raven Inn on the Delmont road; Stauffer Burley, 20; his brother, Frank, 34, of Homestead, and Byron Garrison, 29, of Pittsburgh, orchestra members, were held for court in default of $500 bail each following a hearing on charges of operating an immoral show before Alderman C. Bert Faust today.

These defendants, with 34 others, were arrested by state police from Troop A in an early morning raid conducted by the troopers in plain-clothes. The 34 visitors were charged with disorderly conduct, were fined, with costs, a total of $14.50 each and given the alternative of spending 30 days in jail. By tonight all but two had paid and were released.

Miss Sutton, Richard and Fay Zeiders had produced $500 bond each and were released. The three orchestra members, the two Burleys and Harrison, remained in jail in default of $500 each.

Twenty-Four Federal Prisoners, Including Two Bankers, Taken To Pen

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Twenty-four government prisoners, including an Erie and a Brookville banker, were enroute today to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where they must serve terms ranging from a year and a day to 15 years.

Prominent in the group of prisoners which also included 11 counterfeiters, two bank robbers, an extortionist and others, was Leonard B. Shannon, former president and conservator of the Jefferson County National Bank, Brookville, and Democratic candidate for state treasurer in 1932. He pleaded guilty to embezzling some $50,000 of the bank's funds.

Fred Hill, Erie, sentenced to serve two years, and Elton W. Luker, Duquesne, were the other bankers in the prison party.

BIGGEST CROWD OF YEAR LOOMS

Colorful Football Battle Will Be Played At Taggart Stadium

Both Teams Undefeated To Date, Johnstown Will Bring Big Crowd

UNDEFEATED so far this year, New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will play Johnstown's undefeated powerful high school football team at Taggart stadium Saturday afternoon in what looms as one of the best of the games on the 1934 program. The contest will start at 3 o'clock. The doors will open at 1 o'clock. The biggest crowd to witness a grid battle here in recent years is expected. The two schoolboy teams are eagerly awaiting the whistle that sends them into action.

Lots Of Enthusiasm

There is considerable enthusiasm for this grid game. It marks the first time that Johnstown and New Castle have ever met in athletics and each will strive hard to make an impression. The fans of both towns have warmed up the game in fine fashion.

In event that the weatherman sends a lot of nice warm sunshine, the turnstiles at Taggart stadium will get the first real workout of the year. It is estimated that at least 10,000 fans will view the game. Johnstown plans to send about 2,500 or 3,000 fans here. Over 1,500 will come by special train, many will come by automobiles.

Show Visitors Courtesy

New Castle fans are urged to show every courtesy to the Johnstown guests. New Castle will be going to Johnstown next year and will expect similar courtesy, so it is up to New Castle fans and citizens to set the example. Give the Flood City boys and girls a big welcome.

It would be wise for the New Castle fans to get to the game early, or at least buy their tickets early. When the Johnstown special arrives the crowd will cause a lot of confusion at Taggart field.

Thousands Will Come

Johnstown will bring a fine 99-piece band and will vie with the great New Castle high band for honors during the game. The band parade between halves should be an inspiring sight.

Meanwhile as the fans of Johnstown and New Castle work themselves into a frenzy over this football game, the grid squads of both schools have been hard at work all week. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will give his red and black clad wearers a final few instructions tonight. Coach Joe Harrick will give the blue and black team final polishing today.

Crisci, Palkovitch Tackles

Coach Bridenbaugh is more than pleased with the work of Frank Crisci and Walter "Gob" Palkovitch in the Charleroi game, both boys playing tackle posts and will surely start them again tomorrow. Adamo who is playing a fine game, will be back at center, and Raskowski and Cardella will take care of the guard jobs. Wisosky and Tuscano will be at the ends.

There is some doubt about the backfield starting the game, with indications pointing to Mumford getting the call for quarterback, with Fleming and Ostrosky taking care of the halfback posts and Cox or Copple at the fullback post. Mumford is needed in the game due to his punting and passing.

Watch Fleming, Zakula

Fleming will no doubt be a "marked" man in the game, as Johnstown knows what this light-haired boy did to Charleroi with three touchdowns all by himself. The same holds good for Zakula of Johnstown who scored four touchdowns against Mount Union high last week. Watch both Fleming and Zakula in the game tomorrow.

Johnstown high will bring a team here that averages about 160 pounds. The New Castle team will average about the same. New Castle has defeated Braddock, Ellwood City and Charleroi. Johnstown has defeated Mount Union and Bedford, which team will win tomorrow? One of the teams will probably go down to defeat, one of the winning streaks will be snapped, which will it be?

This is bound to be one of the highlights of the year for the locals at Taggart field and you had better plan to be in the stands to see it.

Grovers To Open With Holbrook

Coach Bill Amos Believes Grove City College Eleven Is Strong One

GROVE CITY, Oct. 5—Coach Bill Amos will present his third Grove City College varsity eleven in his coaching career here, on Saturday when the Crimson opens its fall campaign with Alfred Holbrook College, or Lebanon, Ohio, as the opponent. With lettermen in six positions, a starting line averaging 178 pounds and backs scarcely averaging 156 pounds, the opening game is expected to supply many of the answers which is puzzling the Grover coach.

Seldom has Grove City presented such a heavy line, and never has the local school used such small ball carriers. Only one of the three starting backs, Verne Smith, is heavier than 154 pounds. Bernard Orris weighs in at 145, and the other halfback, Bobby Gross, plays at 154 pounds. "Red" Bestwick, a junior who played parts of several games last year at end, is stationed at quarterback. His weight is 150.

The success of the 1934 Crimson team will depend largely on the work of the tackles. Lockwood, 196 pounds, and, Ashwood, 202, may get the call Saturday, and between them they provide much of the poundage in the forward wall. The other linemen, Binder, Beres, Glasgow, Tomko and Seich range between 170 and 175 pounds.

Show Courtesy To Visitors At Game Saturday

Give Johnstown Football Team And Fans Big Welcome Here Tomorrow

New Castle football fans and citizens can set a shining example tomorrow when the thousands of Johnstown, Pa., grid fans and students arrive for the big football battle. Show courtesy to the visitors. If they ask the way to the Taggart stadium, direct them carefully and cheerfully.

Signs have been made directing the Johnstown motorists how to reach the stadium after they arrive at East Washington street via. Butler avenue.

There will be quite a number of Johnstown citizens in New Castle tomorrow for the first time, and it behooves Pa Newc and his family to send them home with a fine impression of New Castle hospitality.

New Castle high will play at Johnstown next year and will expect to receive courteous treatment. "Don't forget this".

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—Shrill whistles crack the silence of night. Sturdy collegiates dressed in moleskins tonight usher in the second week-end of gridiron battles in the preliminaries throughout this state for football recognition. The big question is:

What teams will be eliminated?

All are meeting tougher opposition. Some teams that played last week will have to correct mistakes and open up with more tricks and punch if they want to reap glory from the gridiron. Perhaps some new stars will light up the football firmament this week since some elevens haven't pried open their schedule as yet.

Dukes Vs Ashland

Being defeated by a score of 7 to 0 last Friday because some player failed to properly protect his teammate punter, Duquesne University will send a team on the field with fire in its eyes. I question whether Ashland will stop Coach Joe Bach

Boyd Switches Union Lineup

Drastic Shakeup In Union Lineup For Game At Rochester Saturday

Head Coach Davey Boyd dug deep into the Union high football bag yesterday afternoon and came up with several changes in the Union lineup for the impending game Saturday at Rochester. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

Boyd placed Schaas at a tackle post, and has Rudesill, Caiazza and Taylor fighting it out for the guard jobs. Pattison has been shifted to center, and there will be many changes in the backfield.

Jaskolka and Mateja are retained at the end posts, with Denny at halfback and Wallace calling signals. Thompson, Annerella and Huling are fighting it out for the other backfield posts.

Hope For Victory

Rochester and Union have both been defeated in three starts this year. The Unionites would like to bring back a victory. The Blue and White boys clicked very nicely in the practice session last evening and are rarin' for the Rochester game. Rochester and Union have never met on the gridiron before and each will be anxious to make an impression.

James, a freshman, has been added to the squad and is playing a guard job. He looks like a comer.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Veteran drivers stole the show in the Burgettstown fair harness races yesterday. Reynolds Emerick drove Morley Scott to win in the free-for-all in 2:15. The bay gelding took third place in the thirst heat but finished first in the last two heats. In the free-for-all trot, McMillan drove John Drew to win in three straight heats in 2:14 3-4. Lindy Sout with Reynolds in the sulky captured the 2:22 pace in straight heats.

Jimmy Callahan, former manager of the Pirates passed away suddenly in Boston yesterday according to news received in Pittsburgh. He was born March 18, 1784 in Fitchburg, Mass. and when 20 years old signed with the Philadelphia Nationals. In December, 1915 he was signed to manage the Pirates. He served until the middle of the 1917 season.

Babe Amos fought and lost to Tiger Joe Randall in a 10 round bout last night at McKeesport.

Mrs. Opal Hill, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. Leona Cheney, Can Gabriel, Ca., on the twenty fourth green in a thrilling climax to the quarter final round of the thirty-eighth national golf tourney under way at Philadelphia. Glenna Collett Vare beat Mrs. Burt Weil, 6 and 5 and Virginia Van Wie from Frances Williams 5 to 4.

Springer Spaniel Owners Get Chance

Permission Granted For Holding Of Springer Spaniel Trials At Fair Grounds

J. E. Blaine, chairman of the Springer Spaniel committee of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association announced today that special permission has been received by the association for the holding of Springer Spaniel trials at the Sportsman's field day at the New Castle Fair grounds, Saturday.

The Lawrence County men are jubilant over the permission given by the AKC through H. L. Ferguson, of Fisher's Island, New York, secretary of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trials association, as this is the only known sanctioned Spring Spaniel trials outside of Fisher's Island, in this part of the country.

Mr. Ferguson in his letter stated that the rules and standards must be lived up to in regard to the trials. The trials are under the supervision of the American Kennel club and the meet tomorrow is a sanctioned AKC event.

Lawrence County Schools Playing Away From Home

New Castle-Johnstown Game Only Grid Encounter For Local Fans Saturday

WESTMINSTER AT NEW YORK CITY

All of the Lawrence county high school football teams will be in action Saturday, but not one of the games with the exception of the New Castle-Johnstown game will be played in the county.

Union high goes to Rochester, Pa., for a game with Rochester high at 2:30 p. m. Bessemer high will journey to Scienceville, O., for a football battle. Shenango high will travel to Mars, Pa., for their fourth game of the current season.

Ellwood City will go to Beaver Falls for their fourth game on the 1934 card and hope to upset the Tigers under Ellwood Kammerer. Coach Benedict has the Ellwoods on edge for this important tilt.

Coach Finds Many Have Flat Feet

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 5.—Like the London bridge of the old-time song, the arches in the feet of Williamsport school children are "falling down."

When Coach Harold Rock made an examination of boys who reported for practice with the Williamsport high school football squad, he made the startling discovery that 40 per cent of them had flat feet.

A move for better arches was inaugurated and school physicians examined the feet of all children. Those found with flat arches will be examined again this fall by a specialist who will recommend corrective treatments.

Ability should be rewarded, but what of those who would be washing dishes if old dad hadn't built up a fortune?

STOCKS

RAIL SHARES QUITE STRONG

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Speculative buying prompted by the market's refusal to follow the oils and California shares lower yesterday brought a vigorous rally in stocks today with gains running to more than 2 points.

All sections of the list were strong and the demand for stocks became evident at the opening when several large blocks of stock appeared on the tape at advancing prices.

Railroad shares were particularly strong as a group with Atchison, Northern Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, and New York Central scoring gains running to more than 2 points.

Specialties were in demand with Columbian Carbon, Celanese, and corn products advancing more than a point each.

Auburn and Chrysler were favorites in the motor group with gains of more than a point. General Motors was quiet and somewhat sluggish.

Utilities were quiet but headed higher under the leadership of Consolidated Gas.

Better tone in the commodity markets also was a factor in stimulating the recovery in stocks. Wheat and corn opened fractionally higher and cotton advanced about 25 cents a bale.

California company shares which had been heavy yesterday showed signs of recovery under the lear of Safety Stores. Oils showed a similar tendency.

Mail order and Farm Implement stocks were strong in sympathy with wheat.

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5.—In order to prevent a repetition of the brawl which occurred at Lincoln field during the Ellwood-Butler football game last Saturday, Ellwood City Borough Council at a regular meeting in the city building last night took action to completely equip and give all the necessary power and support to meet all such other emergencies in the future properly and efficiently.

President of Council Alex Main and Chairman of the Police Committee A. D. Henderson, did not mince words in expressing their displeasure in the manner in which the affair was quelled and the later treatment of the participants. They pointed out that several of the policemen were battered and bruised up and one or two had serious injuries.

When Councilman J. E. Powell asked why the police were not equipped with maces, President Main replied that he understood that the burgess was not in favor of it. It was pointed out that the police had blackjacks. One of the councilmen declared that this was too dangerous a weapon to use in such a case and therefore the hesitancy of the policemen to do so.

Council then took action to equip the local police with all the paraphernalia necessary and give them broad powers. They are to use their equipment with their own discretion.

This morning Burgess Judd C. Turner declared that the criticism was unwarranted. He was not present when the council discussion was going on. The Burgess stated that the local police were never equipped with maces when he was in council or his term in office, and that the police have all the power necessary to meet emergencies. He had only warned them not to abuse their privileges. That is, he was not in favor of using a blackjack or club in arresting a drunken man, believing that this can be done in another manner. The police are to use their own discretion in protecting themselves and such a riot as above.

Ellwood City Hi At Beaver Falls

LOCALS PITCHED FOR GREAT GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5—A resolute Ellwood City High eleven coached by "Ganzy" Benedict and Mike Ferrare is invading Beaver Falls on Saturday afternoon to battle their arch rivals, Beaver Falls High and win their second victory of the season.

The locals came out of the Butler contest in fine shape and are pitched to a high key for their prospective battle. They have a score or so to settle with the Tigers of Beaver Falls and feel that the opportunity is now or never. The locals will unleash a fast moving and deceptive offense tomorrow if the weather man behaves and the field is dry. Bill Young, Tony Scopelite, Chet Bognosky and Alex Robuck promise to display some real magic in the handling of the pigskin in the backfield. If worse comes to worse the Tubers can fall back on their highly respected aerial attack which they have considerably perfected this week. The local forward wall which has had previous experience with the Tigers is eager and tensed for the crash. They theraten to show what real holes are.

The Tubers are not underestimating the strength of Coach Kammer's proteges at Beaver Falls. The Tigers are back again this season with practically a veteran team. They just need the necessary spark to set them off. They were not so impressive in their 20-0 victory over Monaca and 6-0 over Beaver. According to reports from Beaver Falls today everyone including the players have reached a high pitch for the game. The Tigers have shown improved strength in their workouts and will be out to fight the Tubers every inch of the way.

Tomorrow the locals will be accompanied by the high school band and cheering section and a huge following of local fans.

The probable line-up:

Hear Pittsburgh Man Discuss "The New National Housing Act"

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5.—The Rotary club played host last night to the Kiwanis, Quota and Women's clubs and guests from out-of-town in order that as many as possible of our representative citizens might have the privilege of hearing Lester Bernstein, Pittsburgh, discuss the new "National Housing Act."

President J. I. Porter acted the part of the royal host and made all feel as much at home as scattered members of a family gathered together for a family reunion. The dining room of the First Presbyterian church was well filled and extra places were set.

The government is endeavoring to aid in this important matter of housing by providing encouragement to householders to repair or improve their buildings and properties which is based upon sound financing. He said there were some 135 communities in Western Pennsylvania of 3,000 inhabitants and more and that 118 of these communities were getting in step with this movement and that Ellwood City was in the forefront of the movement. As to conditions of property he told his hearers that Ellwood City was average. He estimated that 30 per cent of property holders might proceed immediately along the lines of this measure and that 30 per cent of the others might follow in the near future. He strongly advised that the people of this community accept this opportunity and that they proceed conservatively in order that there might not be disappointments. No plan should be considered which would entail annual payments of more than 20 per cent of the annual income of the property holder.

Ray Aylesworth is chairman of the local committee in charge of this work.

Mr. Bernstein quoted a few substantial figures to show that, with all the seeming uncertainties of the present business situation, nevertheless, definite progress was being made.

Council Gives Local Police Broad Powers

To Equip And Give Power To Police To Meet All Emergencies In Future

BURGESS DENIES CHARGES OF MAIN

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5.—In order to prevent a repetition of the brawl which occurred at Lincoln field during the Ellwood-Butler football game last Saturday, Ellwood City Borough Council at a regular meeting in the city building last night took action to completely equip and give all the necessary power and support to meet all such other emergencies in the future properly and efficiently.

President of Council Alex Main and Chairman of the Police Committee A. D. Henderson, did not mince words in expressing their displeasure in the manner in which the affair was quelled and the later treatment of the participants. They pointed out that several of the policemen were battered and bruised up and one or two had serious injuries.

When Councilman J. E. Powell asked why the police were not equipped with maces, President Main replied that he understood that the burgess was not in favor of it. It was pointed out that the police had blackjacks. One of the councilmen declared that this was too dangerous a weapon to use in such a case and therefore the hesitancy of the policemen to do so.

Council then took action to equip the local police with all the paraphernalia necessary and give them broad powers. They are to use their equipment with their own discretion.

This morning Burgess Judd C. Turner declared that the criticism was unwarranted. He was not present when the council discussion was going on. The Burgess stated that the local police were never equipped with maces when he was in council or his term in office, and that the police have all the power necessary to meet emergencies. He had only warned them not to abuse their privileges. That is, he was not in favor of using a blackjack or club in arresting a drunken man, believing that this can be done in another manner. The police are to use their own discretion in protecting themselves and such a riot as above.

Ellwood City Hi At Beaver Falls

LOCALS PITCHED FOR GREAT GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5—A resolute Elwood City High eleven coached by "Ganzy" Benedict and Mike Ferrare is invading Beaver Falls on Saturday afternoon to battle their arch rivals, Beaver Falls High and win their second victory of the season.

The locals came out of the Butler contest in fine shape and are pitched to a high key for their prospective battle. They have a score or so to settle with the Tigers of Beaver Falls and feel that the opportunity is now or never. The locals will unleash a fast moving and deceptive offense tomorrow if the weather man behaves and the field is dry. Bill Young, Tony Scopelite, Chet Bognosky and Alex Robuck promise to display some real magic in the handling of the pigskin in the backfield. If worse comes to worse the Tubers can fall back on their highly respected aerial attack which they have considerably perfected this week. The local forward wall which has had previous experience with the Tigers is eager and tensed for the crash. They theraten to show what real holes are.

The Tubers are not underestimating the strength of Coach Kammer's proteges at Beaver Falls. The Tigers are back again this season with practically a veteran team. They just need the necessary spark to set them off. They were not so impressive in their 20-0 victory over Monaca and 6-0 over Beaver. According to reports from Beaver Falls today everyone including the players have reached a high pitch for the game. The Tigers have shown improved strength in their workouts and will be out to fight the Tubers every inch of the way.

Tomorrow the locals will be accompanied by the high school band and cheering section and a huge following of local fans.

The probable line-up:

Ellwood		Beaver Falls
Jeannette	L E	Hartlett
Marcus	L T	Ossoski
Kaufman	L G	Alwine
Kraynak	C	Nelle
Steckman	R G	Lintner
Rocco	R T	DePaul
Bettoni	R E	Lesinsky
Robuck	Q	R. Olzack
Young	L H	Spano
Bognosky	R H	Mitchell
Scopelite	F	Wertz

Civic Clubs Are Guests Of Rotary

Hear Pittsburgh Man Discuss "The New National Housing Act"

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5.—The Rotary club played host last night to the Kiwanis, Quota and Women's clubs and guests from out-of-town in order that as many as possible of our representative citizens might have the privilege of hearing Lester Bernstein, Pittsburgh, discuss the new "National Housing Act."

President J. I. Porter acted the part of the royal host and made all feel as much at home as scattered members of a family gathered together for a family reunion. The dining room of the First Presbyterian church was well filled and extra places were set.

The government is endeavoring to aid in this important matter of housing by providing encouragement to householders to repair or improve their buildings and properties which is based upon sound financing. He said there were some 135 communities in Western Pennsylvania of 3,000 inhabitants and more and that 118 of these communities were getting in step with this movement and that Ellwood City was in the forefront of the movement. As to conditions of property he told his hearers that Ellwood City was average. He estimated that 30 per cent of property holders might proceed immediately along the lines of this measure and that 30 per cent of the others might follow in the near future. He strongly advised that the people of this community accept this opportunity and that they proceed conservatively in order that there might not be disappointments. No plan should be considered which would entail annual payments of more than 20 per cent of the annual income of the property holder.

Ray Aylesworth is chairman of the local committee in charge of this work.

Mr. Bernstein quoted a few substantial figures to show that, with all the seeming uncertainties of the present business situation, nevertheless, definite progress was being made.

Rowe Stops Mad Rush Of Cards, Final Score 3-2

Tigers Win In 12th Inning When Goose Goslin Bangs Out Single

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer.

NAVIN FIELD, DETROIT, Oct. 5.—Well, while a great crowd of 40,000 rabidly partisan fans went wild, the Detroit Tigers declared themselves back in the fight for the world series championship Thursday afternoon by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 2, in the second game in 12 innings.

Goose Goslin produced the climax hit, a single to center, off Walker to drive in Gehringer with the winning run in the 12th.

Rowe Wins Game.

Before this happened Schoolboy Rowe and Bill Hallahan had engaged in an epic battle of pitchers with Rowe giving a most marvelous performance by holding the Cardinals to one hit in the last nine innings. Previously, too, the Tigers had to come from behind to even the score in the ninth at a time when all seemed to be lost.

Starting that inning, Fox singled cleanly to center and was sacrificed to second. Then came the big break of a ball game. G. Walker, nominated to bat in place of White, popped up a puny fly between home and first base. Anyone of three men might have handled it with ease. As it was, Collins and Delancey were equally late in starting for the ball which landed in fair territory and then bounced foul, repeating a famous incident from the 1912 world series.

Walker Singles.

Thus given a new reason for existence, Walker singled solidly to center to score Fox with the tying run and send a home crowd into delerium and a great ball game into extra innings. Hallahan was promptly lifted in favor of Walker who did very well but not well enough. When Gehringer opened the tenth by being safe on Frisch's fumble, Walker snuffed out Greenberg, Goslin and Owen. He also breezed through the 11th with three straight, but the 12th was the end.

Goslin Wins Game.

With one out, he lost Gehringer who walked, thus bringing Greenberg up for the sixth time with a man on base. For the sixth time Greenberg failed to deliver a hit and this time he at least kept the rally alive with a walk. This moved the winning run up to second base and Goslin, gallant veteran, promptly punched it home with a clean single to center.

The victory tied the series at one all and sent the teams to St. Louis on absolutely even terms.

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES

Having gone through the two tune-up week-ends with 48 out of 51 of the selections predicted correctly (tie games thrown out), the Patrol now embarks on the first major endeavor of the current football season. There are many games this week which would have even a Houdini biting his finger nails.

Three intersectional games of major importance are on the grid menu and should create additional interest. The Temple-Texas Aggies, Rice-Purdue and Texas-Notre Dame games not only have intersectional color but also appear to be games between evenly matched teams.

Temple plays host to the Texas outfit tonight under the lights. Pop Warner's outfit showed a scoring punch against V. P. I., a team of plenty of strength itself. Texas has hung up two victories but is heading for a defeat against Temple whom Warner is steering into the major football ranks.

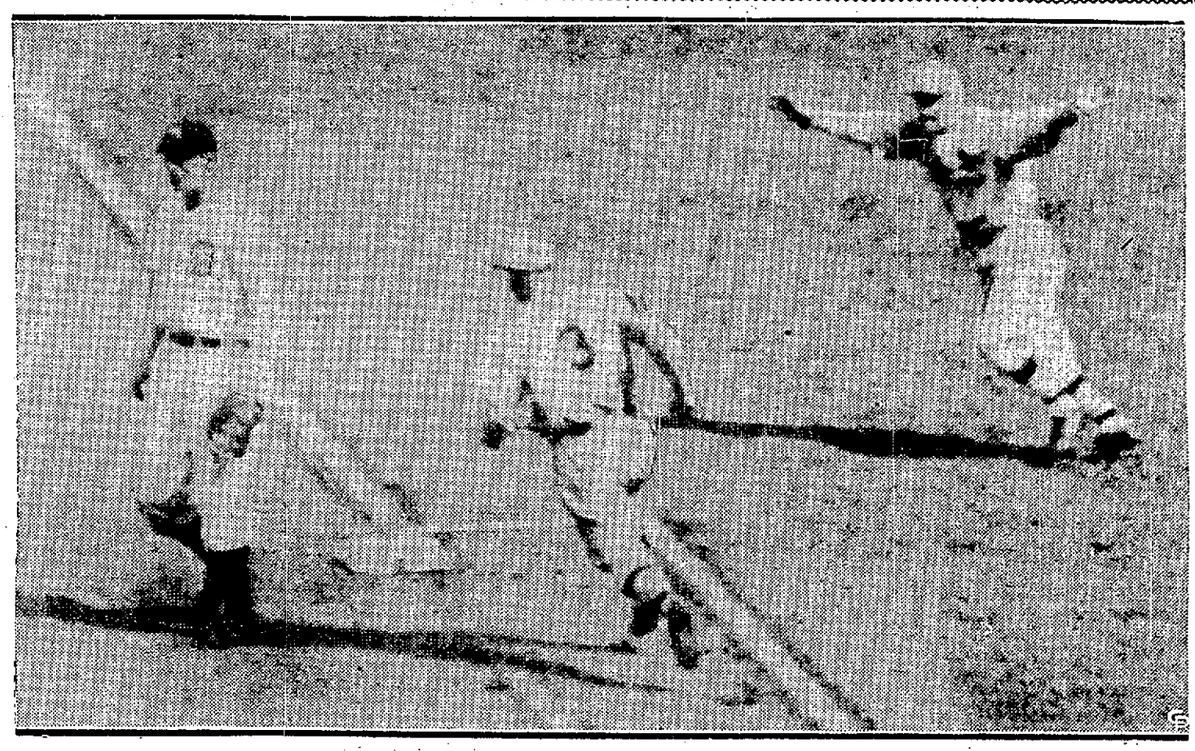

Purdue is an unknown quantity but considering the coaching ability of Kizer, the past records of Purdue teams, and the material on hand, the Boilermakers should have the edge on Rice, even though the Owls have played two games this year.

Unusual interest will be centered on the Notre Dame game where the new coaching regime gets under way. If the Irish are successful this season, the credit should go to Elmer Layden. Last spring when Layden started practice he had no seasoned line material available, so if the forward wall proves strong enough to give the Ramblers a good year, then it is because Elmer has created a line from almost nothing in the short time he has been at South Bend.

POLO GAME SUNDAY

Old Furnace Polo team of Zelienople will play the strong Charleroi polo team at the Zelienople Field at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon, it was announced by Louis Passavant today. The Charleroi team holds the only victory of the West Penn league over the Old Furnace riders, and the Zelienople boys are anxious to atone for this setback.

Looking a winner until the fatal ninth inning when the Tigers tied the score and opened the way for the drive which gave the Bengals victory, 3 to 2, in the twelfth, the St. Louis Cardinals gained an early lead in the second game of the world series in Detroit. This graphic photo shows Frankie Frisch, St. Louis second baseman-manager, reaching first in the opening inning on a single.

Paul Dean Will Oppose Bridges In Third Game

Cards Bank On Youngest Of Deans, And Detroit Selects Tommy Bridges

GOSLIN-ROWE SERIES HEROES

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—The first suggestion of bad blood between these all too polite principals of the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers in the 1934 World's series was spilled this morning when reports became rampant that Joe Medwick had purposely slid with his spikes high and bristling into Mickey Cochrane at the plate in yesterday's third inning at Detroit.

Cochrane's legs were cut up like a beef stew in the collision and it was intimated that Medwick had been far from careful in making a very important slide into the plate. Had he been safe, "School-Boy" Rowe's magnificent effort in this second game of the World's series might have been in vain.

Great Throw

As it was Goslin's throwing out of Medwick at the plate sent this game into extra innings and killed off a victory to which the Cards felt all too richly entitled. The claim of non-partisan, unbiased spectators was that Medwick might have finished on the ground and left Cochrane's shins to their own devices.

The point is that there is nothing like a little random unpleasantness to create something that a World's series doesn't come honestly by.

It all means that when the Cards and Tigers meet in the third game of this crazy World's series this afternoon at Sportsman's park that the natural rivalry will be heightened by something bigger and finer, like a swell, outstanding, punch upon the nose. Speaking of that, Paul Dean, brother of "Dizzy", will be pouring it in for the Cards.

Dean and Bridges

On behalf of the Tigers a gent by the name of Tom Bridges, probably the best curve-ball pitcher in the American league is to be the Detroit nominee. Bridges is quite a man. If he wasn't he couldn't possibly have won 22 ball games in the American league.

Beyond that, we have the very interesting equasion of a curve ball artist who has been close to a no-hit game and the No. 2 brother of the all too perfect Dean. The trouble with Dean is that he stands out there on the pavement and promises to do something which nobody believes is possible. Then he does it. You can no more go behind a man like that than you can go behind the back of your own neck.

With the Tigers winning yesterday's game in the twelfth, we suddenly had a ball series again. If they had fallen before Hallahan, which they might very well have done, the series would be over. As it is it's a new start all over again. The Tigers are reborn and we are all going back to first principles.

THE MAN DEATH FORGOT
(International News Service)

PUEBLO, Colo.—Pueblo authorities are beginning to wonder whether Morgan Gavin, 37, an auto mechanic, has nine lives. His fifth attempt at suicide failed when a bullet was extracted from his right temple. Previously, he had attempted suicide by hanging three times and once by carbon monoxide gas.

The traveler can tell when he reaches a backward country. He doesn't see any padlocks.

Geneva To Use Freshmen Friday

Many New Players Will Be Given Acid Test In Game Against Thiel

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 5—Coach Dike Beede will be forced to use his freshman material in the inital starlight encounter against the Thiel Lutherans here Friday night. The loss of Clyde Johnson, hard-hitting full-back and Joe Paris, dependable guard, because of injuries makes the determining of a starting lineup a particularly hard job. Begolly and Bache have earned a right to their terminal positions but the situation at tackle is a different story. Beede will shift Fleck to a guard and will replace him with Marvin Jones, 192-pound freshman while Nave will be the choice for the other position. Jack Welchel will pair with Feick at the guard spots. Hlista will again start at center. In the backfield Garda is the selection at quarter. The halfbacks have as yet to perform under fire. Joe Perricelli, former Ambridge flash, will start at the running back and Howard Molter, husky sophmore, will handle the blocking assignment. Molter, a converted end has been showing up well of late in his new position but has yet to see service in a game. Dick Jones has been shifted to the fullback post replacing Johnson.

and his cohorts under the lights at Forbes Field tonight.

"Hooks" Mylin seems to be going places this fall at Bucknell, defeating the veteran Davis-Elkins squad last week for an opener. Although Pennsylvania military college did itself proud by tying Rutgers, I think Bucknell will not find the military boys so tough and will take another slice of the undefeated pork they hope to possess.

Temple tackles Texas A. and M. and "Pop" Warner will use the night to further prepare Temple for Indiana University the following week.

Geneva Vs Thiel

Coach Dyke Beede and his eleven iron men at Geneva, displaying unexpected strength on their own field last week should defeat Thiel at Beaver Falls. The Waynesburg Yellow Jackets ought to do a lot of buzzing in Greensburg and I am betting their string will be worse than their buzz.

Thrills galore ought to be in store for football fans in every section of the state when Saturday opens its football program.

Pitt will invade Morgantown with a train load of ferocious Panthers. West Virginia University with two tough games under its belt should be prepared to give Pitt one of its toughest games since 1928 when the Mountaineers defeated Pitt 9 to 6. I pick Pitt to win because of the offensive power they displayed against W. and J.

Tech Vs Miami

Carnegie Tech opens its home season and supporters are anxious to see what the Tartans have. Those who expect great things of Howard Harpster's men can hardly believe the Skibos are as weak as they appeared against Geneva and look for them to open up and take Miami University from the Buckeye state by a wide margin.

An interesting contest will be staged between Villanova and Western Maryland at Philadelphia and I think it will be a Villanova day. Albright will make up for a beating by F. and M. when it battles Dickinson at Reading.

Harvey Harman at the University of Pennsylvania, making his opening plunge, should clear the first hurdle-Ursinus-and further prepare his proteges for Yale. Gettysburg, also in its initial appearance, should down Juniata easily.

State Vs Lebanon Valley

Lebanon Valley walks into trouble in meeting Penn State which should win on its own field without difficulty. Wooster is going to have a headache when those gridirons travel back to Ohio after playing W. & J. at Washington.

Westminster, journeying to New York to play Fordham, is a push-over for the Rams. Defeat can't be attributed to the dazzling lights of the great white way. Fordham is too powerful.

In its battle against Clarion teachers, at Meadville, Allegheny College hopes to break its record—a scoreless one hung up last season. The edge is with Allegheny.

LaSalle invades the turf of Catholic University but I am afraid their invasion will have no affect on Catholic U. My money's on Catholic Grove City should have a good day against Holbrook: West Chester is a favorite over Drexel: Delaware should take St. Joseph's College: and Lock Haven awaits success at Indiana Teachers.

Japan produces things cheaply, but her workers are forced to live far below the American standard of wasting.

Westminster Takes 30 Men To New York

Titans To Play Fordham In Metropolis Saturday Afternoon

Determined to give a good account of themselves, but hardly expecting victory, Westminster's football squad left New Castle Thursday night for New York City, there to engage Fordham University in the Yankee Stadium Saturday afternoon, October 6.

Including coaches and officials there were thirty men in the squad that left the Pennsylvania station Thursday night at 10:21. Coaches William and Thomas Gilbane were confident of a showing against Fordham but would make no predictions as to the score. For Westminster it is an opportunity to play against one of the East's fast teams. For Fordham the game will be a polisher for the tough games to come.

The squad arrived in New York at 9:41 Friday morning and will make their headquarters in the Pennsylvania Hotel. A light practice will probably be held Friday afternoon and at 2:30 Saturday afternoon the fray is on. The list of men in the squad that left for New York follows:

Coaches — William J. Gilbane, Thomas Gilbane.

Officials—Jack Hulme, Trainer; George Anderson, Equipment Manager; Nelson Greer, Student Manager; H. K. Patton, Business Manager.

Tackles—Merrill Straw, Wm. DeArment, Robt. Scarbrough, Robt. Harder, John Susicko.

Guards—Walter Young, Anthony Krulatz, Harold Burry, Richard Reniers.

Centers—Irving Franklin, Donald Helmick.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The threatened strike of the American Radio Telegraphists' association may precipitate a grave crisis in American shipping, it was revealed today.

Unless an agreement is reached between the radio officers and the steamship owners, it is likely that no passenger ships will move from New York Tuesday and freighters will jail without radio men.

RAIL SHARES QUITE STRONG

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Speculative buying prompted by the market's refusal to follow the oils and California shares lower yesterday brought a vigorous rally in stocks today with gains running to more than 2 points.

All sections of the list were strong and the demand for stocks became evident at the opening when several large blocks of stock appeared on the tape at advancing prices.

Railroad shares were particularly strong as a group with Atchison, Northern Pacific, Dela ware & Hudson, and New York Central scoring gains running to more than 2 points.

Specialties were in demand with Columbian Carbon, Celanese, and corn products advancing more than a point each.

Auburn and Chrysler were favorites in the motor group with gains of more than a point. General Motors was quiet and somewhat sluggish.

Utilities were quiet but headed higher under the leadership of Consolidated Gas.

Better tone in the commodity markets also was a factor in stimulating the recovery in stocks. Wheat and corn opened fractionally higher and cotton advanced about 25 cents a bale.

California company shares which had been heavy yesterday showed signs of recovery under the lear of Safety Stores. Oils showed a similar tendency.

Mail order and Farm Implement stocks were strong in sympathy with wheat.

Council Gives Local Police Broad Powers

To Equip And Give Power To Police To Meet All Emergencies In Future

BURGESS DENIES CHARGES OF MAIN

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5.—In order to prevent a repetition of the brawl which occurred at Lincoln field during the Ellwood-Butler football game last Saturday, Ellwood City Borough Council at a regular meeting in the city building last night took action to completely equip and give all the necessary power and support to meet all such other emergencies in the future properly and efficiently.

President of Council Alex Main and Chairman of the Police Committee A. D. Henderson, did not mince words in expressing their displeasure in the manner in which the affair was quelled and the later treatment of the participants. They pointed out that several of the policemen were battered and bruised up and one or two had serious injuries.

When Councilman J. E. Powell asked why the police were not equipped with maces, President Main replied that he understood that the burgess was not in favor of it. It was pointed out that the police had blackjacks. One of the councilmen declared that this was too dangerous a weapon to use in such a case and therefore the hesitancy of the policemen to do so.

Council then took action to equip the local police with all the paraphernalia necessary and give them broad powers. They are to use their equipment with their own discretion.

This morning Burgess Judd C. Turner declared that the criticism was unwarranted. He was not present when the council discussion was going on. The Burgess stated that the local police were never equipped with maces when he was in council or his term in office, and that the police have all the power necessary to meet emergencies. He had only warned them not to abuse their privileges. That is, he was not in favor of using a blackjack or club in arresting a drunken man, believing that this can be done in another manner. The police are to use their own discretion in protecting themselves and such a riot as above.

Ellwood City Hi At Beaver Falls

LOCALS PITCHED FOR GREAT GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5—A resolute Elwood City High eleven coached by "Ganzy" Benedict and Mike Ferrare is invading Beaver Falls on Saturday afternoon to battle their arch rivals, Beaver Falls High and win their second victory of the season.

The locals came out of the Butler contest in fine shape and are pitched to a high key for their prospective battle. They have a score or so to settle with the Tigers of Beaver Falls and feel that the opportunity is now or never. The locals will unleash a fast moving and deceptive offense tomorrow if the weather man behaves and the field is dry. Bill Young, Tony Scopelite, Chet Bognosky and Alex Robuck promise to display some real magic in the handling of the pigskin in the backfield. If worse comes to worse the Tubers can fall back on their highly respected aerial attack which they have considerably perfected this week. The local forward wall which has had previous experience with the Tigers is eager and tensed for the crash. They theraten to show what real holes are.

The Tubers are not underestimating the strength of Coach Kammer's proteges at Beaver Falls. The Tigers are back again this season with practically a veteran team. They just need the necessary spark to set them off. They were not so impressive in their 20-0 victory over Monaca and 6-0 over Beaver. According to reports from Beaver Falls today everyone including the players have reached a high pitch for the game. The Tigers have shown improved strength in their workouts and will be out to fight the Tubers every inch of the way.

Tomorrow the locals will be accompanied by the high school band and cheering section and a huge following of local fans.

The probable line-up:

Hear Pittsburgh Man Discuss "The New National Housing Act"

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 5.—The Rotary club played host last night to the Kiwanis, Quota and Women's clubs and guests from out-of-town in order that as many as possible of our representative citizens might have the privilege of hearing Lester Bernstein, Pittsburgh, discuss the new "National Housing Act."

President J. I. Porter acted the part of the royal host and made all feel as much at home as scattered members of a family gathered together for a family reunion. The dining room of the First Presbyterian church was well filled and extra places were set.

The government is endeavoring to aid in this important matter of housing by providing encouragement to householders to repair or improve their buildings and properties which is based upon sound financing. He said there were some 135 communities in Western Pennsylvania of 3,000 inhabitants and more and that 116 of these communities were getting in step with this movement and that Ellwood City was in the forefront of the movement. As to conditions of property he told his hearers that Ellwood City was average. He estimated that 30 per cent of property holders might proceed immediately along the lines of this measure and that 30 per cent of the others might follow in the near future. He strongly advised that the people of this community accept this opportunity and that they proceed conservatively in order that there might not be disappointments. No plan should be considered which would entail annual payments of more than 20 per cent of the annual income of the property holder.

Ray Arlesworth is chairman of the local committee in charge of this work.

Mr. Bernstein quoted a few substantial figures to show that, with all the seeming uncertainties of the present business situation, nevertheless, definite progress was being made.
